Changes in the Music Evolution

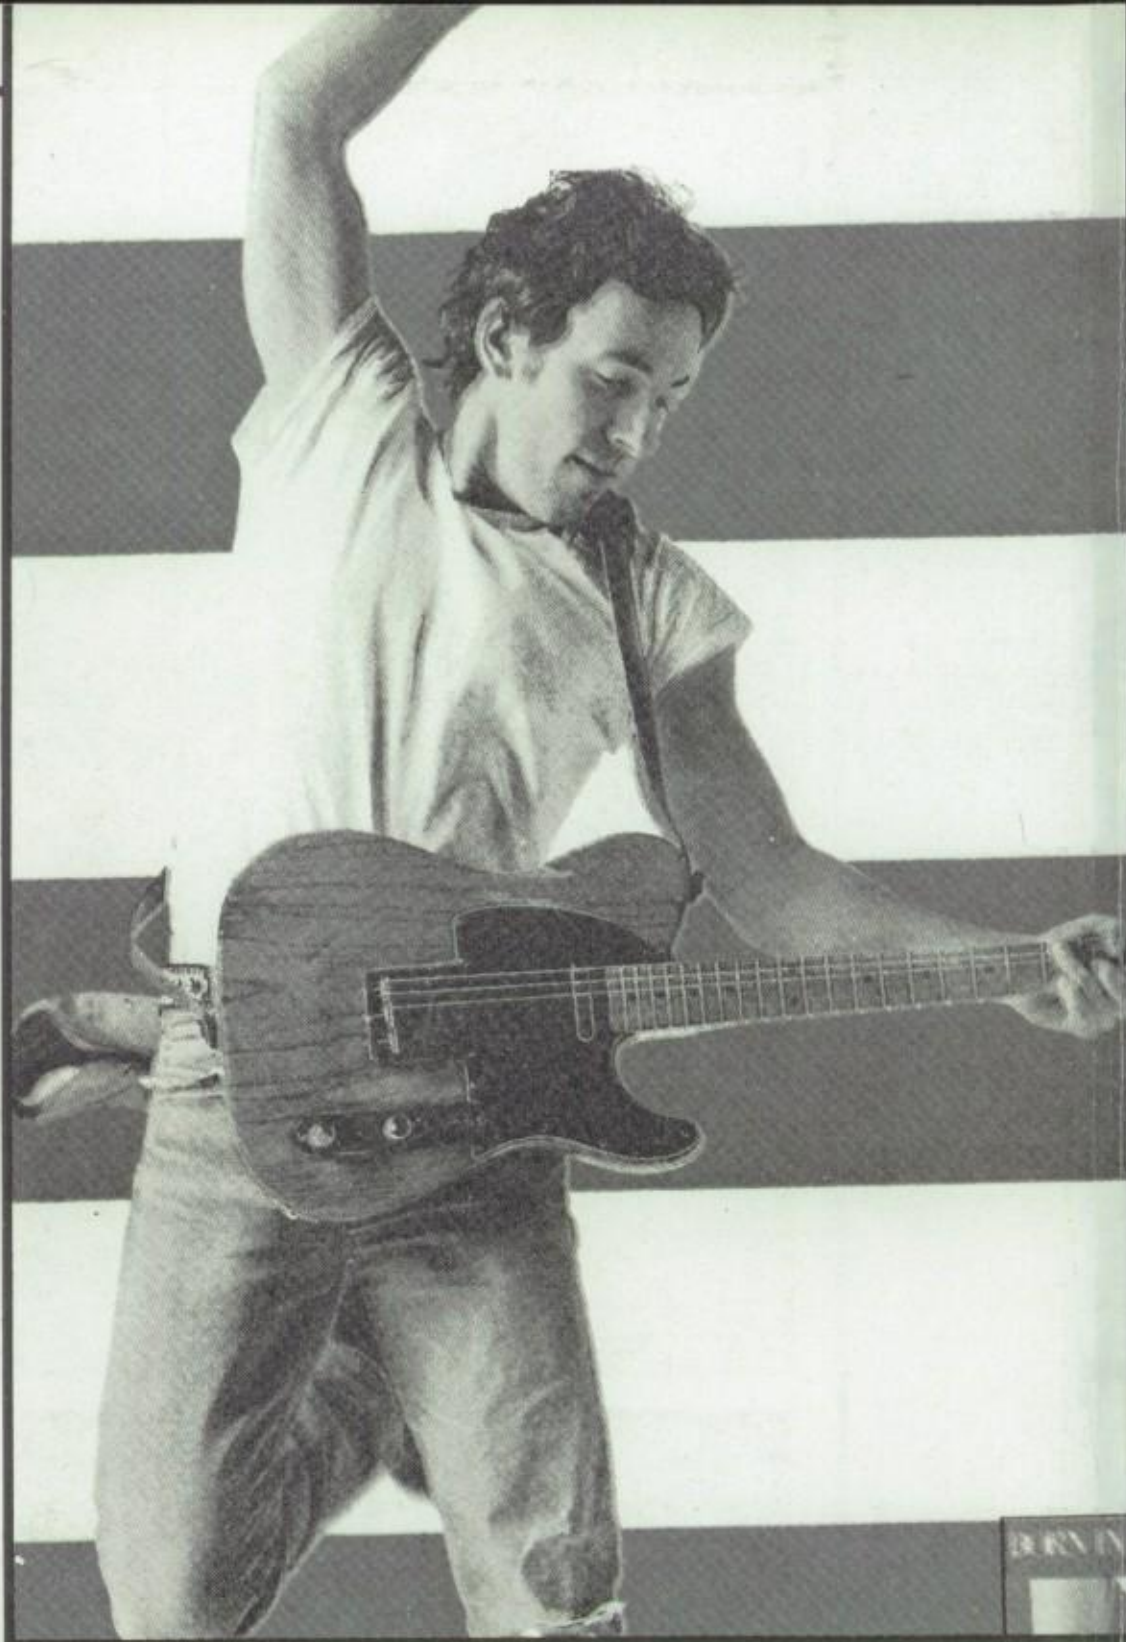

Lyrics by Katie Painter

THE ART OF music has been around since the dawn of human consciousness. Musical documents vary from manuscripts, sketches and printed works, to paintings, sculptures and inscriptions. No matter what its form, music was meant for entertainment.

Music's style gives it a set of elements for identity, and a relation to the outside world. There is a great difference between the music that our parents listened to when they were our age, and the music we experience today. The style has changed and it will go on changing as long as music exists.

Within the last few years, the characteristics of modern music have altered. "New Wave" has recently developed just as classical music did hundreds of years ago.

Music is like fashions. Styles come and go, but are never quite forgotten. Music always adds a certain quality to our society. George Gershwin once said, "Jazz has contributed an enduring value to America in the sense that it has expressed ourselves." That sense of expression applies to all forms of music.

Music Sets "Tone" for Trends

Lyrics by Michelle Dunlap

EVER SINCE THE formation of Rock 'n Roll, music has been a massive influence on peoples' lives. It has become exceptionally powerful in the last twenty-five years, when musical stars became idols whose personalities and appearances began setting musical trends.

Today, although Rock 'n Roll has branched out into several new forms such as Punk, Heavy Metal and New Wave, the effects are still present in an even more forceful dimension than ever before.

It used to be that only those owning mammoth stereos with speakers to match were properly qualified to give a decent party. It was then that hi-tech music equipment was a luxury and something to be had by only the hard working teen.

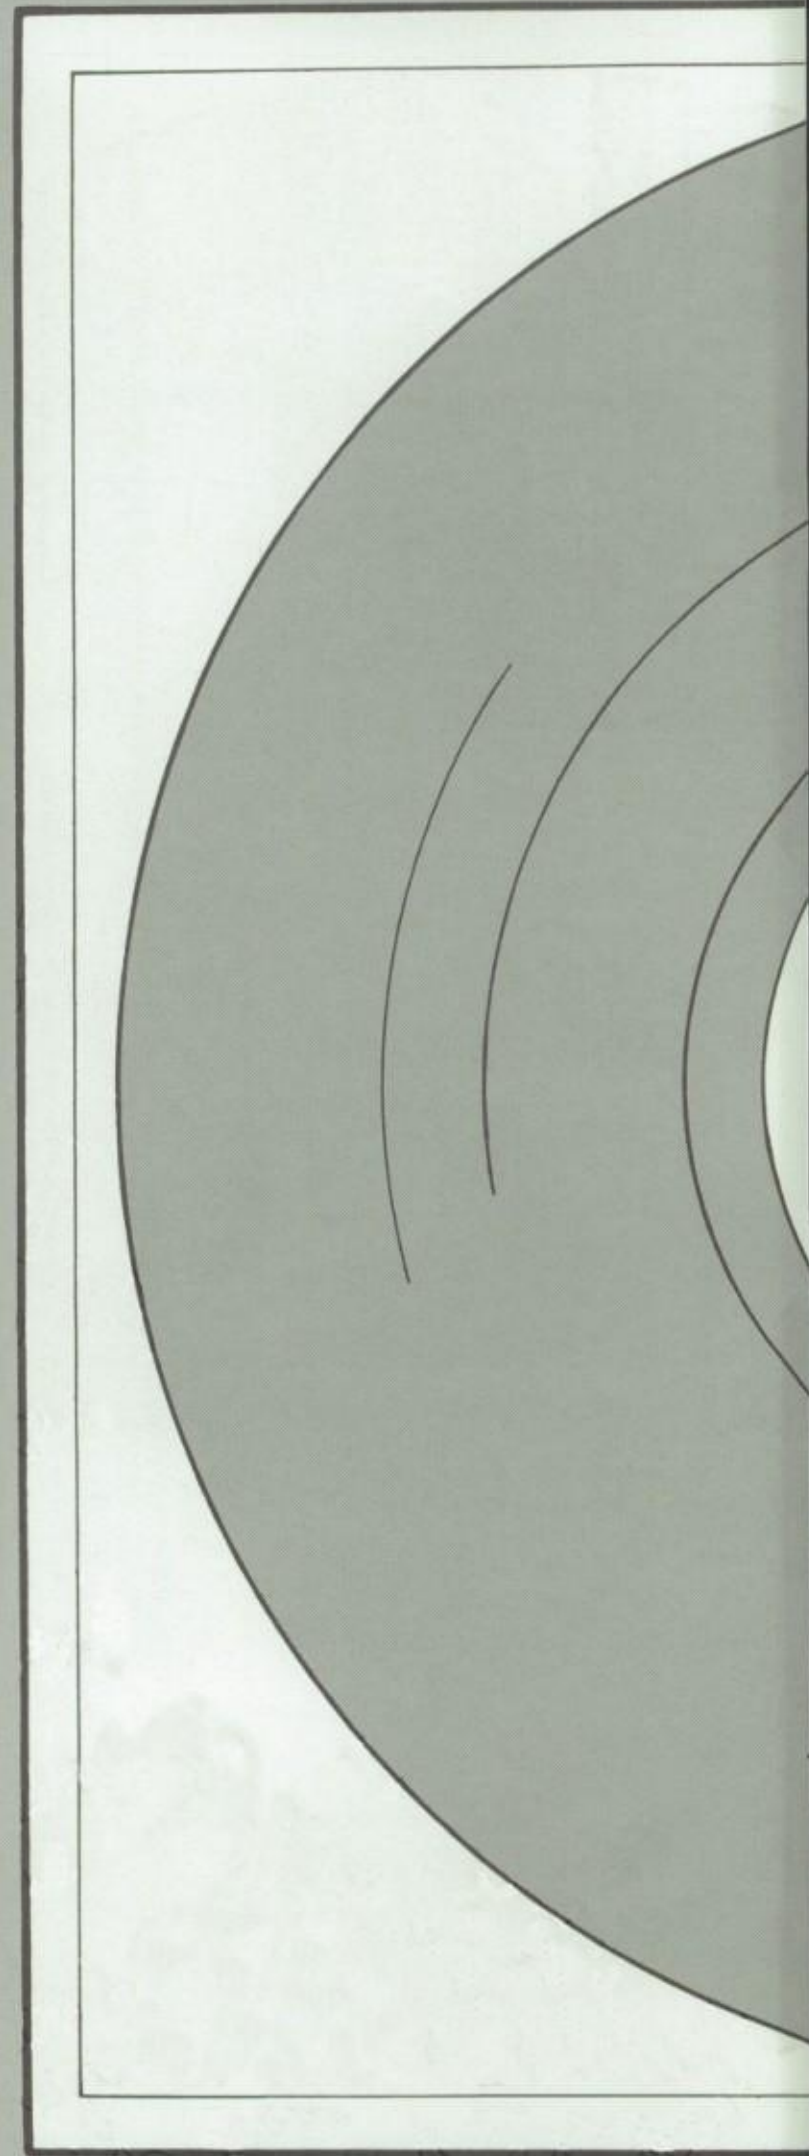

These days, anyone with an extra twenty bucks can pick up an effective and virtually invisible means of enduring the sixth period lecture blues. In this way, music, in the form of a Walkman, has become more than a luxury. It is now a vital necessity.

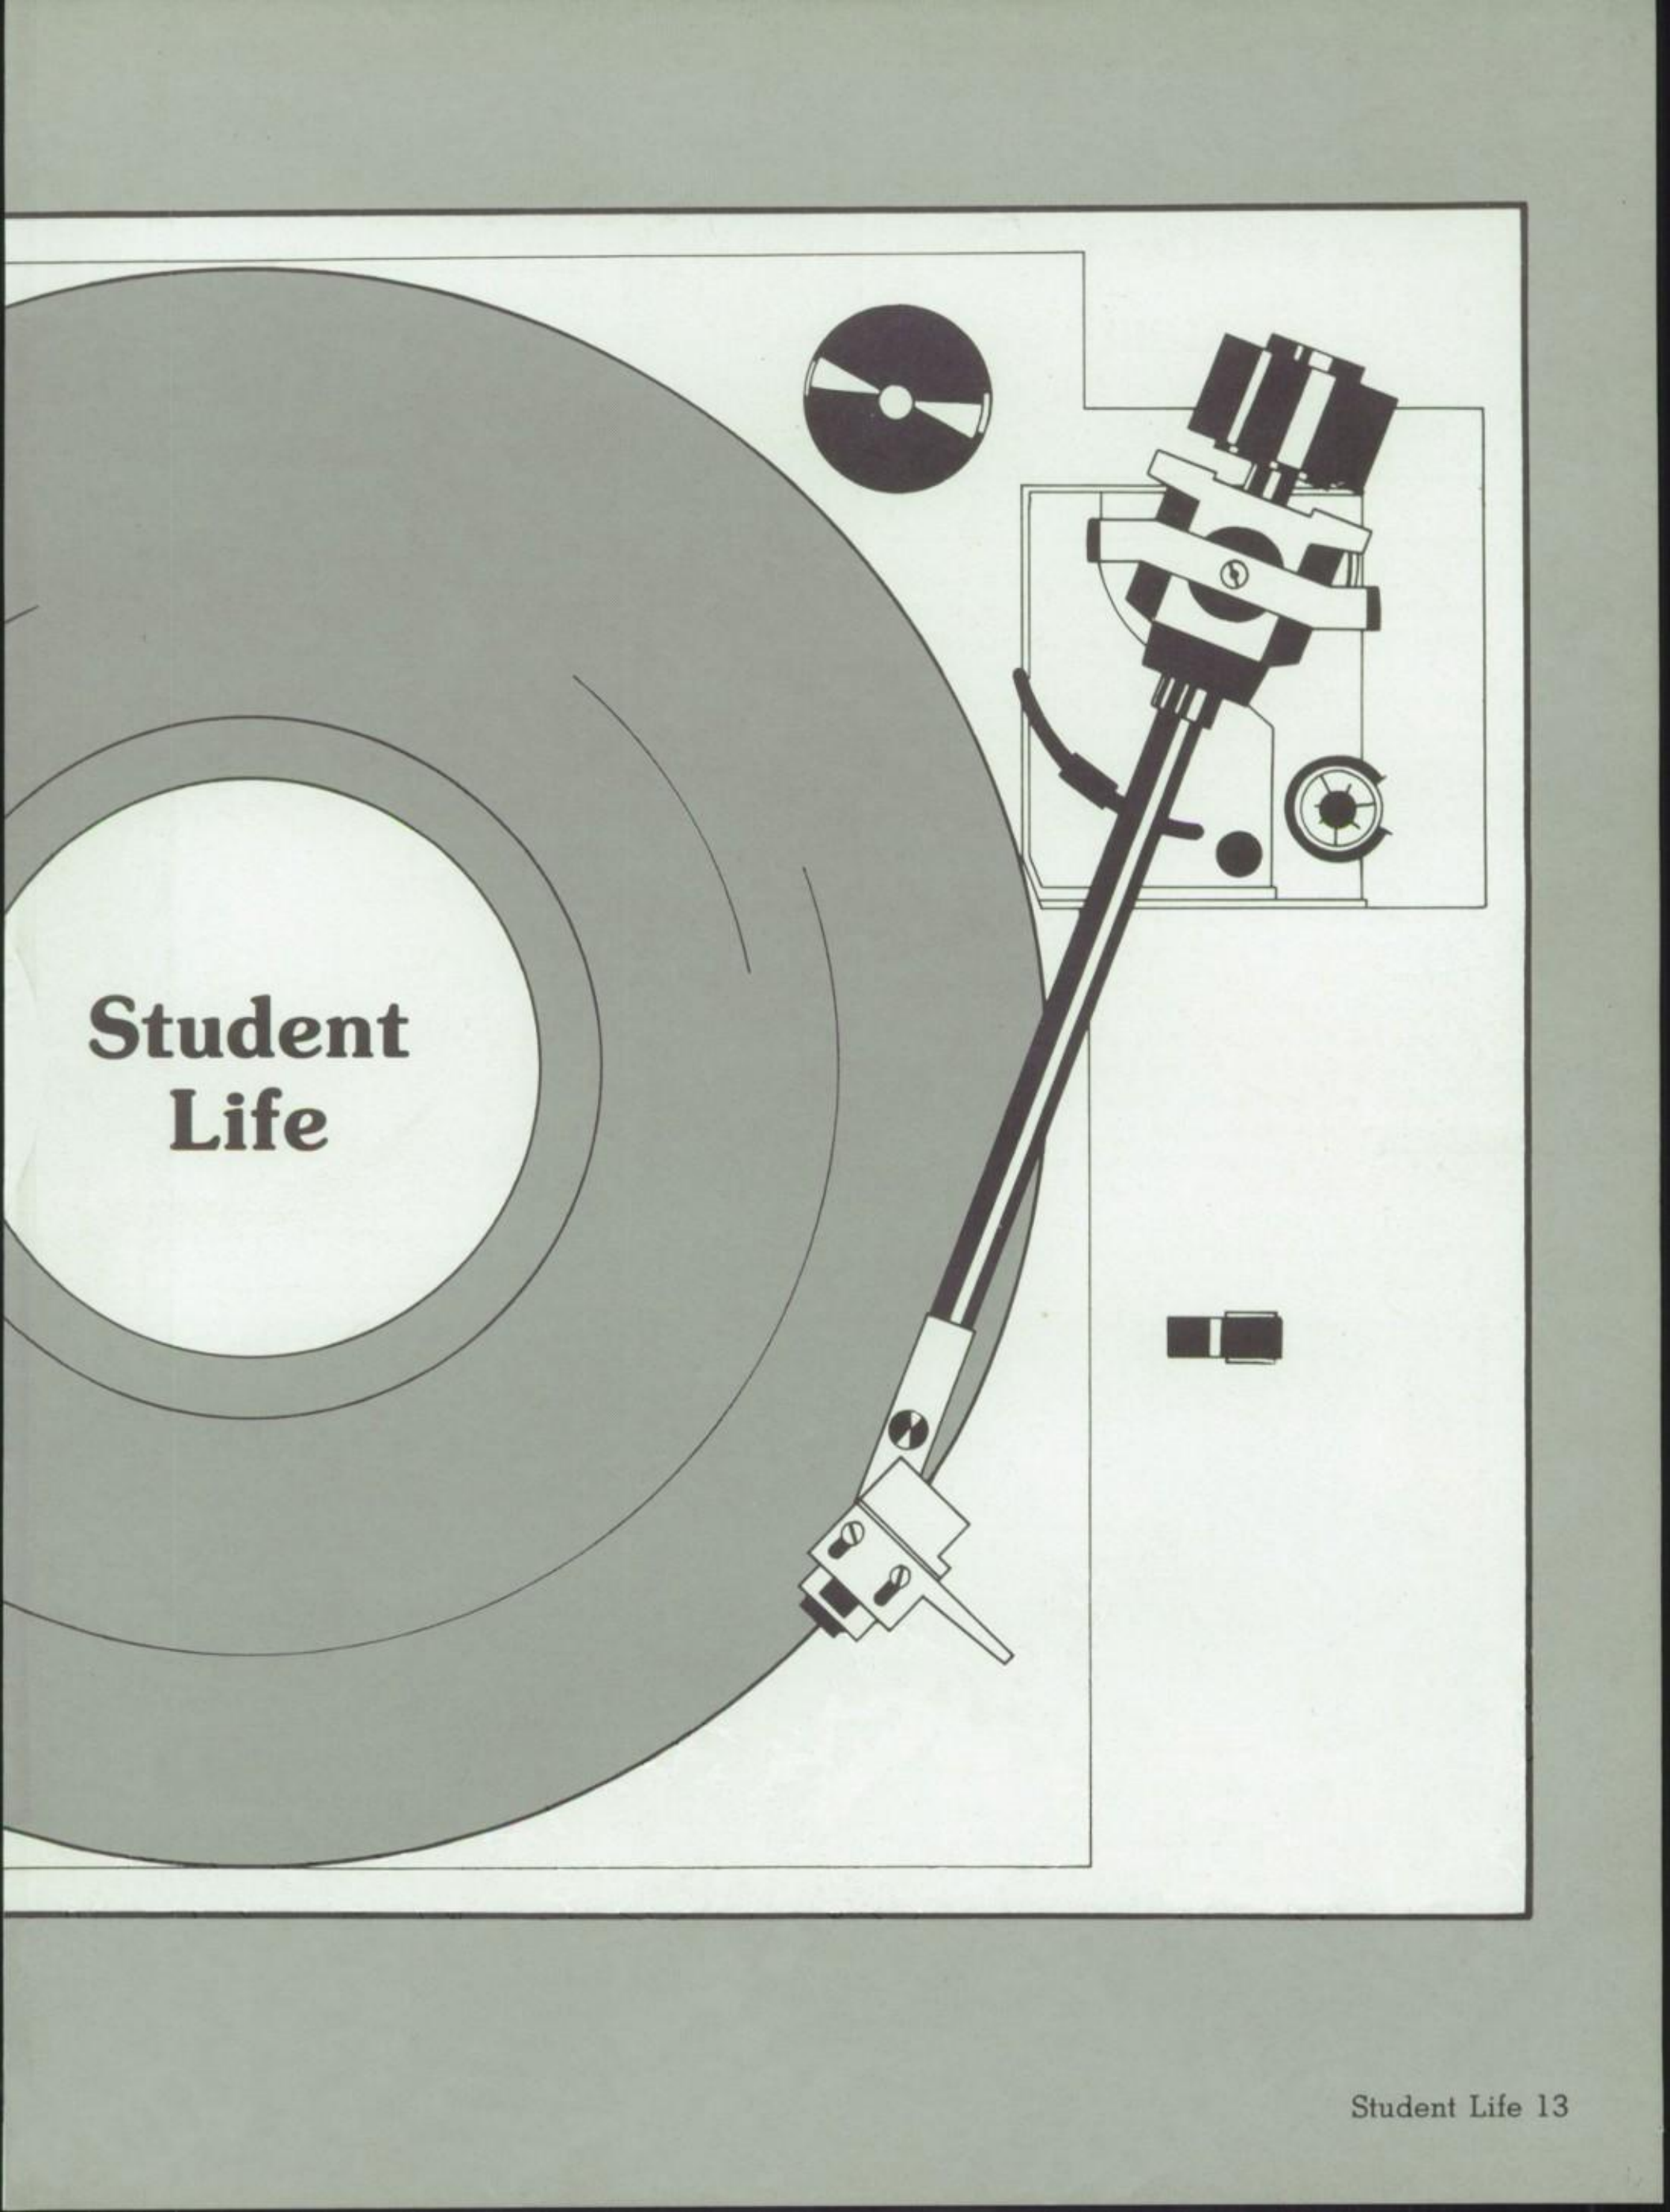

But it's not only these trivial parts of a teen's day that music affects. Music heavily influences the clothes they wear, the places they go, and even the friends they have.

Hot in the news of fashion this year was the androgenous look; a style that incorporated the latest looks in menswear into women's sizes and vice-versa. Male music stars such as Boy George, Michael Jackson and Simon Lebon made wearing bright colors, make-up and even earrings acceptable trends for guys. Annie Lennox, meanwhile, set the pace for gals with the "man look." Ties, suits and exceedingly short hair all combined to fill the pages of Vogue and Seventeen as "the latest look."

Entertainment on a typical weekend often included some excursion involving music. Whether it was going to a school dance or living it up at the local night club, Skoochies, music was almost invariably included in the weekend fun. Someone who didn't have the cash to go dancing all night could always stay home and relax to the sound of the latest music videos on Music Television (MTV).

Undoubtedly as music changes so will the times and trends, making for many new lifestyles in the future. But, twenty years from now when that old song plays, memories about the fads, friends and the fun of past high school days will return.

The Latest Hits

Lyrics by Heidi Nilsen

FOR YEARS REDMOND teenagers had the same traditional places to go. From one end of the Redmond Way to the other, the scenery stayed the same.

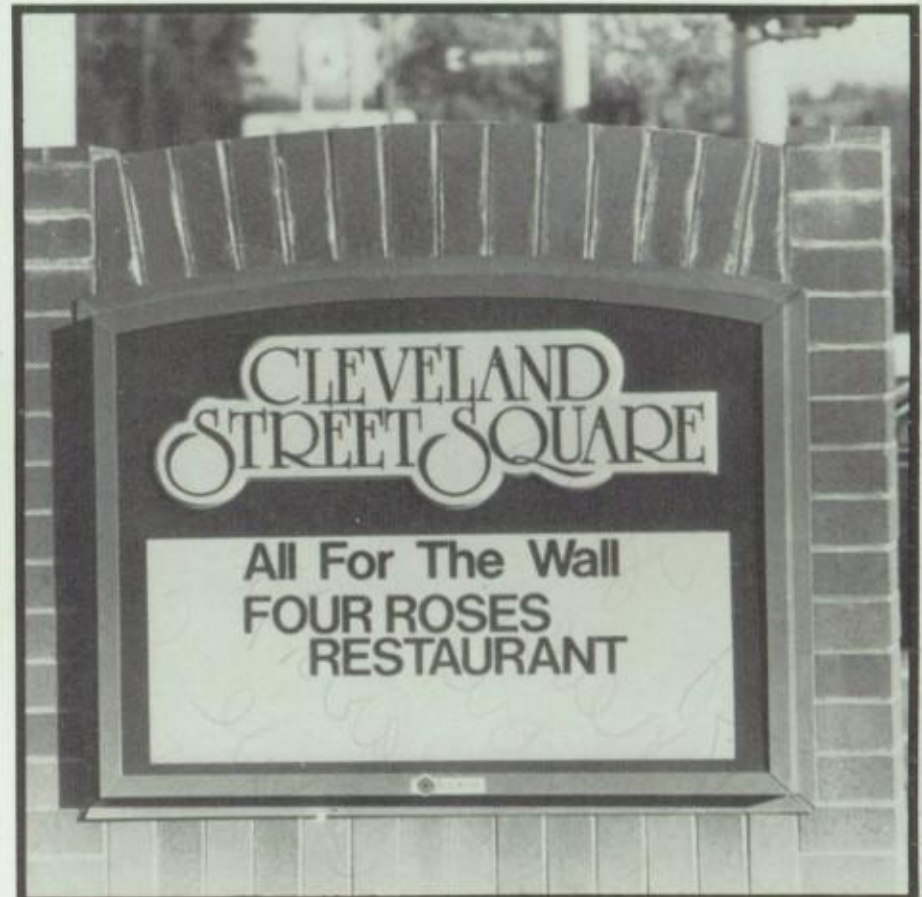

In record breaking time, Redmond has grown from a small farming community into a larger prosperous business city. With the new growth the teenagers found new and exciting places to go. Godfathers, in the center of town, is giving the other pizza places a run for their money. Advertising their deep dish style pizzas attracted dozens of Redmond High fans. Not as recently added but still booming with business, Far Far's Ice Cream Shop has made their impact on the Redmond scene. They say "it's home made ice cream you'll remember." This is evident as you can always find Redmondites going back for more. The brand new, You'll Scream Ice Cream is also popular with their giant waffle style cones. "They are almost more than you can handle, but I manage," says Sharmin Hoff. Cleavland Square is where many of these new places are held, and one of the biggest attractions is the Budget Tapes and Records store. It offers teenagers a place to go and select the music that best fits their taste.

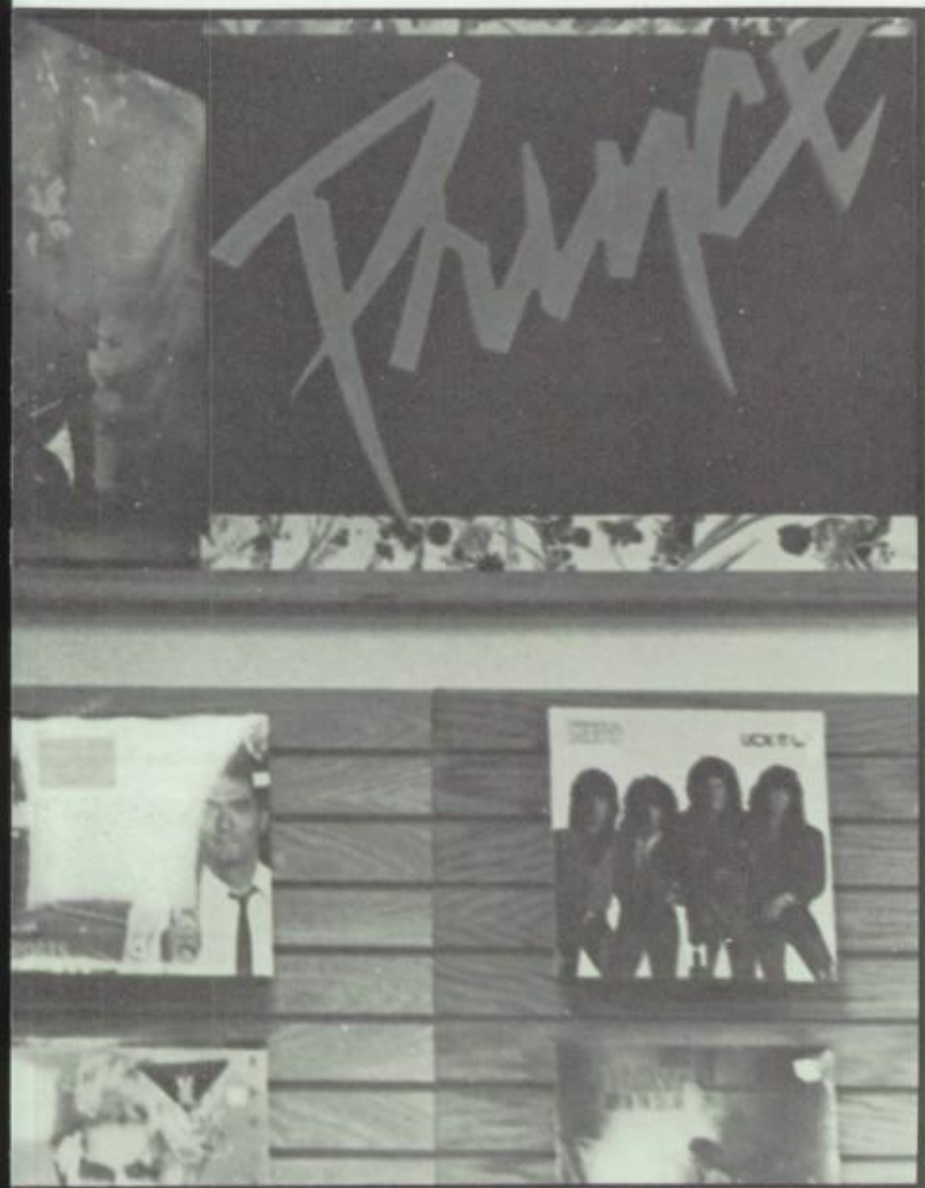

SINCE IT'S GRAND opening, Godfather's parking lot has been packed.

MARYMOORE PARK OFFERS unlimited outdoor activities.

CLEAVELAND STREET SQUARE, a much needed improvement.

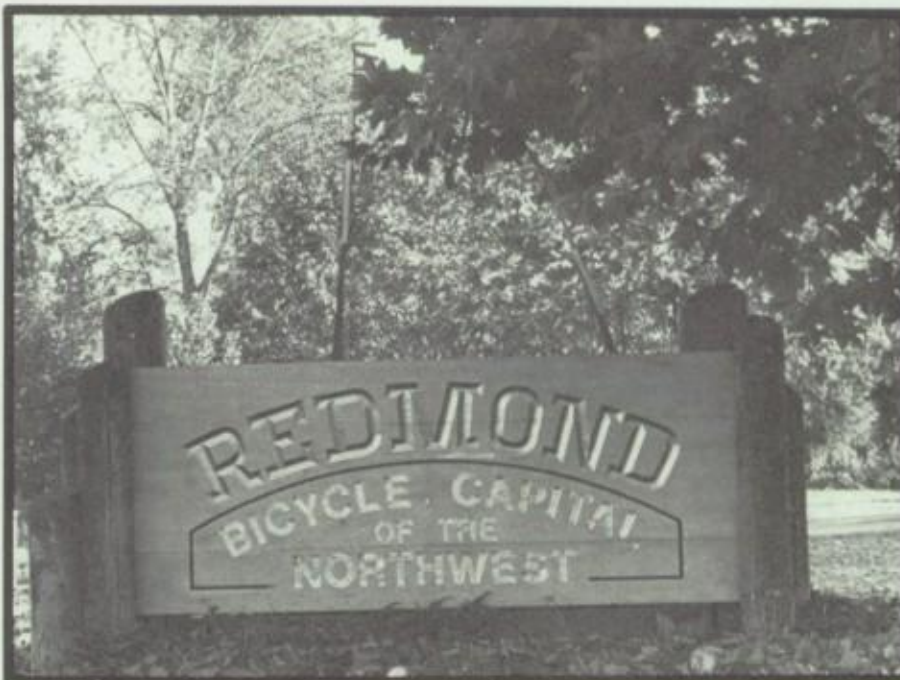

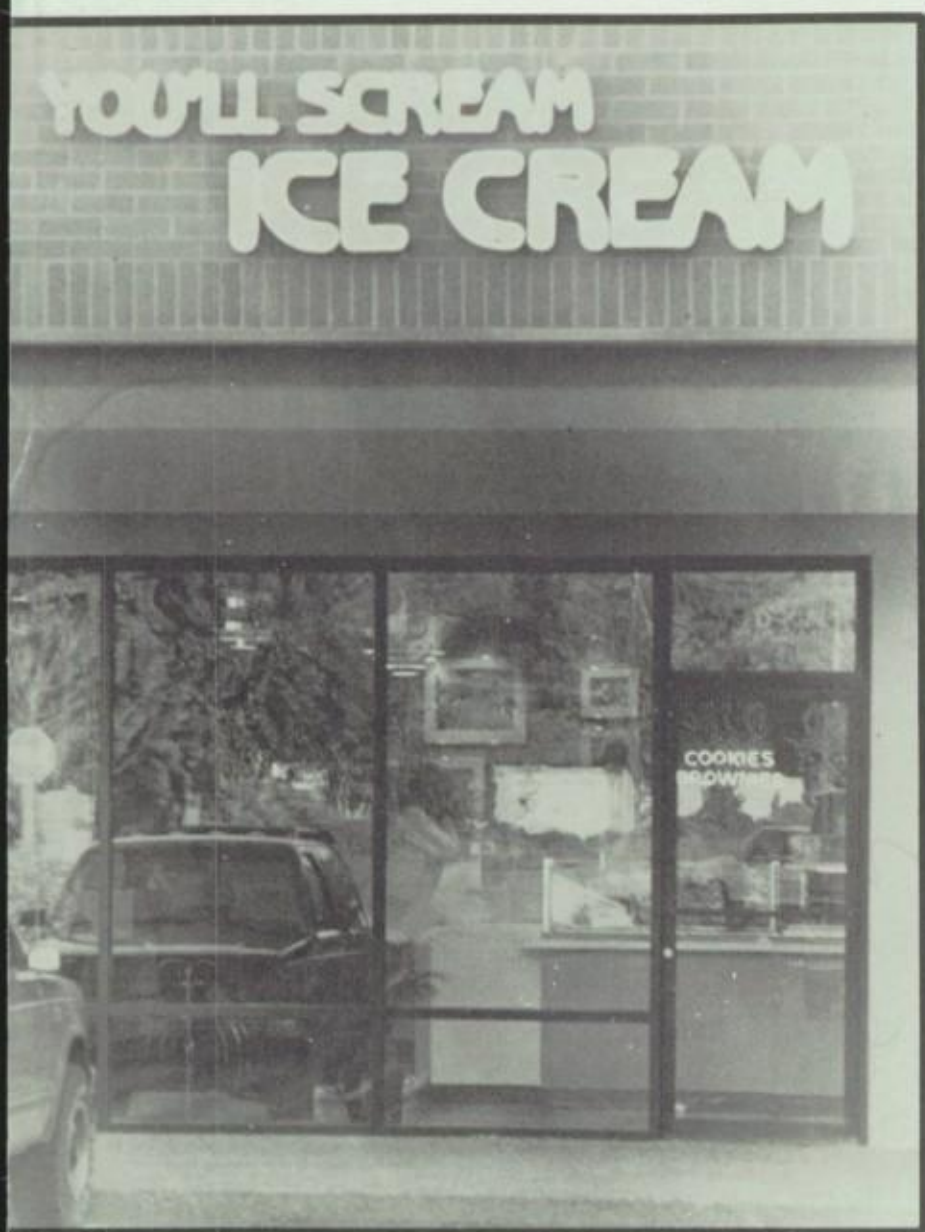

THE NEW HITS at Budget Tapes and Records are "way cool."

GARY JETER AND J.D. Schampera get some "killer F.T.'s."

ANDY REYNOLDS IS a true believer that Pizza Haven IS pizza heaven.

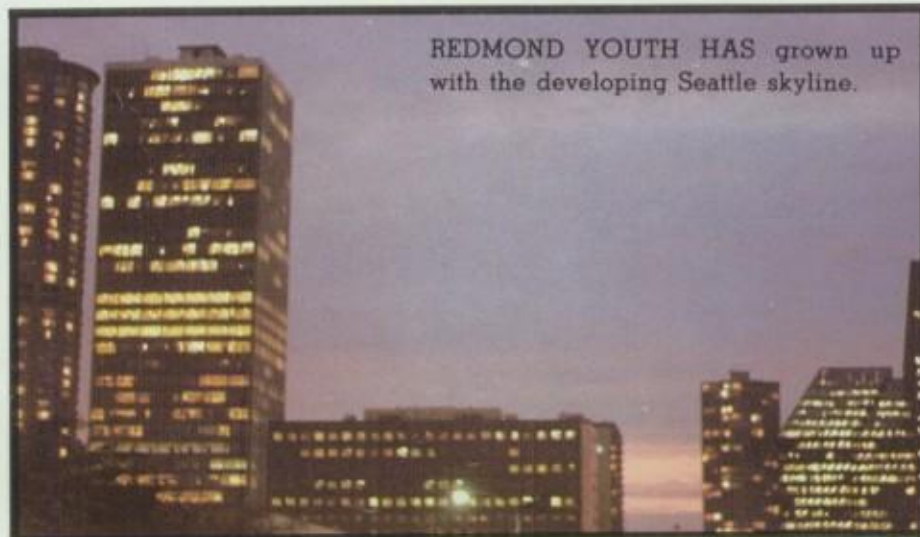

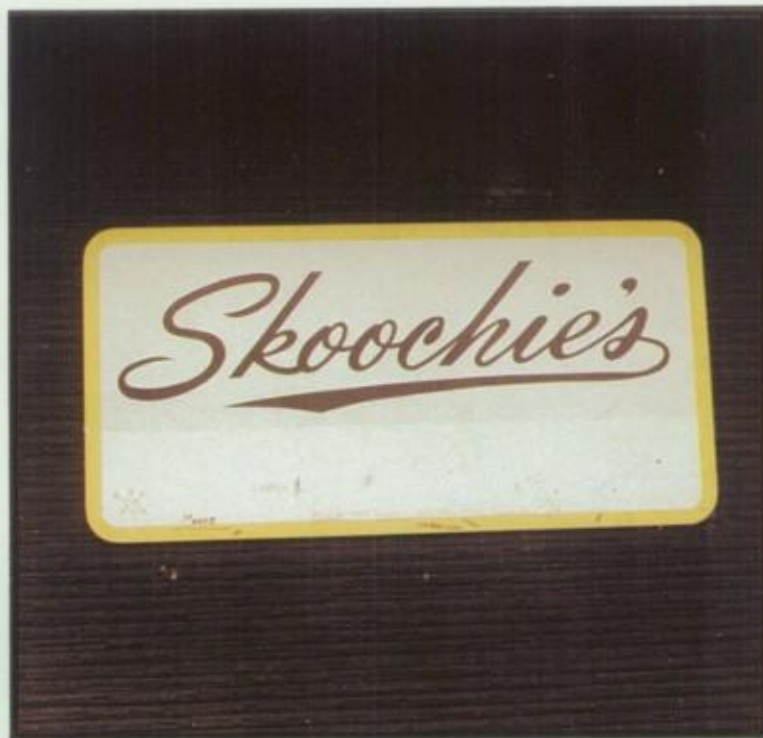

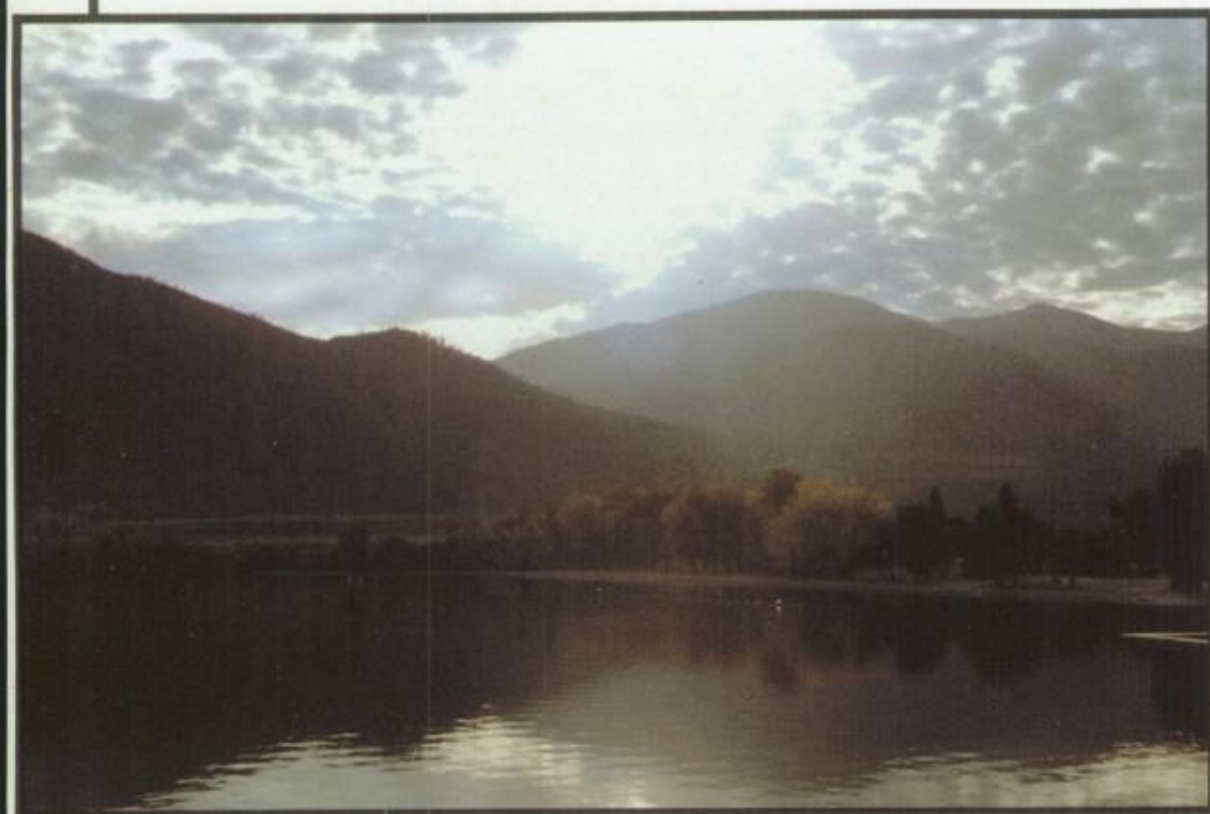

DID YOU KNOW that Redmond is the bike capital of the northwest?

YOU'LL SCREAM ICE Cream has a "sweet" selection.

BEAUTIFUL LAKE CHELAN attracts sun-starved Redmond vacationers every year.

SKOOCHIES, LOCATED IN downtown Seattle, is a favorite place to dance until dawn.

REDMOND YOUTH HAS grown up with the developing Seattle skyline.

SINCE 1962, THE Space Needle has stood as a symbol of Seattle for all to enjoy.

THE UNIVERSITY OF Washington gives incentive to those students planning for the future.

BELLEVUE SQUARE IS a popular hangout among students.

BESIDES SPORTING EVENTS, Redmond students can enjoy a variety of cultural events hosted in the Kingdome.

SECOND ONLY TO the Coliseum, the Paramount offers musical entertainment to Seattle.

For the Record Students Tune Out of Redmond

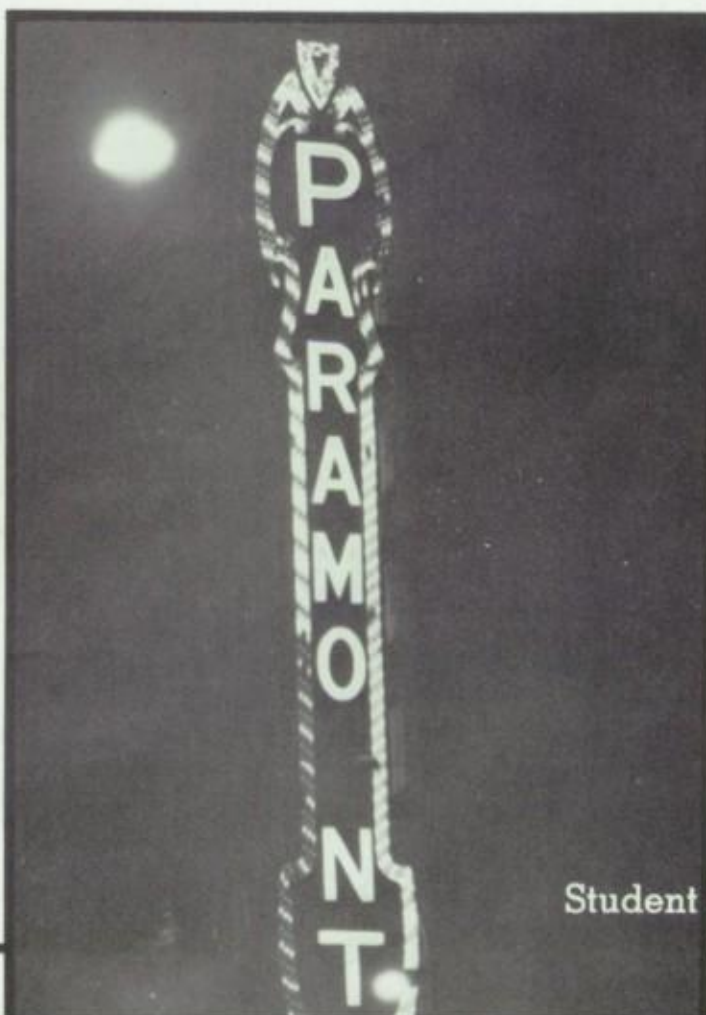

Lyrics by Jennifer Brockmann

NOT ONLY CAN one find Redmond students just in Redmond but all around the Puget Sound area. Although Redmond has been going through many transitions, forever developing into a larger city, Seattle still offers a broader perspective of entertainment, employment and cultural experiences.

For everyone, Seattle provides a different type of fun that can only be found across the bridge. A night full of dancing has become an increasingly popular activity for many Redmond students. Skoochies and Tonight's the Night dance clubs provide a dance floor and music to dance until dawn. For more entertainment, the Paramount, the Coliseum and the Tacoma Dome give frequent concerts throughout the year. Whether you enjoy Bruce Springsteen, the Fixx, Hall n' Oates, Flock of Seagulls, Iron Maiden, U2 or any other type of music, most likely they'll hit Seattle.

Over the mountains, Stevens and Snoqualmie Pass provide winter time fun with snow skiing and sledding. "I always am ready for ski season to come around so I can hit the slopes," says skier Shawn Powers. And also, during the summer months, the passes provide passage for vacationers to sunny eastern Washington and the popular Lake Chelan resorts. Exclaimed Danny Eberhardt, "I always look forward to vacationing there every year."

However, more close to home, on the East Side, Bellevue is expanding and expanding. With a new addition of a wing and the Bon, Bellevue Square shopping mall has become a favorite place to shop or just pass the time. "Besides the great atmosphere, it has a great variety of shops not too far away," says shopper, Sheryl Dusenberry.

Hot Assemblies, Cool Dances Boost Spirit

Lyrics by Cindy Cranston

DANCES AND ASSEMBLIES promoted much of the spirit at R.H.S. They brought students together and got more involved in school events and activities.

Several dances were held throughout the year, many of which were sponsored by school clubs and organizations. The dances were always a big hit. The pit in the commons gave students a chance to "show their stuff" by allowing them to put their break-dancing talent to work. As for those more interested in boppin' the cafeteria was the place to go. The crowds were large and the music rolled on into the night. Senior Todd Watkins commented, "The dances were swell, I really had a major time." Junior Alice Baker exclaimed, "They are mass cool and mega fun!"

Assemblies were another crowd pleaser. They were held throughout the year to boost school spirit and create excitement for the upcoming sporting events.

Skits were one of the highlights of the school assemblies. They gave students a chance to show their creative talents which often brought a hilarious applause from the audience.

The Cheerleaders and Drill Team were spectacular. They psyched up the crowd with their new routines and got students enthusiastic for the year's upcoming events.

The dances and assemblies truly added an enormous amount of ecstasy and enchantment to the 84'-85' school year!

Preschool in Tune with Foods Class

Lyrics by Shari Kirchhoff

STARTED IN THE spring of 1982, the Child Development class has evolved into its own little world. In a brand new preschool, including an outside play area, several students at RHS learned what it's like to be responsible for pre-elementary school children.

Miss Cranson, the instructor, explained that the students were responsible for complete operation. They did everything from telephoning for pre-registration, to planning activities, to actually teaching the class. Before taking command, however, the students studied the physical, social, intellectual, and emotional aspects of development.

Three days out of each week, half the class would run the preschool and the other half would remain in class. Norma U'Ren helped out by supervising the preschool and monitoring the activities.

The preschool gave the students a break from high school life. Referring to the nickname the class adopted for the kids, Stacey Coombs jokingly commented, "I like working with the chipmunks."

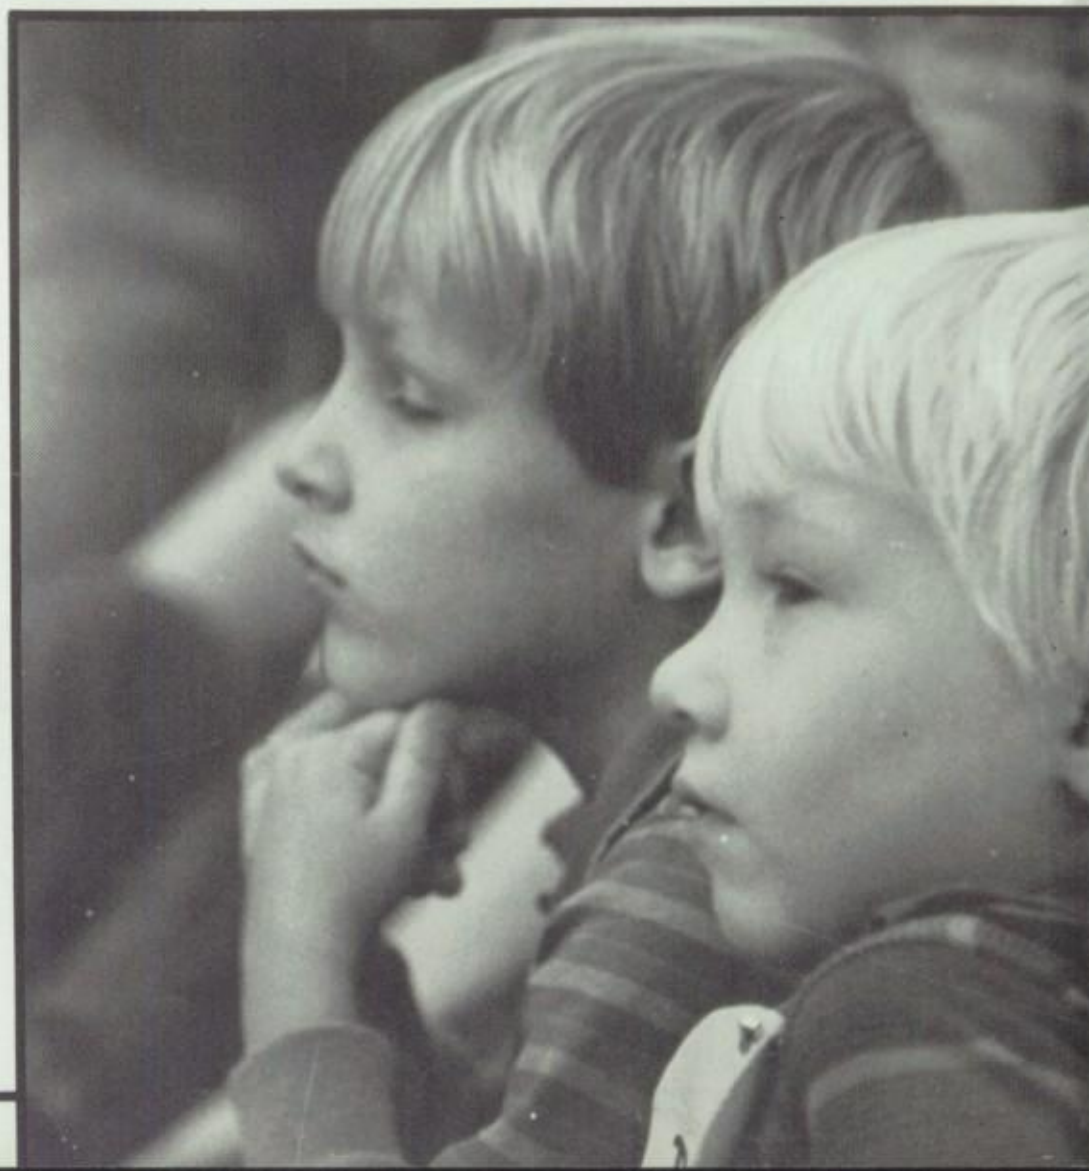

Miss Cranson's goal was not only to educate her students in child development, but to also give them a sense of what it's like to run a business. The success of the class obviously showed that this goal was achieved.

Another class that made itself known at RHS was the Foods class. Throughout the year, Miss Cranson's Co-Ed Foods class created wonderful smells that permeated the halls of RHS. These smells were the result of careful planning and preparation.

Miss Cranson explained that the purpose of the class is to give accurate knowledge of food and what it does for a body. The class also learned proper techniques to use in the kitchen when preparing food.

Once a week the class had a lab in which they actually cooked. Dishes ranged from taco salad, to soft pretzels, to a full holiday meal. The rest of the week was spent planning the lab and learning about nutrition. Miss Cranson was proud to say that she had a number of new additions to her classroom. She obtained the use of a blackboard, and received all new stoves for the class. A computer was also welcomed into the class along with nutrition and diet programs.

Although most students had some background in cooking, they all learned something new. Shelley Eberhardt exclaimed, "I learned how to clean dishes properly." Steve Skupa admitted, "I failed, but I learned how to cook."

You Better Shop Around

Lyrics by Katrin Spilde

THIS YEAR WAS a transitional year in the area of Industrial Arts. It was the year for remodeling, new equipment, and a revised curriculum. The whole technical drawing room was remodeled, the ceiling was lowered, improved lighting, easier accessible electrical outlets, and wall trim was added to display student drawings. New equipment included drafting desks and chairs, track machines, a blueprinting machine, and an Apple computer with technical and architectural programs.

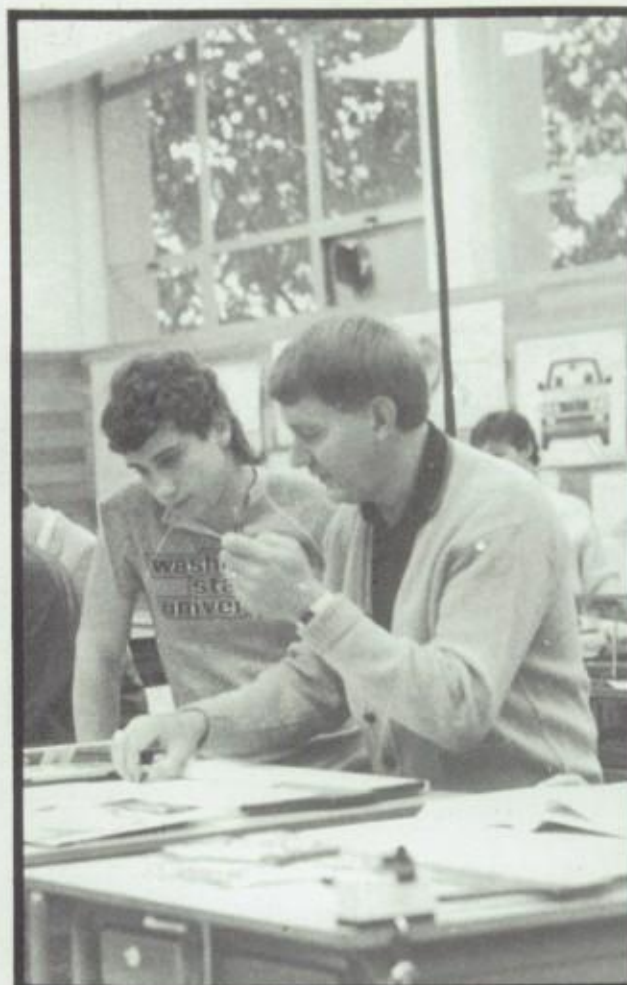

The curriculum and method of teaching was also new for students. All the Industrial Arts teachers attended teacher awareness classes over the summer to learn how to improve their topics and teaching methods. This new curriculum was designed to simulate real working conditions of industry. It was intended to ease and lessen the transition into industry. Both boys and girls enrolled in these classes, however, all of the Industrial Arts teachers said they would like to see more girls in the classes. They hope that in the future girls will forget about the "traditional" roles and sign up for the "male oriented" classes.

Industrial Arts classes allowed students to apply knowledge learned in math, science, language and other classes to practical uses. The classes encouraged the students to take on a "just for fun" hobby or strive for a potential career. In metals shop, the students gained knowledge through hands-on experience in metal working and welding. Often the metals class coordinated ideas with cooking and jewelry making. Some skills taught in metals were sheet metal working, casting work, machine work, welding, and bench work. The different areas covered in the technical drawing classes were mechanical drawings, technical illustration, architecture, computer aided drafting and civil engineering, which included mapping and elevation. In automechanics, students learned about small engines, motorized equipment and airplane power.

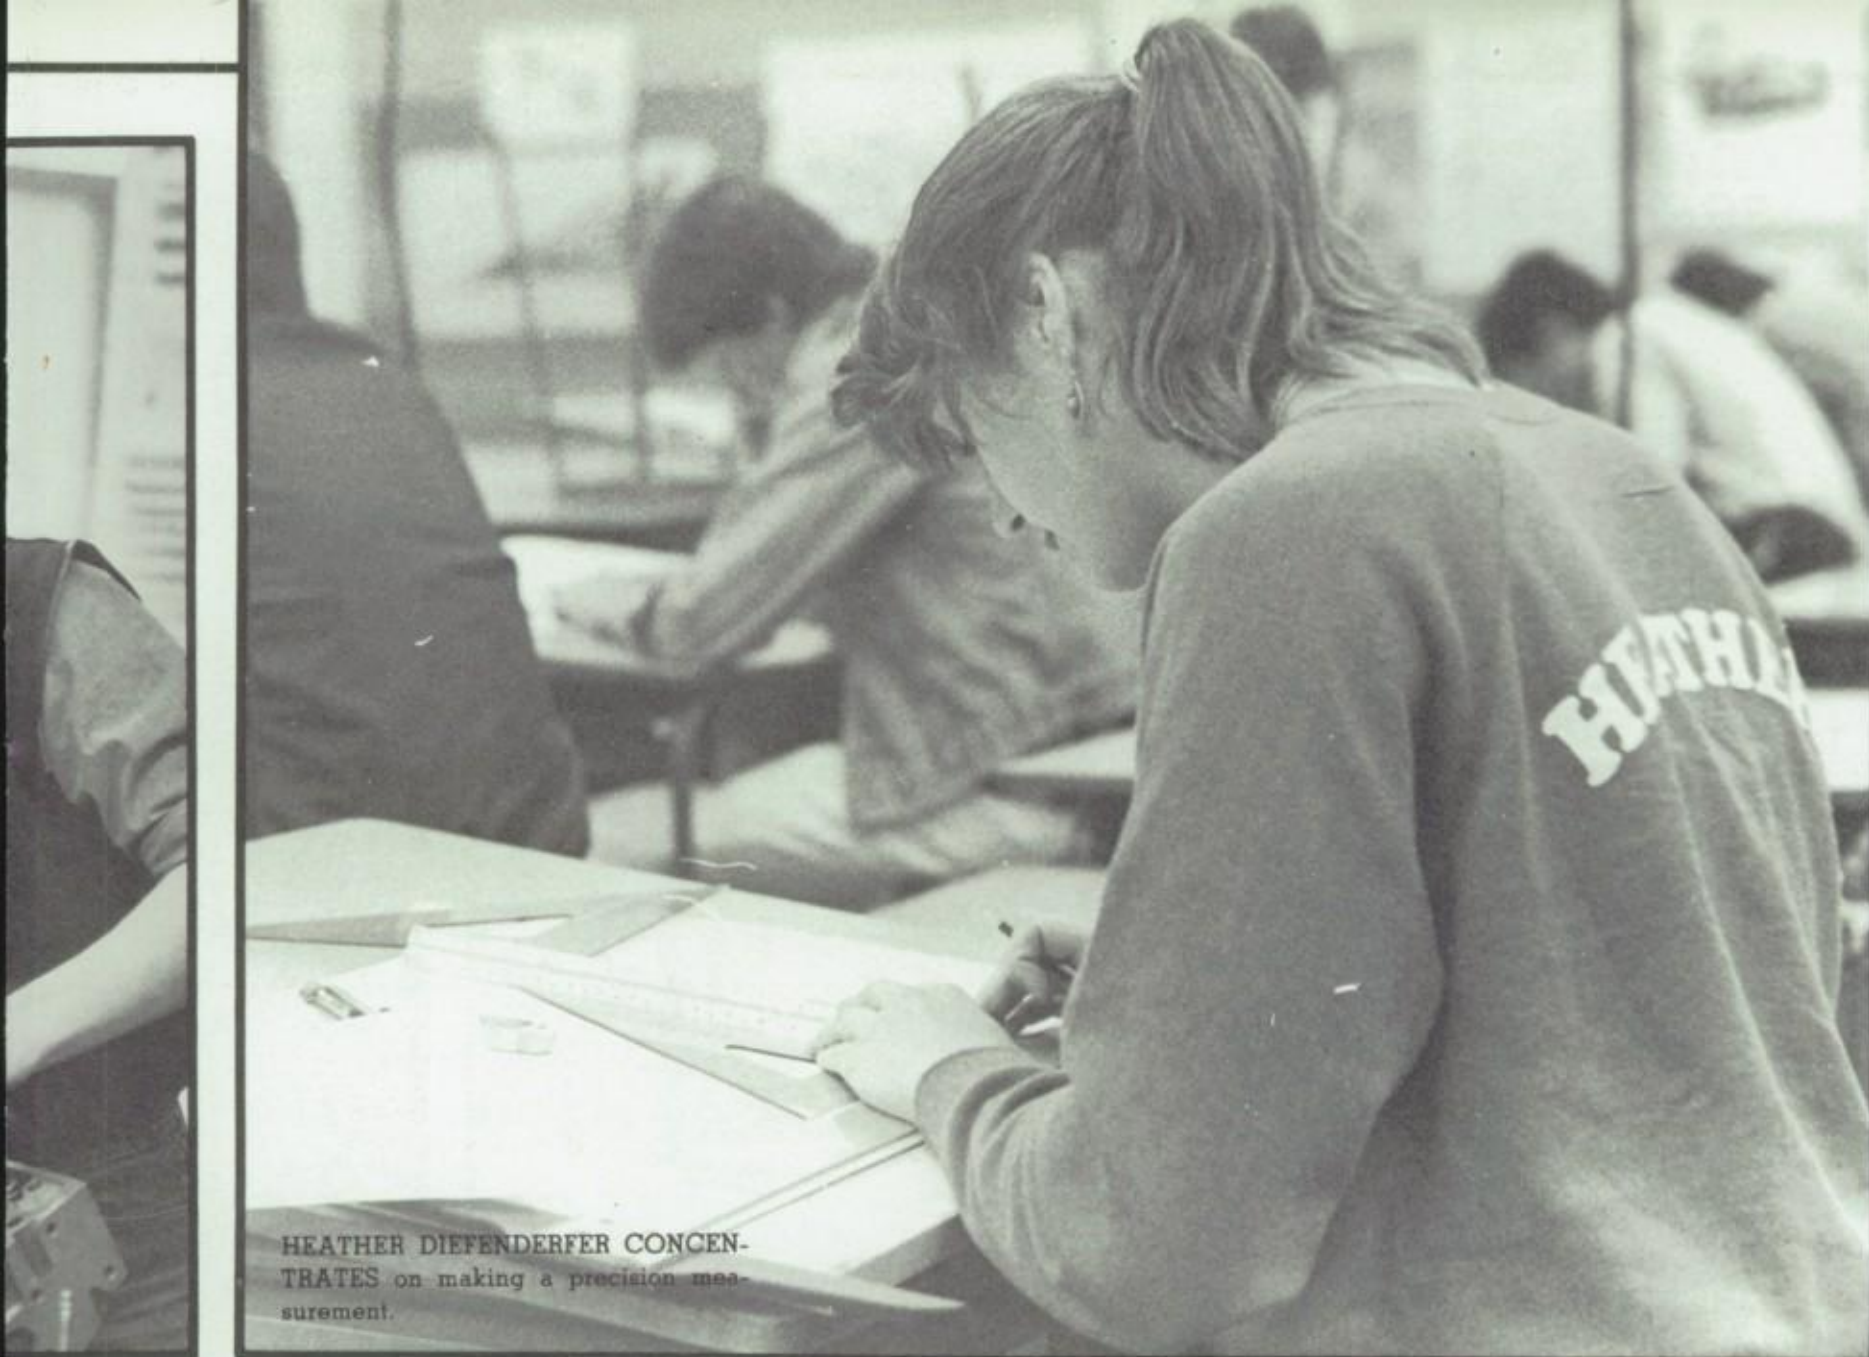

As in previous years, students were able to enter their finished products in school-wide, district, community, and state competition. This allowed students to receive the recognition that they deserved. The students got the feeling that all of their hard work had finally paid off.

Foreign Students Tour Redmond

Lyrics by Tom Yosick

THE OPPORTUNITY TO live and study in a foreign country can be a rewarding learning experience. The foreign students who attended Redmond High School enriched the cultural blend of the student body.

The foreign exchange program brought fourteen students from around the world to study at Redmond High School. The students, from Germany, Yugoslavia, Mexico, Japan and New Zealand, came to the United States to learn about American culture, experience our way of life, and to master the English language. "Being in a foreign environment, a person has to think and adapt. Exchange students learn to be very open and flexible," explained the German Exchange coordinator Annelies Clauson. "Aside from the academic viewpoint, it's a lot of fun!"

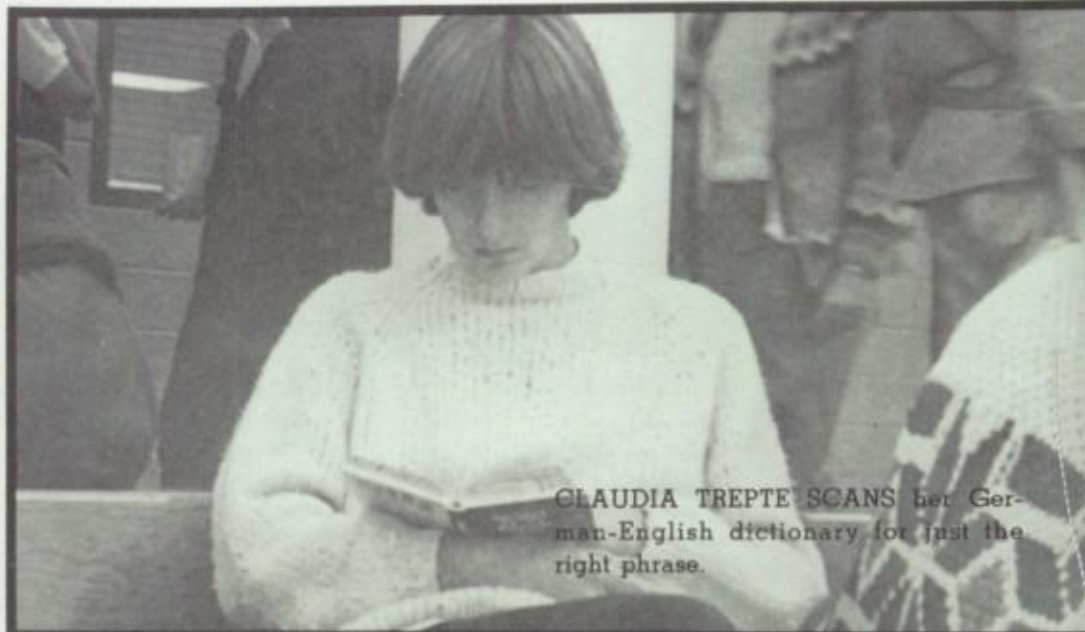

Participation in extracurricular activities gave many of the exchange students a different view of American life. Britta Schutt and Kerstin Propp, both from Germany, played on the girls' tennis team, while Bruce Duncan, from New Zealand, turned out for cross country.

To learn even more about the United States, many of the foreign students travelled throughout the country prior to returning home.

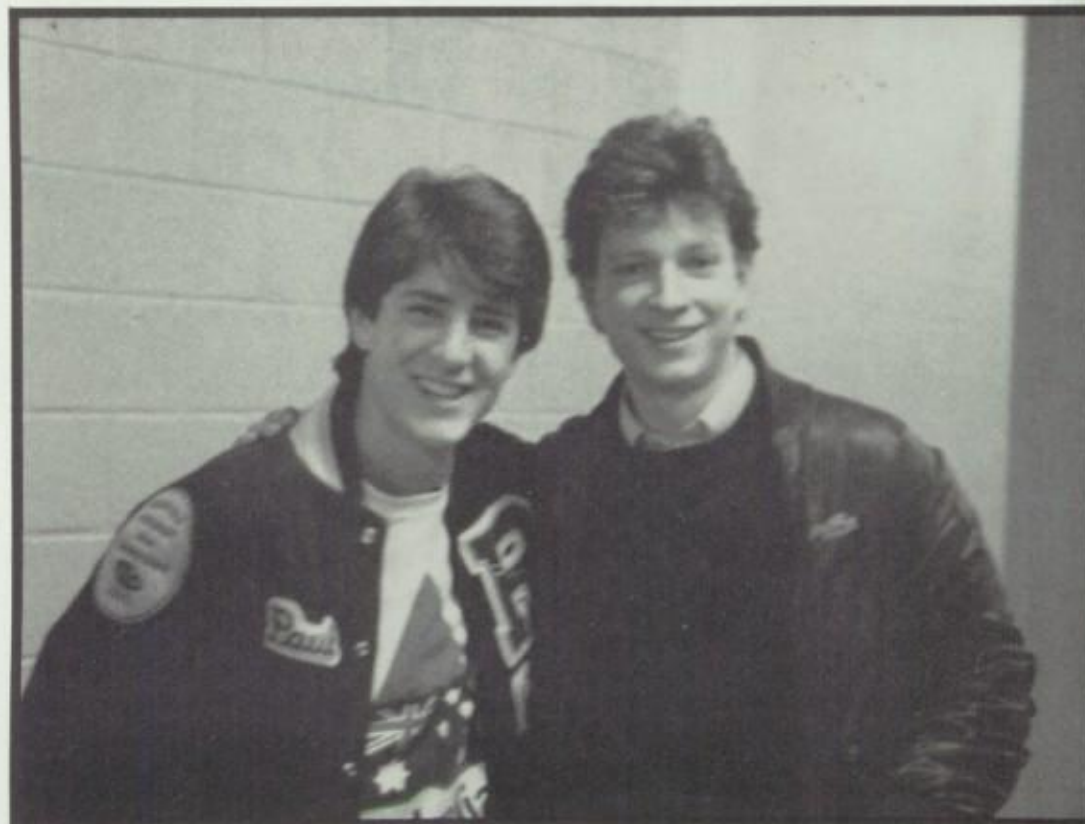

All of these students added a piece of their unique culture to Redmond High School. The exchange students were Petra Kammeyer, Andreas Kerst, Benedikt Kreusch, Kerstin Propp, Ulrike Saggau, Katharina Schrupf, Britta Schuett, Claudia Trepte and Monika Zimmermann, from Germany; Masumi Fujimoto and Kayuko Ogawa, from Japan; Margarita Velazquez, from Mexico; Bruce Duncan, from "down under"; and Sasa Zelenski, from Yugoslavia.

Redmond High School's "English as a Second Language" program (ESL) was designed to help foreign students adapt to life in America and learn the English language. The class, taught by Mrs. Orumchian, included students from Korea, Cambodia, Laos, China and Viet Nam.

Many of the students came to the United States looking for a better life, or after being forced from their homelands. "Each of the students came here highly motivated, with a strong desire to learn," said Mrs. Orumchian, the ESL instructor. "Without exception, these students are very supportive of each other."

RHS Tops The Charts; Wins Award

Lyrics by Rita Knutson

THE 1984-85 SCHOOL year was a big one for Redmond High School. Along with the completion of the newly remodeled building, RHS was also honored to receive a national award for excellence in education.

On August 27, Principal Mr. Murphy, Counselor Mrs. Denton and School Board member Dr. Jack Lynch attended an awards ceremony in Washington D.C. for being chosen as one of the top two hundred schools in the nation. The program was sponsored by the United States Department of Education. The three representatives from Redmond attended a luncheon where Mr. Murphy received a plaque from the President of the United States in recognition of RHS's accomplishments.

The award has had a great impact on Redmond High School. As Mrs. Denton commented, "I think that all of us have benefitted from the award—the staff, students, and community."

The 1984-85 school year also marked the completion of the remodeling at RHS. A ceremony dedicating the new building and celebrating Redmond's selection as one of the best schools in the country was held at RHS on Oct. 15. The Dedication was attended by several dignitaries, including Dr. Frank Brouillet, State Superintendent of Lake Washington School District; and George Hood, a representative from the United States Department of Education. All three men presented speeches commending Redmond High School on its achievements. Redmond Mayor Doreen Marchione read a resolution declaring Redmond High School Week during Homecoming. Representative Rod Chandler presented the plaque awarded to RHS in Washington D.C. for excellence in education.

The community, parents, and students were invited to attend the ceremony. After the presentation, tours were given of the building.

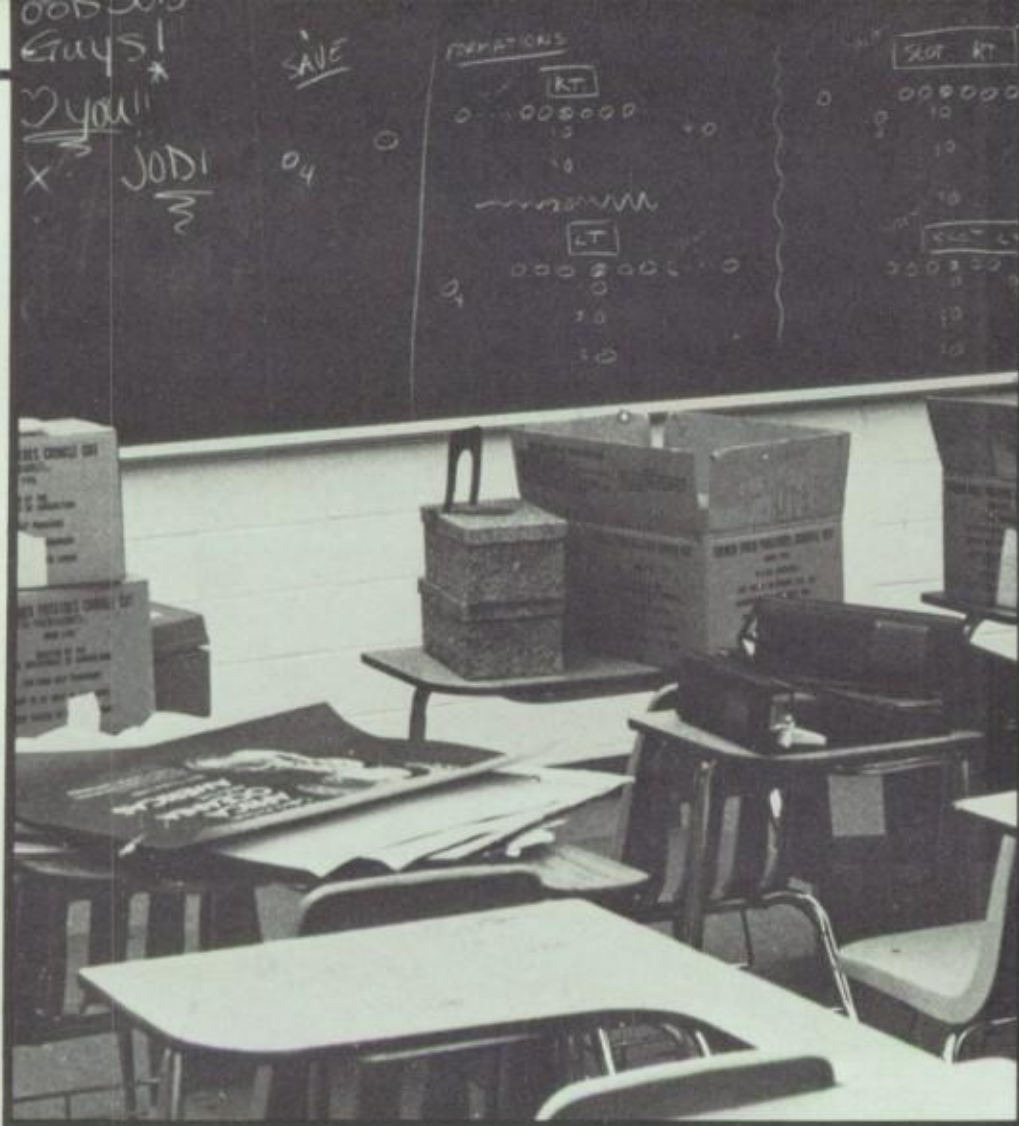

On October 30, the plaque was presented to the student body at a special assembly by representatives from the state and federal governments. Mrs. Pat Robbins, Dean of Students, stated, "I am very proud to have been a part of Redmond High School during a time of dedication to excellence, and will always remember how much the students at RHS deserve the very special recognition from Washington D.C."

Tropical Fever Scorches Homecoming

Lyrics by Michelle Dunlap

"FUN IN THE TROPICS" was the theme for the biggest and best Homecoming that Redmond High has ever seen.

It was the biggest for one reason. In order to avoid the inclement weather normally present on "Round-up" days, the administration decided to combine the "Round-up" fundraising booths with the other Homecoming activities, in hopes of higher attendance than in previous years. With the festivities combined it was evident that Jen Niehaus' comment rang true. "Homecoming was a huge mass of fun."

Participation was the single reason that this Homecoming was also the best. In fact, so many people were involved that the various Homecoming committees became jammed with volunteers, making for some very hot class competitions.

In the end, when all the points were counted, the seniors came out on top as winners of the class competition. And although the juniors and sophomores did not emerge victorious, they still held the satisfaction of earning money for their classes and having a fun time doing it.

The tropical Homecoming festivities began with spirited dress-up days, a successful canned food drive and a fun-filled bonfire. It continued with profitable booths and an entertaining spaghetti feed/talent show, and climaxed with one of the most spirited and spectacular football games Redmond has ever seen.

Not only did the Homecoming game provide an unsurpassable halftime show containing royalty, floats and fireworks, but it also featured a newly awakened football team. The Mustang team beat the odds by pulling out a 17-6 victory over Mercer Island.

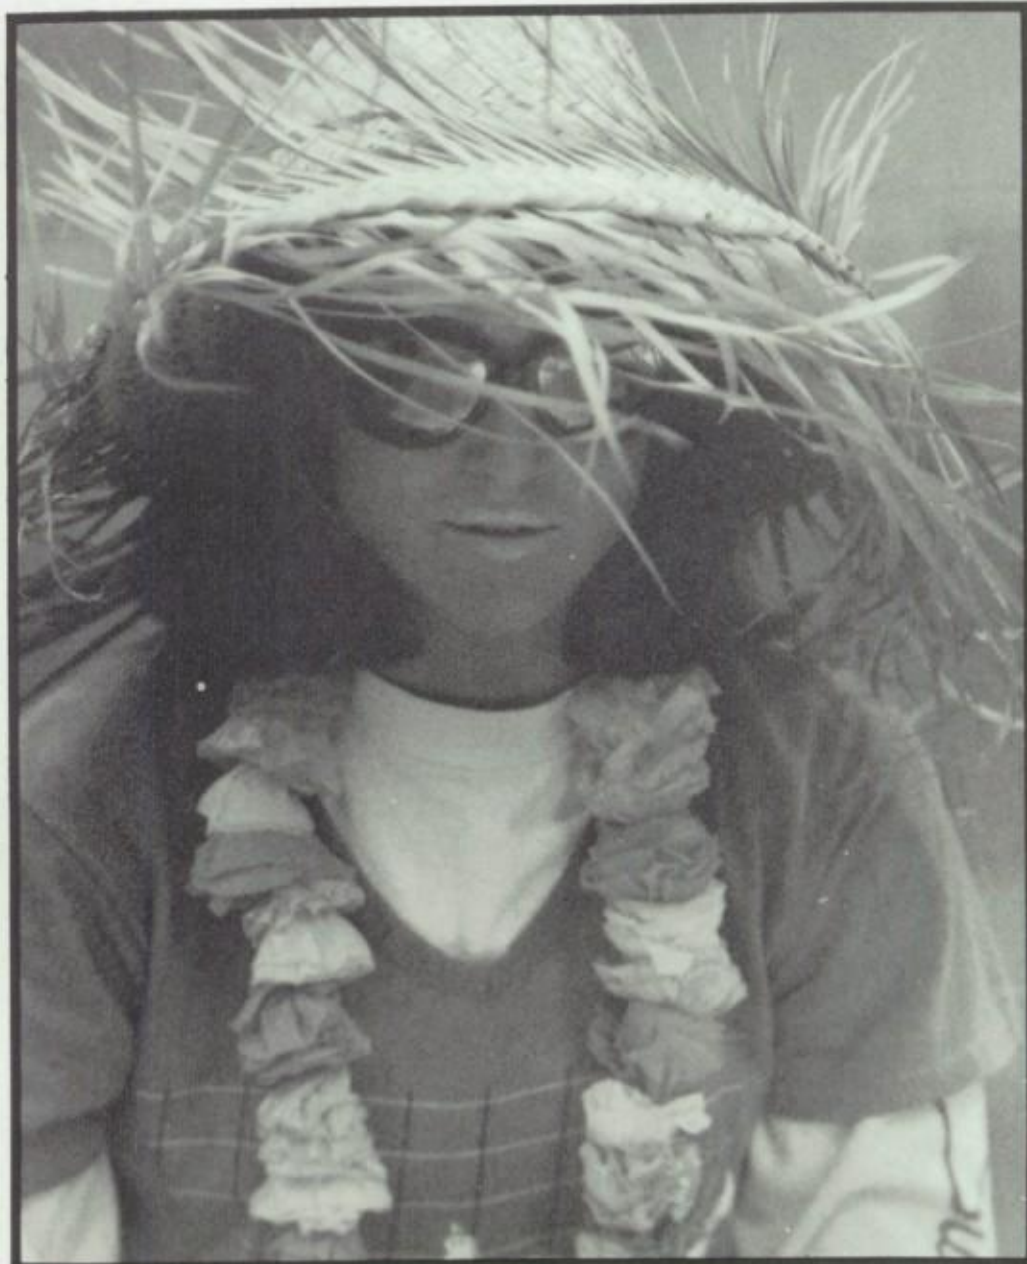

The last of the activities, the semi-formal dance, was a bit of a disappointment to some. However, many people thought that the dance was worth the admission fee to see friends dressed in their best duds. Sophomore Darren Riemer commented, "The dance was pretty cool but I didn't even recognize some of the people because they looked so nice."

Homecoming's success was a big triumph for the class officers and committee members who planned all the activities. But, the real congratulations should go to the entire student body whose avid participation helped make this Homecoming lots of "Fun in the Tropics."

Money Is Music to Our Ears

Lyrics by Cheryl Meredith

ROUND-UP AND HOMECOMING were combined for the first time in 1984-85.

In the past, some students participated only in Homecoming or only in round-up. By combining the activities, it was hoped that a majority of the student body would turn out to support their school.

Booths are a tradition at Redmond and their success exceeded everyone's expectations. The booths were a lot of work. Committee members had to plan and build them, then get goods to sell. Work schedules were organized and volunteers had to be found to man the booths.

Each class had four booths, with different types of articles in each. Seniors sold pizza and kebobs, deserts, drinks, and Mustang memorabilia. Juniors produced baked goods, sweatshirts, took pictures, and conducted a raffle. The sophomore class had a cake walk, dart toss, video games, and popsicles.

The senior class won the booth contest, with a profit of nearly $300. The juniors were second, bringing in over $200 and the sophomores were third.

Not in competition with the classes, were the Cross Country team selling an assortment of t-shirts and the Honor Society with a bake sale. S.U.D.D.S. sold rootbeer floats and the choir group was responsible for the very successful basketball toss. The PTSA sold hot dogs, chili, and pop. There was also a barbeque where students bought chicken and burgers.

When asked what she thought of the booths, Margaret Sutcliffe commented, "The booths were really good. It was nice to see so many people supporting their class and their school. The senior kebobs were delicious!"

Sophomores Tune Up for Homecoming

Lyrics by H.C. Huntington

THE SOPHOMORES JOURNEYED to the "South Pacific" for Homecoming. And although many Sophomores weren't completely prepared for what to expect from Homecoming, they did an excellent job in organizing their activities. When asked how she enjoyed Homecoming, Sarah Cox replied, "It was fun. Everyone had something to do." Khan Vo stated, "Everything was well organized, but I think next years' will be even better."

Homecoming excitement came to life in the halls on Thursday October 18 when Sophomores were seen dressed as Castaways. Aside from dressing-up, Sophomores participated in the mural food drive, skit, booths and float competitions. The Sophomores lived up to and beyond the expectations of Ms. D'amico, Sophomore class advisor. "I was proud of the Sophomore float, and all the effort that the Sophomores put into Homecoming."

Sophomores showed their spirit best at the Homecoming Dance, held in the newly remodeled cafeteria. As Brian Fox exclaimed, "Spirit was up. I saw more Sophomores at the dance than Juniors or Seniors."

Even though the Sophomores placed third in the competitions, their efforts were noticeable. Shelley Eberhardt commented, "I felt our Homecoming was a success. It was neat to see so many people involved." Sophomore class president, Christie McCoy summed things up, "Our efforts were good and it was a lot of fun even if we didn't win. Next year will be our year!"

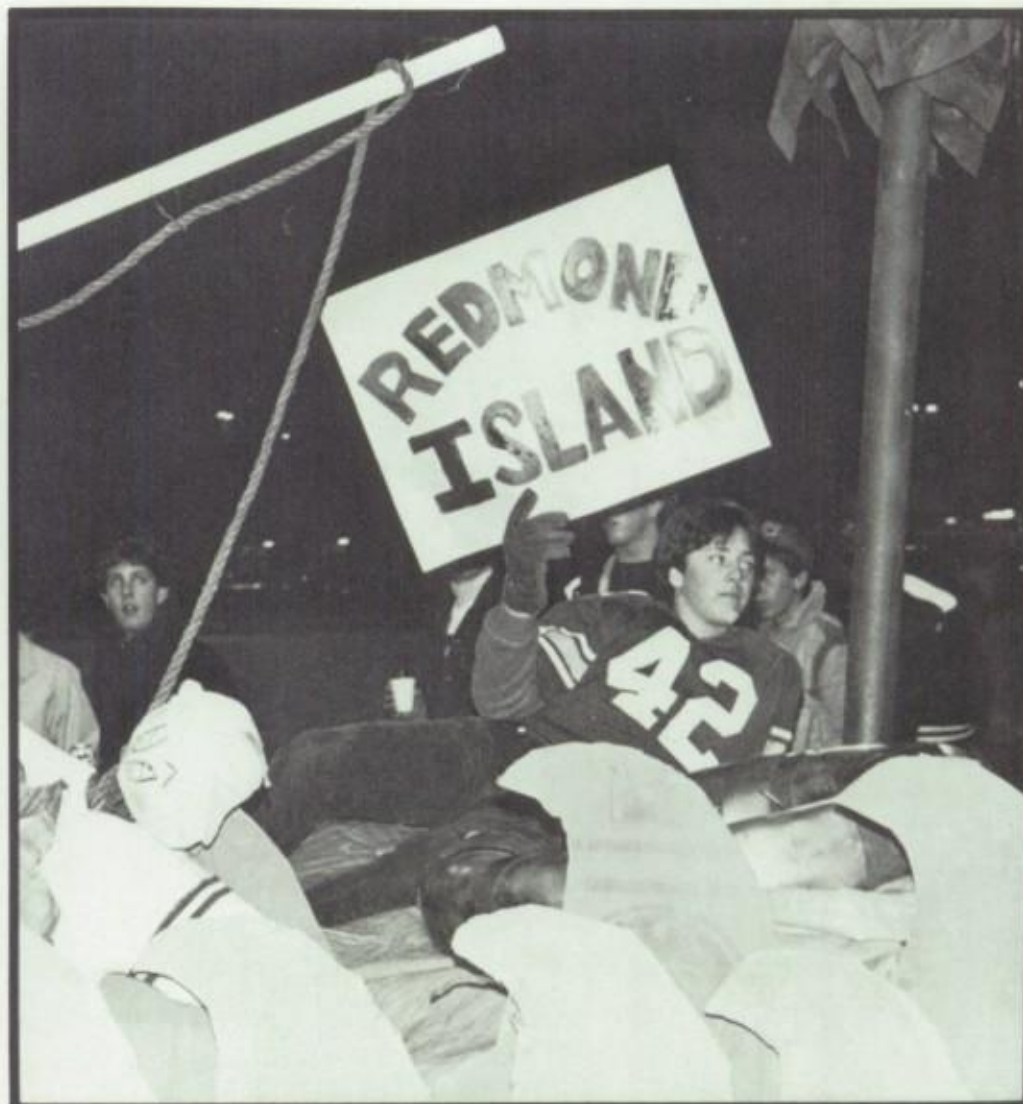

The Sophomores who performed in the talent show showed a lot of enthusiasm as well as talent. One sophomore who performed especially well was Norm Santarin. He sang a great version of "Hello" which everyone enjoyed.

The Sophomore booths included an ice cream booth, a video games booth, a cake walk and a golf ball game. Karen Caldwell was in charge of the booths. The Sophomores really enjoyed their booths, as did the rest of the school. Kevin Vache said "The booths were really cool, I loved the ice cream."

During the Homecoming assembly, the Sophomores performed a skit about "Murphy's Angels." The Angels were sent to Mercer Island to save the RHS football team. The Angels were Patti Newcomer, Lisa Jones, and Kirsten Davison.

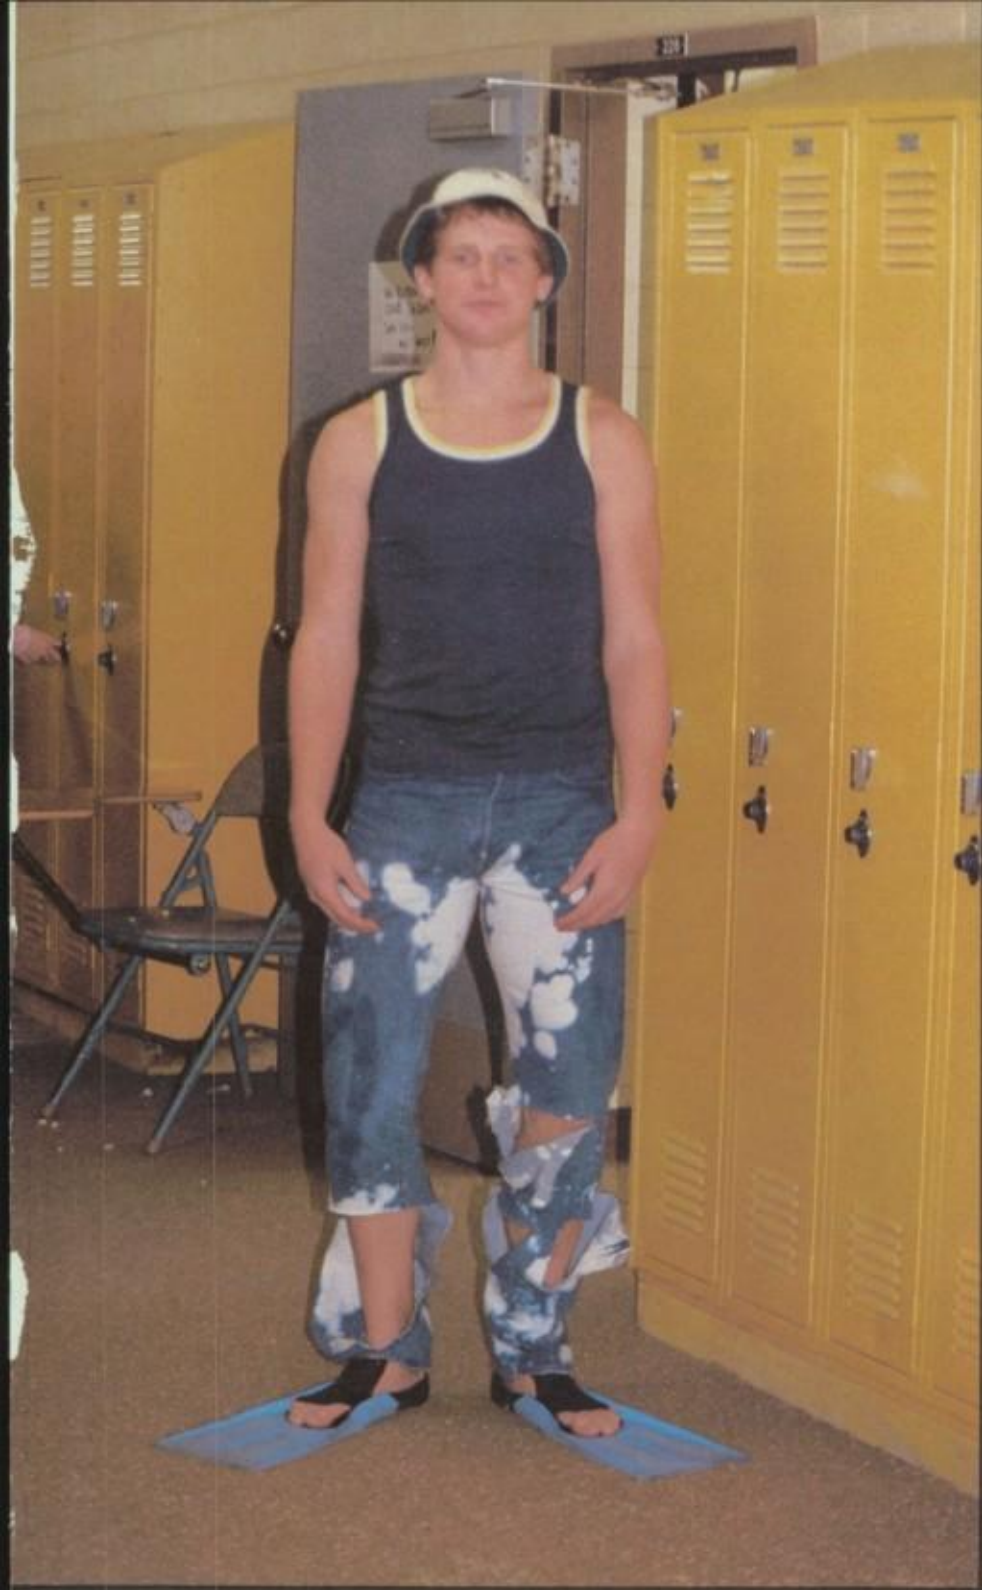

The Sophomores had a commendably well-organized Homecoming and they should do very well in the years to come.

Juniors Get Psyched for Homecoming

Lyrics by Stephanie Graves

The class participation of the juniors was the factor that made Homecoming a great success for them. In all the Homecoming competitions, the Junior Class officers had a tremendous amount of support. As Senator Michelle Dunlap stated, "The participation this year was 100% better."

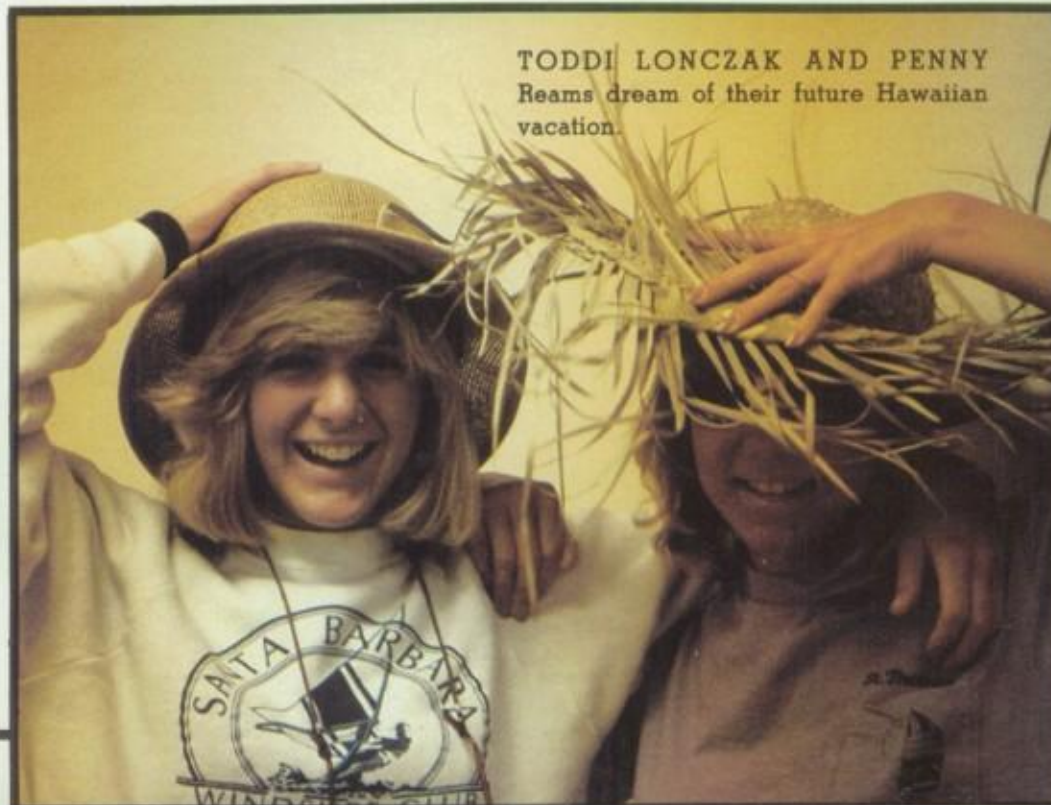

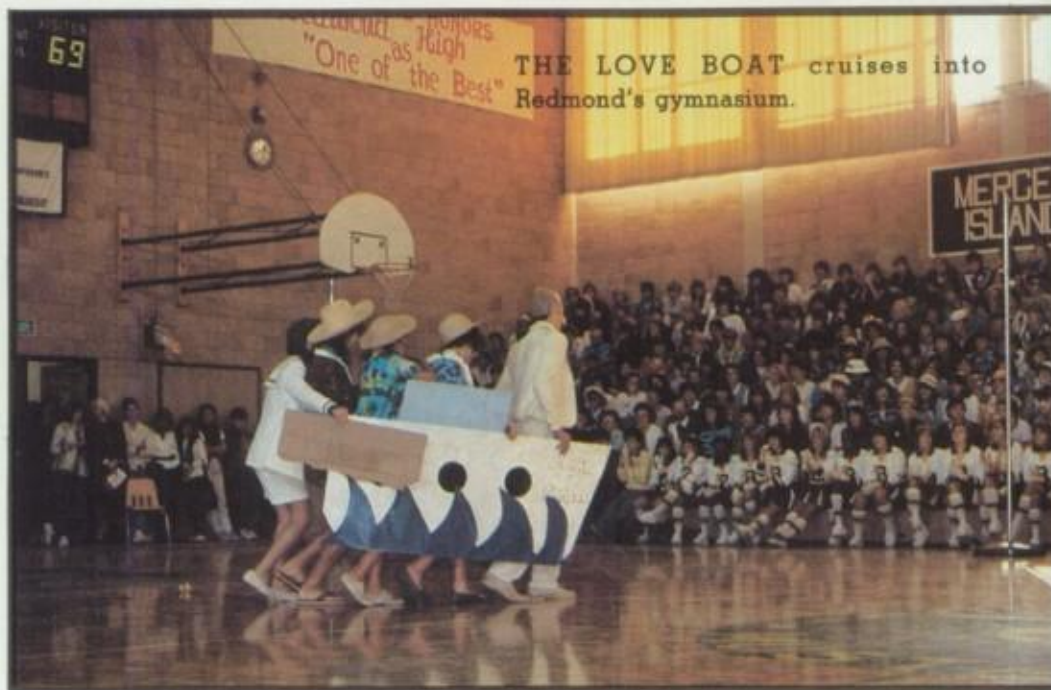

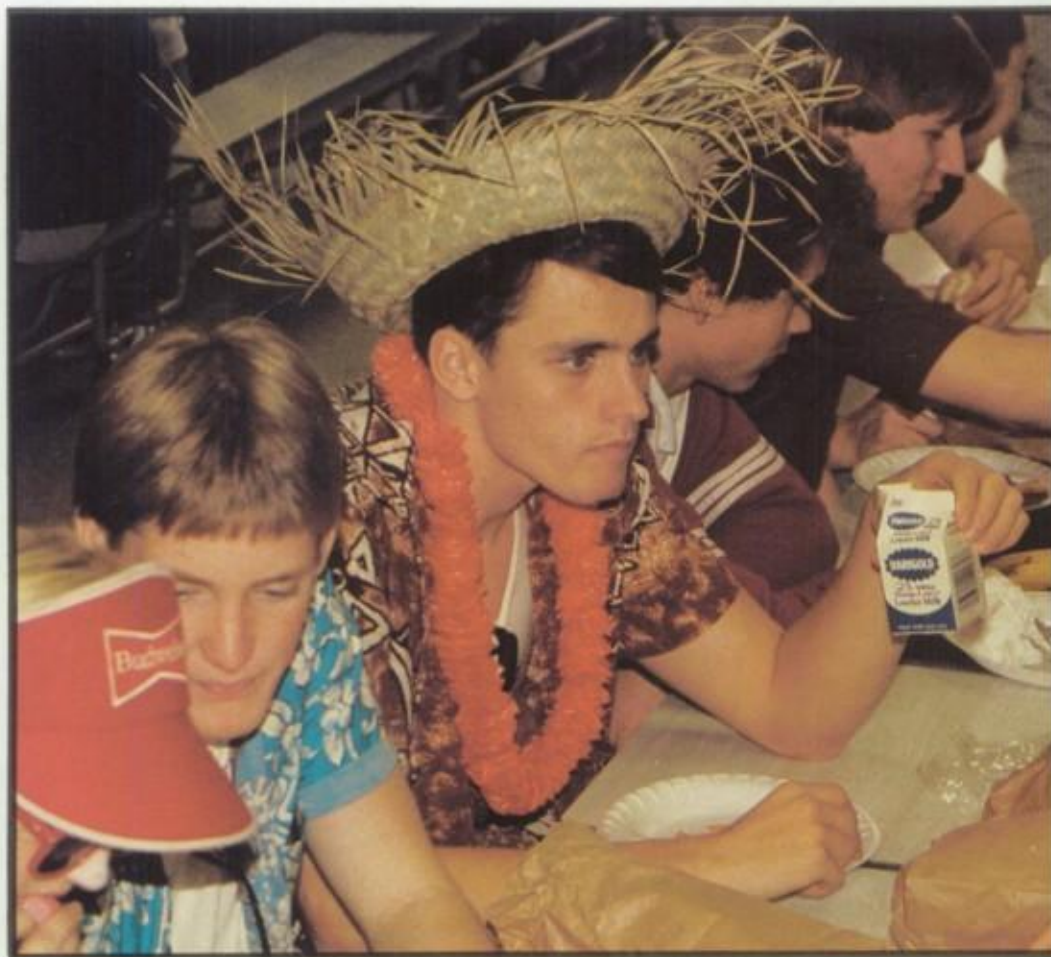

The juniors lost Homecoming to the seniors, however, placed second overall. They contributed an admirable float which consisted of a boat with Joe Ponath water skiing and Jaws coming up behind him. The canned food drive was stressed a great deal because of its high point value. Although the juniors did not win this event, a lot of class participation went into it. The mural painted by David Wise lost by only two points. The juniors were not disappointed when they found they made a profit of $220 at Homecoming.

Dress-up day was a terrific success. Almost everyone dressed up as vacationers in the tropics, pertaining to the Homecoming theme Fun in the Tropics. Most people dressed with shades and white sunblock on their noses; however, many had on shorts, Hawaiian shirts, leis, and straw hats. Amy Caiarelli claimed that "the juniors were really active, competitive, and participated a lot in the Homecoming events this year." This was definately seen on dress-up day.

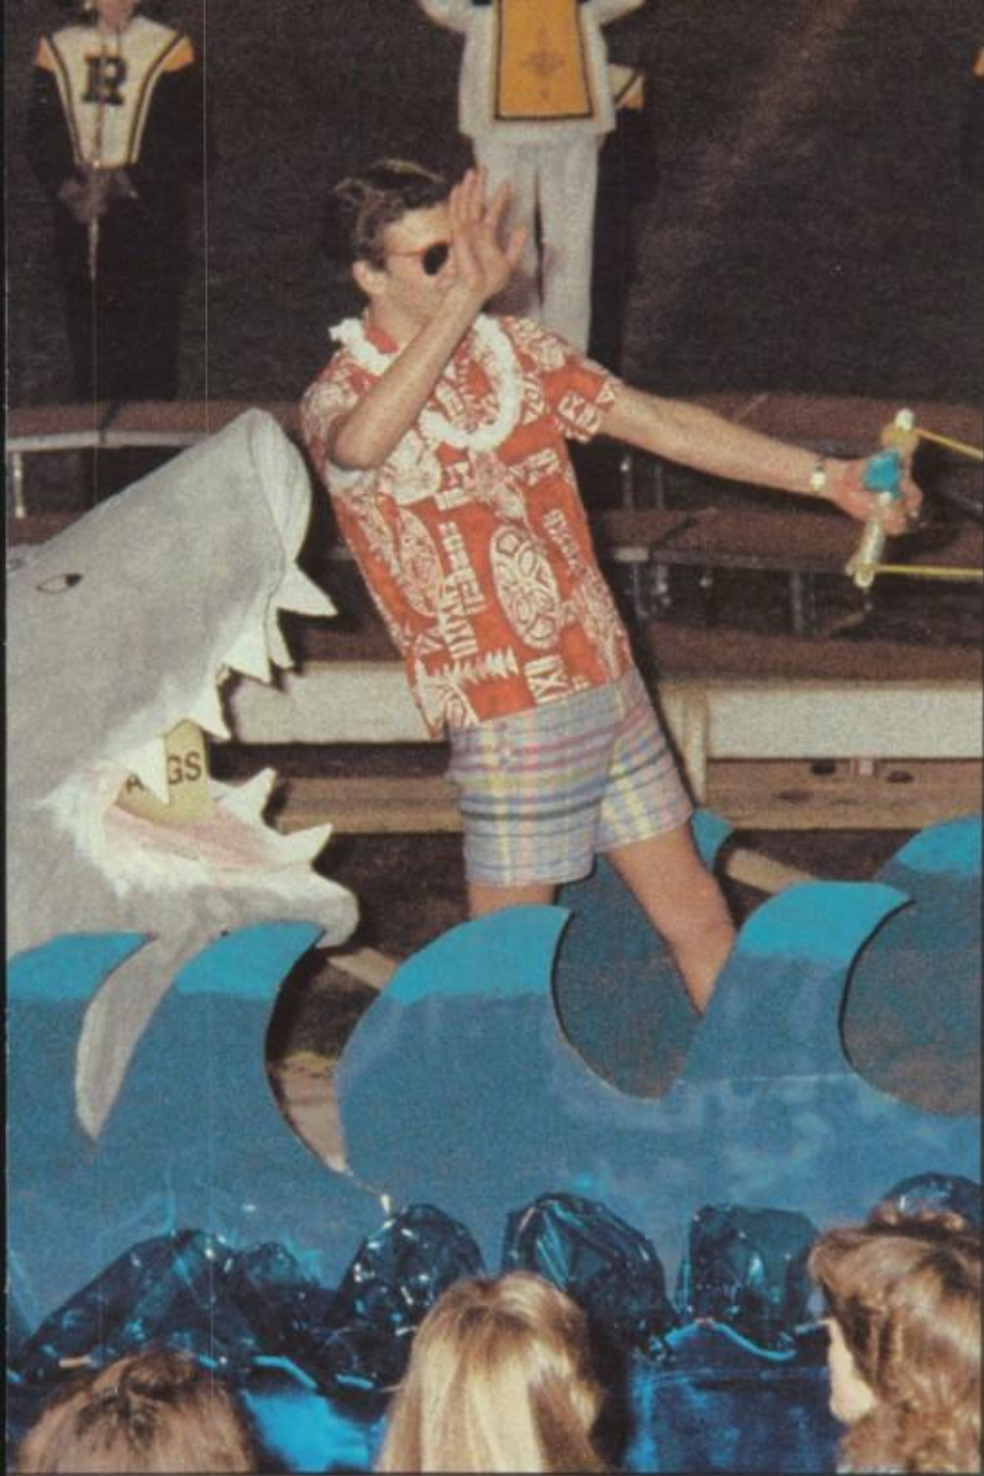

The junior skit was hilarious and entertaining. The story centered around the television show Love Boat. Many juniors acted as palm trees while Todd Kluger sang the theme song of the show, and Jeff Stark and Michelle Dill acted as vacationers on the Love Boat.

Michelle Dunlap summed it up by saying, "Homecoming was definately a success because we came close to beating the seniors and there was lots of class participation."

Seniors Sail to Victory

Lyrics by Heather Huntington

It was obvious who deserved to win 1984-85 Homecoming competitions. "We were the superior class by far," said Joelle Blankenship. The seniors clearly led the way in all Homecoming competitions.

Homecoming was the greatest for the seniors because they all pulled together and showed tremendous class spirit. Unlike years in the past, many people volunteered to help with one or more of the homecoming projects. Mr. Roberts, senior class advisor, said, "It was fun. The total class effort was truly outstanding."

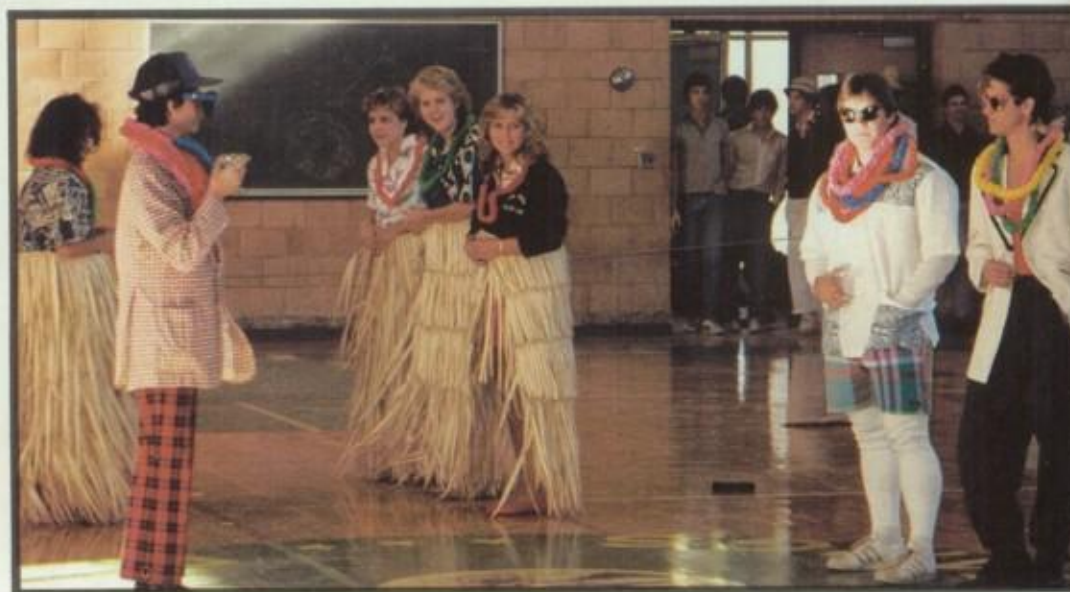

The senior float was "the best this class has ever made," said Scott Haddock. Unlike last year the float held together very well while being displayed to the crowd. The idea for the float was inspired; it was a Pair-a-Dice Island. It was obvious to the crowd that the seniors had worked long and hard to produce such a masterpiece.

The senior mural was excellent. We regret that we don't have a picture of it. It was a very colorful tropical scene which was created entirely from orange, blue, pink, and yellow scraps of paper. It took first prize in the competition and was used as a backdrop for Homecoming pictures. Erin Tattersall created the work of art.

The senior skit was a parody on everybody's favorite TV show, "Fantasy Island." Todd Watkins (Mr. Dork) welcomed his guests, the sophomore who had never been kissed, the dateless junior, and the senior stud. The skit was a tremendous success.

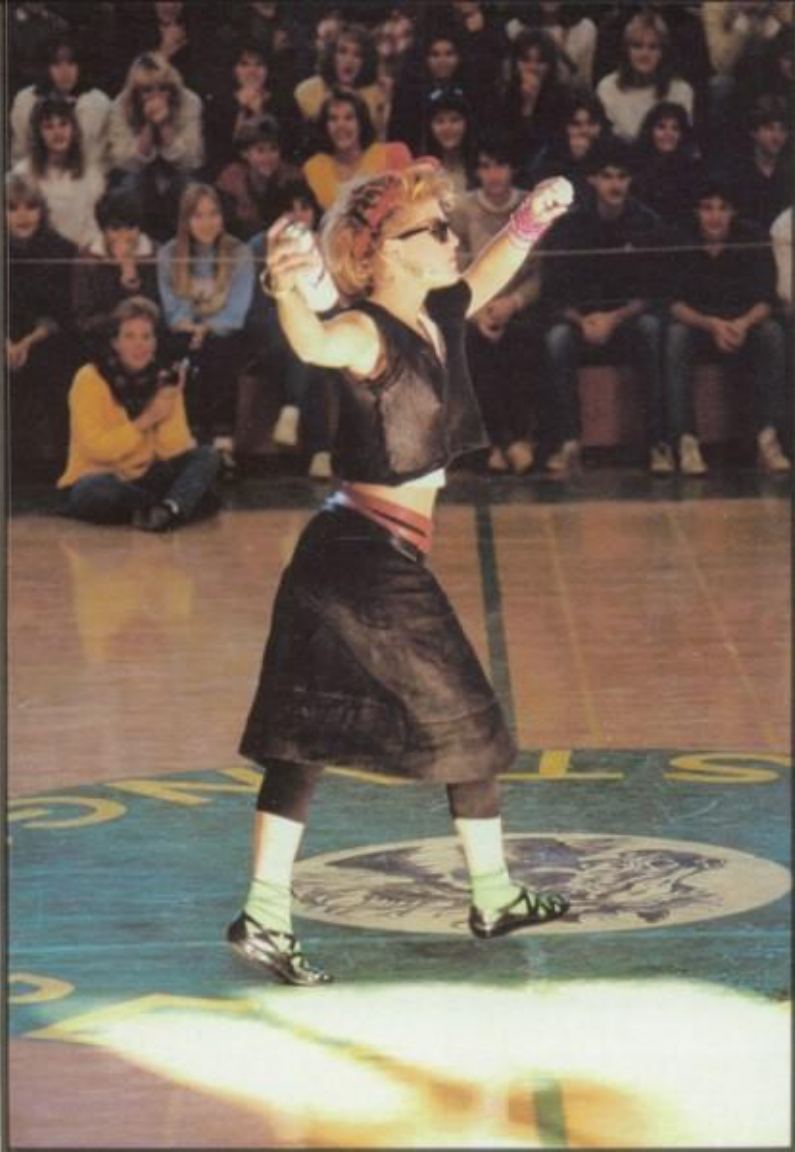

Homecoming demonstrated the spirit of the senior class. All the seniors will remember Homecoming 1984-85 at the newly remodeled RHS as the best ever.

The Talent Show and Spaghetti Feed, traditional Homecoming activities at RHS, were a real hit. Students from each grade showed their stuff Friday night, October 19, before the football game. Guests dined on a spaghetti dinner while they watched future stars shine. Sophomore Norm Santarin played the piano and sang Lionel Richie's famous "Hello" so well that it sounded like it came off the radio. He really demonstrated a special touch of class in his act.

Mike Woodward, a junior by trade, tried his hand at comedy by describing the awful trials and traps of the dentist's office. Senior Shannon Johnson dazzled the crowd with her dancing to the song "Jump (For My Love)", by the Pointer Sisters. Junior James Dailey, with that wonderful deep voice of his, sang the Elvis Presley classic, "I Can't Help Falling in Love With You." Debbie Bennetsen, another junior, did a fantastic job of accompanying him on the piano.

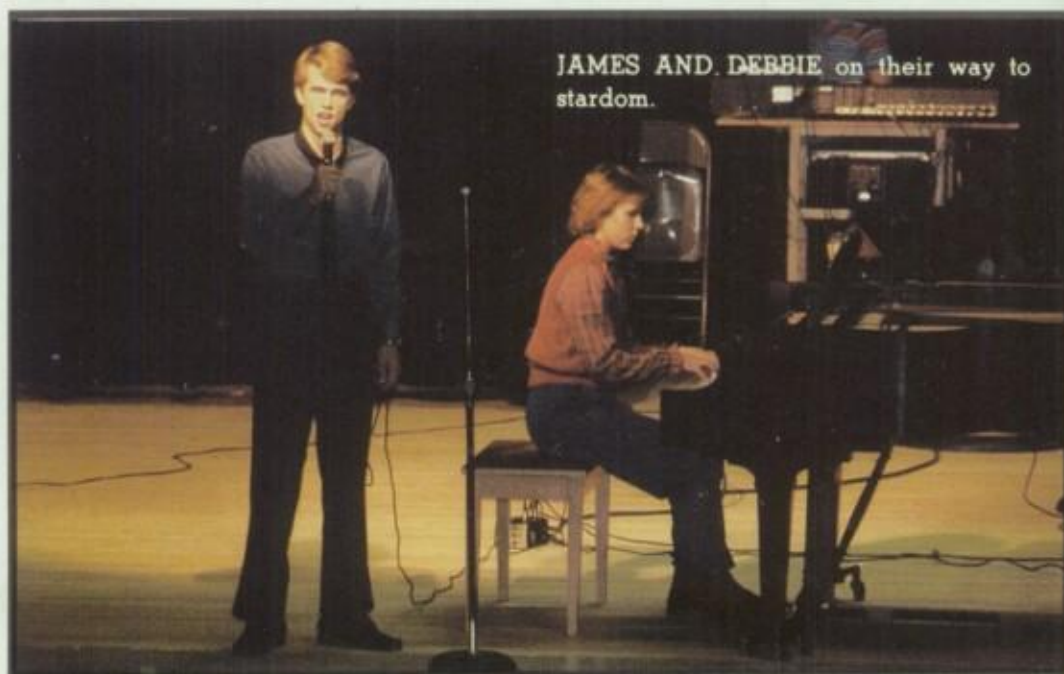

Seniors Joel Baker and Laurie Moss performed a hilarious rendition of "Pizza on the Ceiling." The crowd really enjoyed their sad little song about the problems concerning pizza on the ceiling. Sophomore Stacey Bennett sang and danced to "Jump (For My Love)" by the Pointer Sisters.

Rounding out the array of stars, seniors Kurt Thumlert, Ted Rachuna and Todd Oldridge rocked the cafeteria. Ted Rachuna played lead guitar, Kurt Thumlert played bass and Todd Oldridge kept the beat on drums.

The Talent Show provided a wonderful opportunity for students to share their entertainment abilities with the rest of the school; but there was a great performance in the kitchen, too. Saga, our regular food-service people, made the spaghetti dinner. Volunteer seniors served the dinner and bussed tables. These seniors put in a lot of hard work, but all the proceeds went to the Senior class.

So, all in all, the Redmond community enjoyed a fine show and dinner thanks to the talents and efforts of Mustang students.

Royalty Shines on Evening

Lyrics by Paula White

For many, the highlight of all the Homecoming activities is the announcement of the Homecoming King and Queen. This year Kim Warren and John Dickinson were chosen to fulfill these honorary positions. The King and Queen were chosen by a majority of student and teacher votes. Kim Warren was ASB President, and very involved in track. She has been involved in school activities throughout her school years. John Dickinson has also managed to keep himself involved. He has played on the varsity football and basketball teams since he was a sophomore.

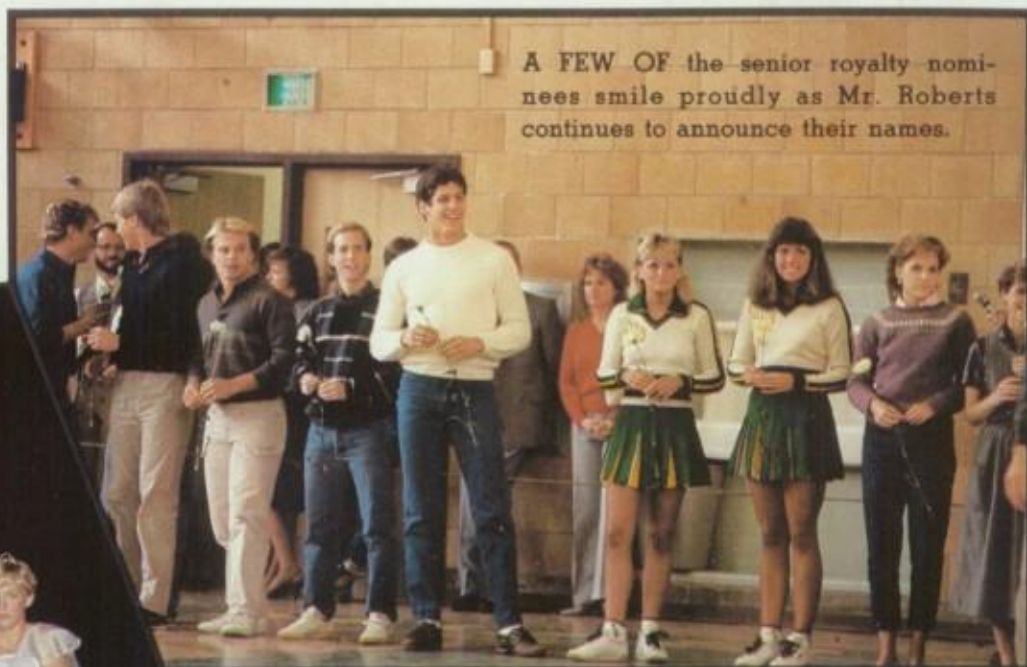

Eight classy corvettes were loaned to the school by various Redmondites for transporting the Royalty around the field. The Escorts helped the Princesses out of the cars and took them to the center of the field. When Kim was announced as this year's Homecoming Queen, Shannon Loveland carefully placed the crown on Kim's head. The stands were filled with excitement as the Royalty happily embraced Kim. "Homecoming was definitely the most successful and exciting Homecoming that Redmond has ever experienced", Doc Salisbury commented.

FORMER QUEEN SHANNON Loveland presents Kim Warren with the honorary Homecoming crown and scepter.

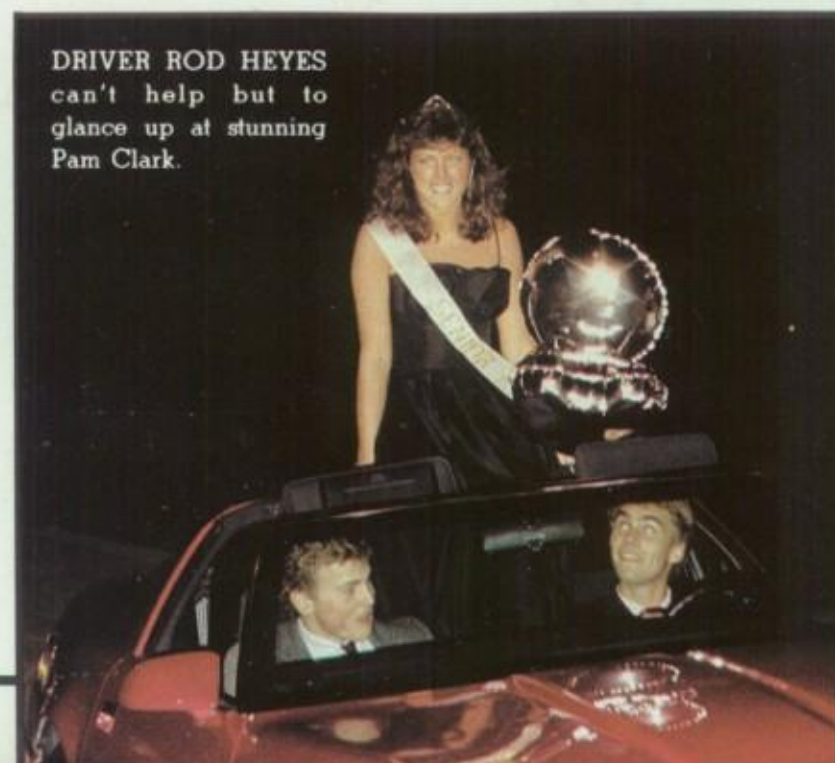

KIM IS CONFUSED by all the excitement of the crowning of the queen.

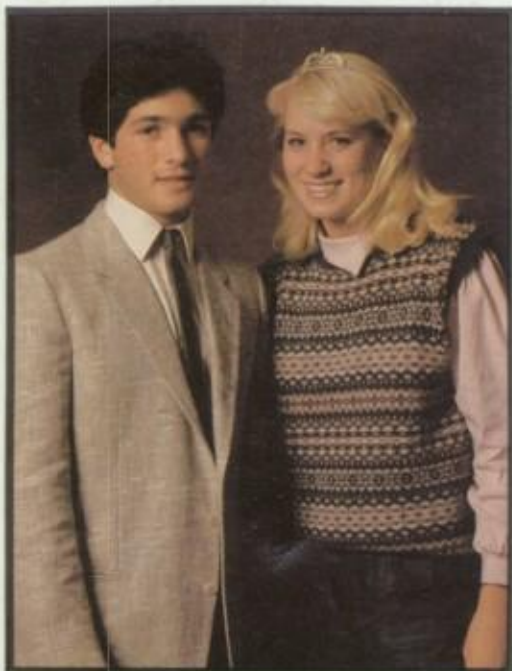

A FEW OF the senior royalty nominees smile proudly as Mr. Roberts continues to announce their names.

Danced All Dance A Long

Lyrics by Heidi Nilsen

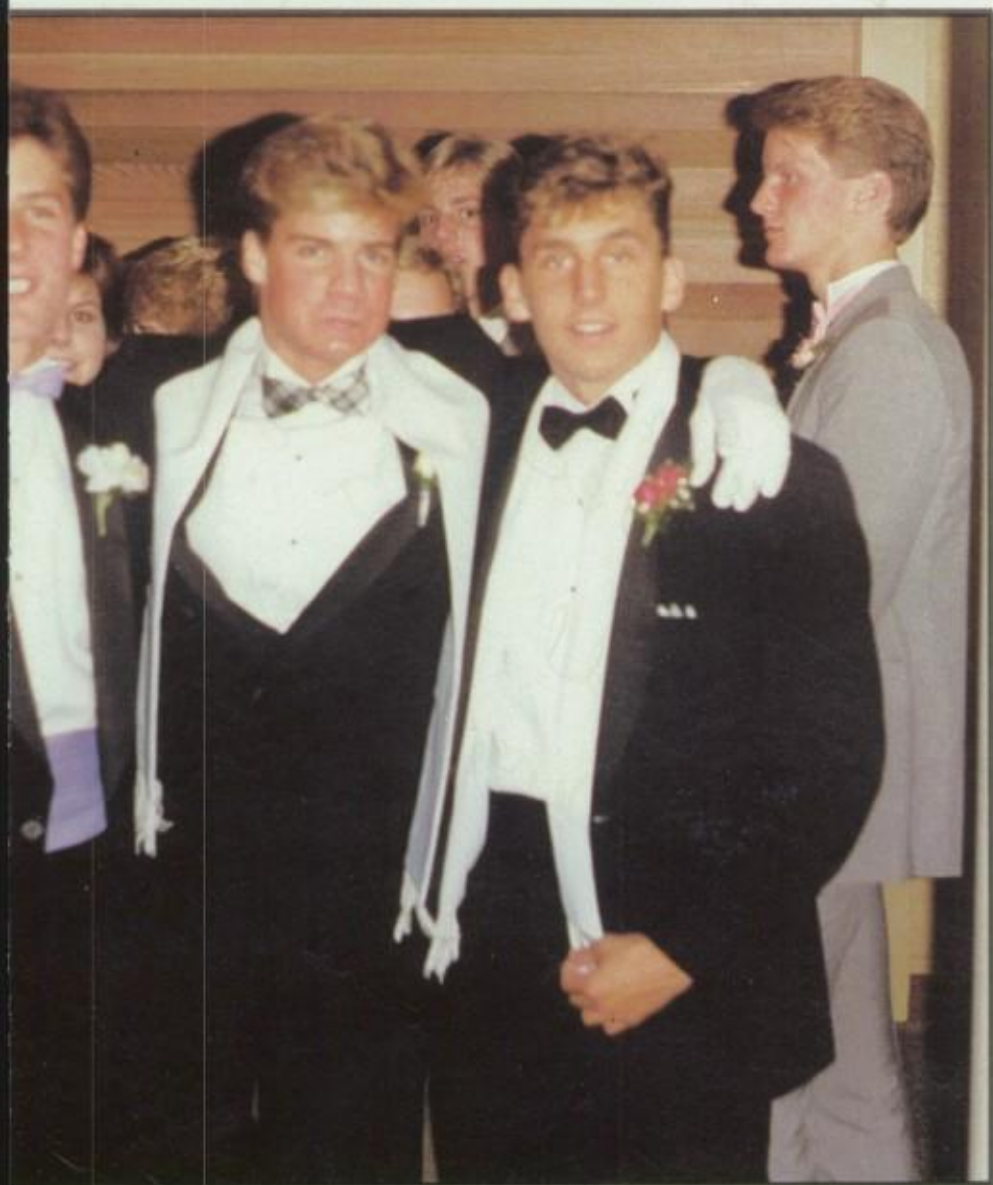

THE STAGE WAS set, the decorations were up and the lights were dimmed. Everything was ready for the hundreds of eager students, awaiting to attend the homecoming dance.

The ASB presented this years dance with a definite "Touch Of Class." Students dressed in their finest to fit the title of "formal." The theme, A Tropical Paradise, was well displayed by palm trees, large paper pineapples and the three class murals. The Redmond High cafeteria was transformed into a mini tropical island.

For most of the students the evening started at their favorite fine dining restaurant. Others made their "fine dining" meal at home. Either way it was a great way to get the evening started. Then came the actual dance which took off at 7:30 pm. There were six parent chaperones who took on the responsibility of taking tickets, checking in coats and selling punch. ZuLu, the band that was chosen for the occasion by the ASB, came from far West Entertainment. "They played a lot of great dance music, but very few slow songs," commented Kim Warren.

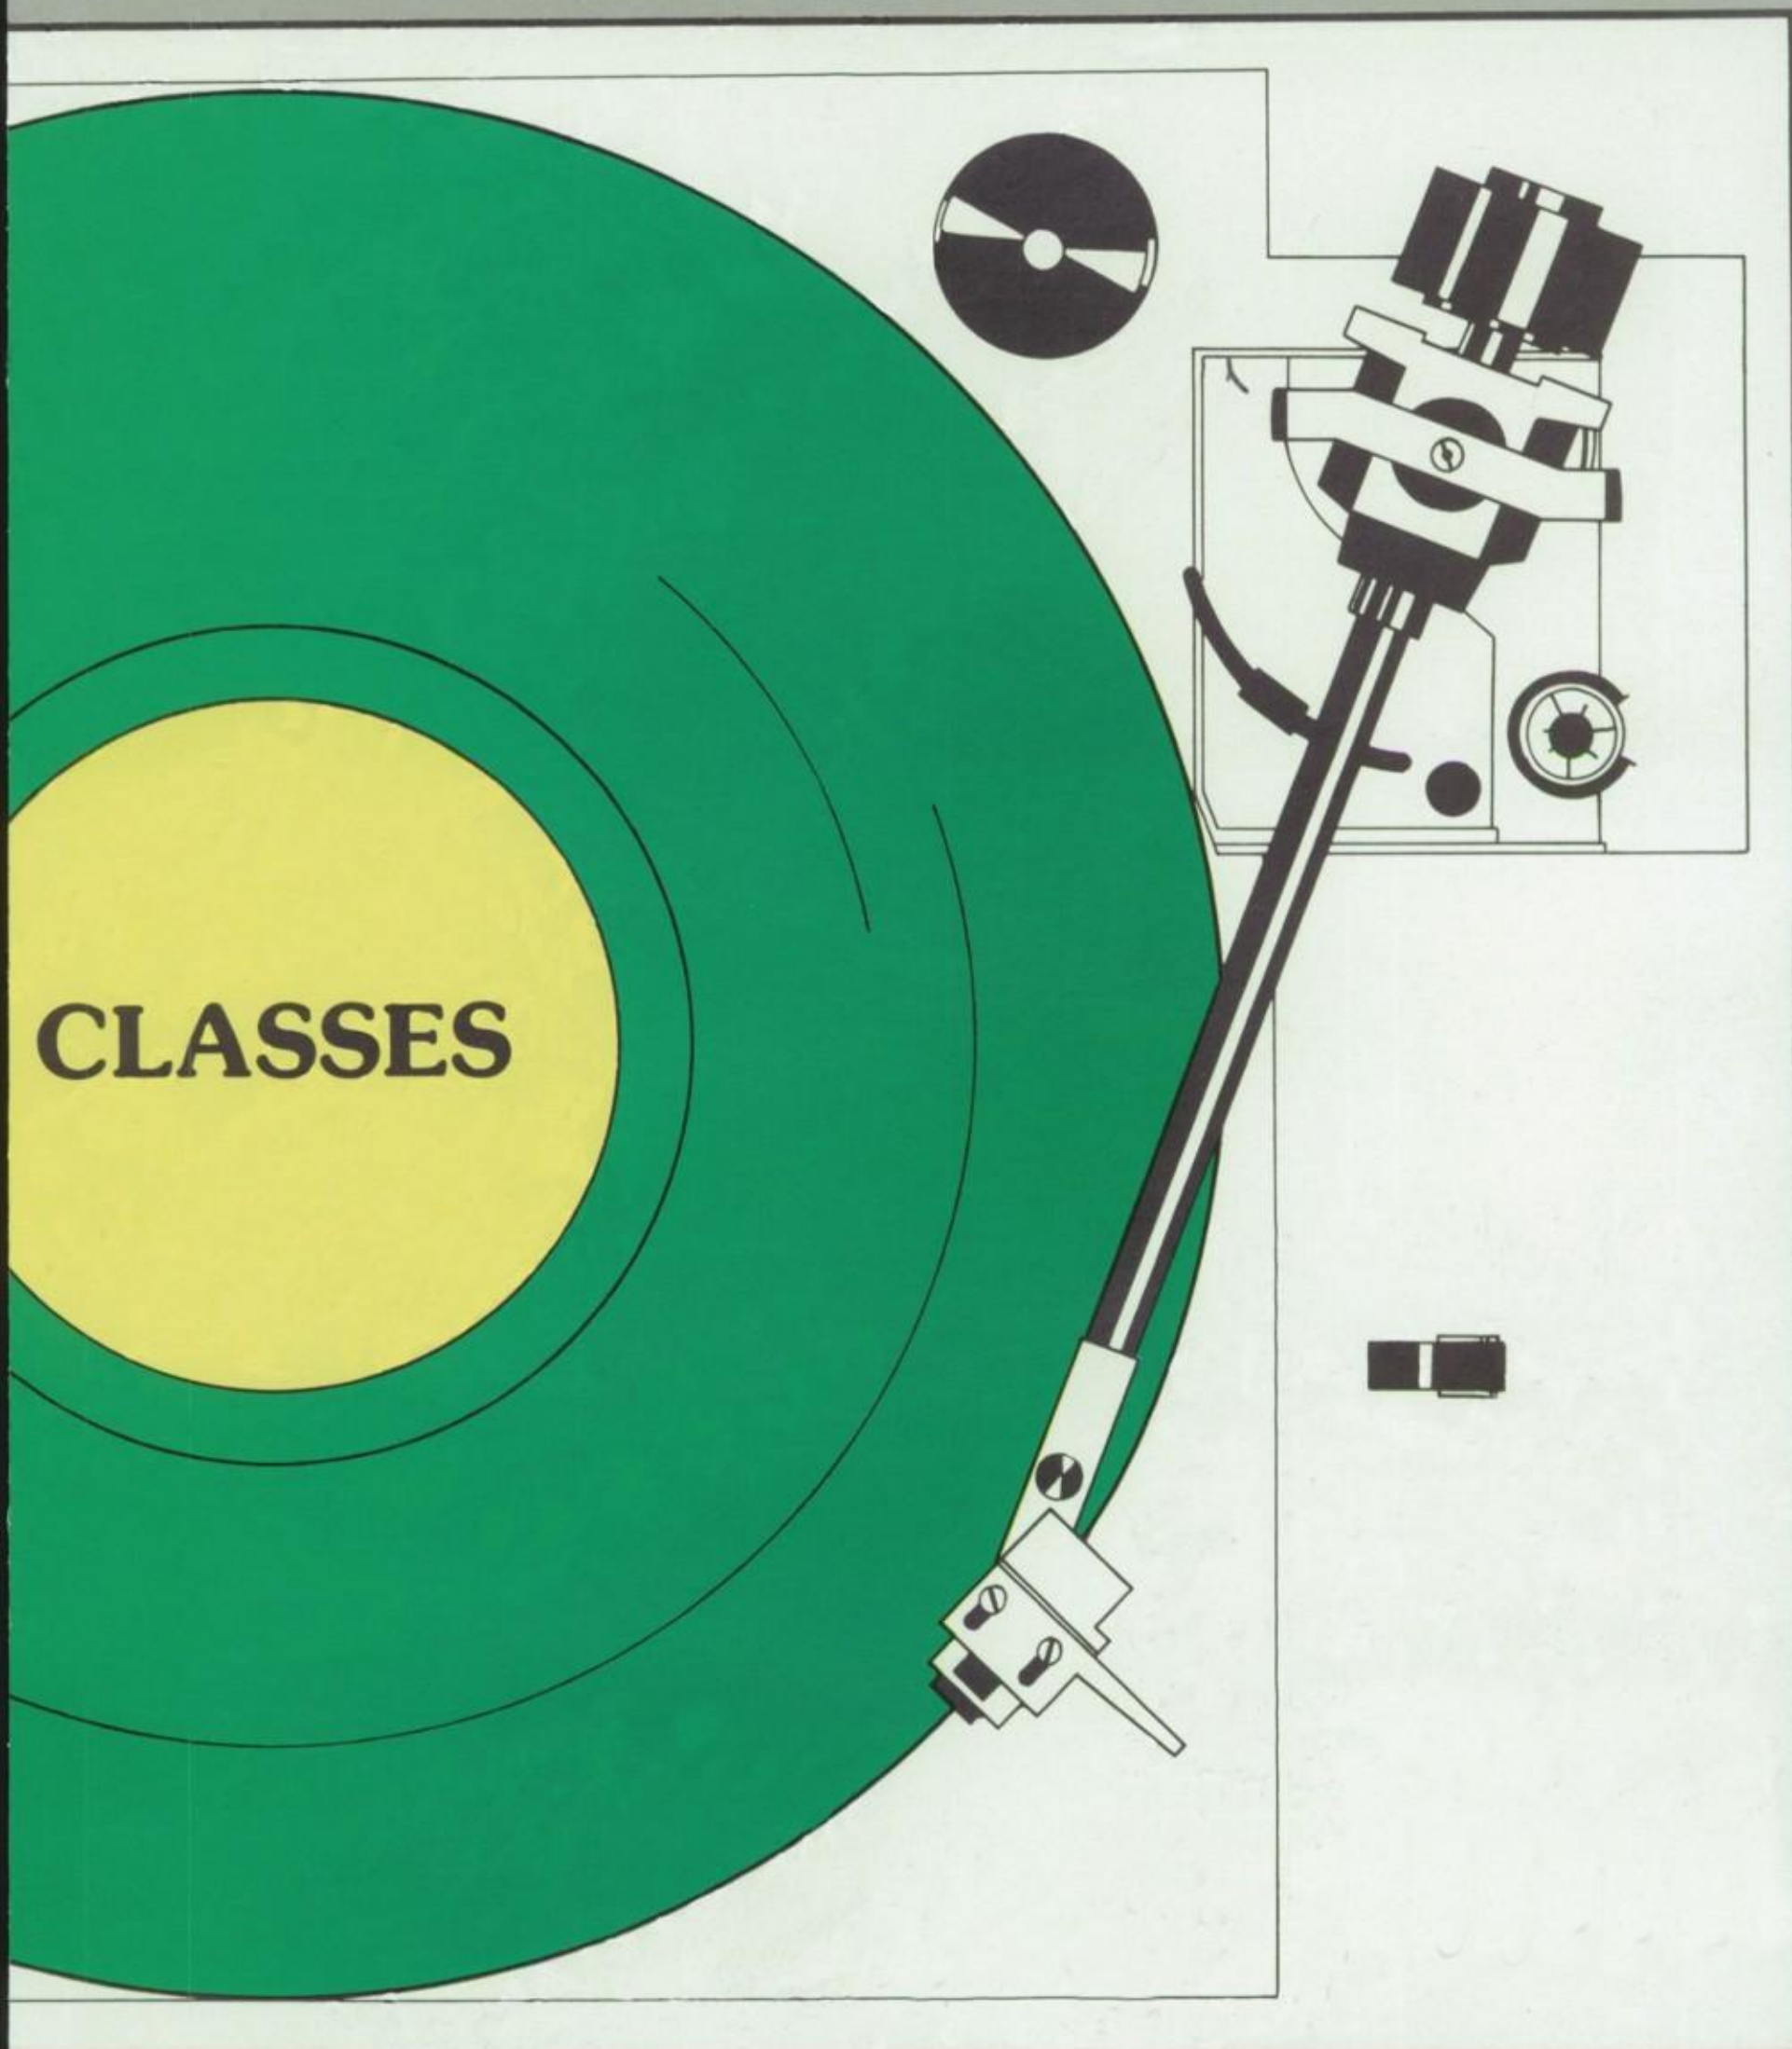

The atmosphere was one filled with fun, laughs, and excitement. In the cafeteria the lights were low and the band was accented with their own special lighting. The dance floor was covered by a mass of "boppers" doing their own thing. Pictures were offered to those who wanted them by Consolo Photographers also having the tropical look in the background. the Student Store was open for business at the dance and offered food and drinks to the students. No doubt it was a relief for the hot, thirsty dancers to have some place to get something cool to drink.

When 11:30 pm came around the dance was supposed to be over, but everyone was having so much fun that the lights didn't go on until close to midnight. All in all the 1984 Homecoming dance was a fun occasion for most everyone.

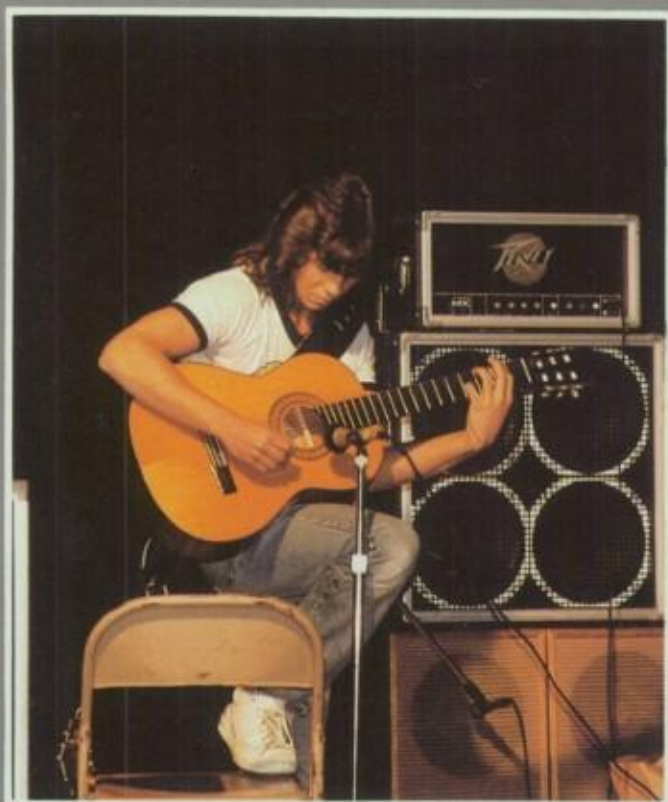

IT'S EITHER PAUL, Frank, and Mark or Larry, Curly and Moe.

FOR THE RECORD

There's No Stopping Us

Lyrics by Katrin Spilde

ONE'S SENIOR YEAR has always been filled with many activities, ranging from Homecoming preparation to planning senior prom. These activities touched all students, but especially those directly involved with student politics.

In prior years, the responsibilities of organizing senior activities have rested on the shoulders of only six individuals. The senior officers of the 84-85 school year were given the opportunity to try something new. The officers along with the advisors, Mr. Roberts and Mr. Chesler, opted to select a cabinet made up of nine members. The purpose of this cabinet was to disperse the duties of leadership among more than just the six officers.

Some of the activities guided by the officers and cabinet included running homecoming booths and other traditional homecoming activities, governing football basketball concession stands, sponsoring dances, and putting on the spaghetti feed. The representatives of the class of '85" did an exceptional job with the preparation of homecoming events. Many improvements in the areas of time management and organization were made over previous years. For example, as sophomores and juniors, the homecoming activities and projects were limited; nevertheless, as seniors the class pulled through with a great deal of success.

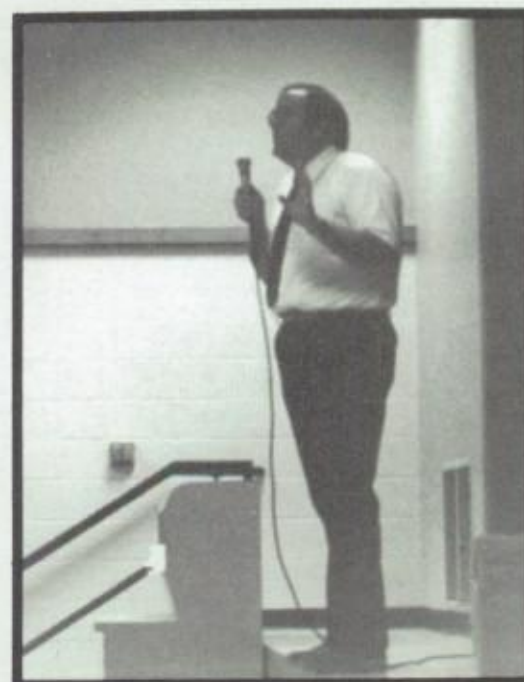

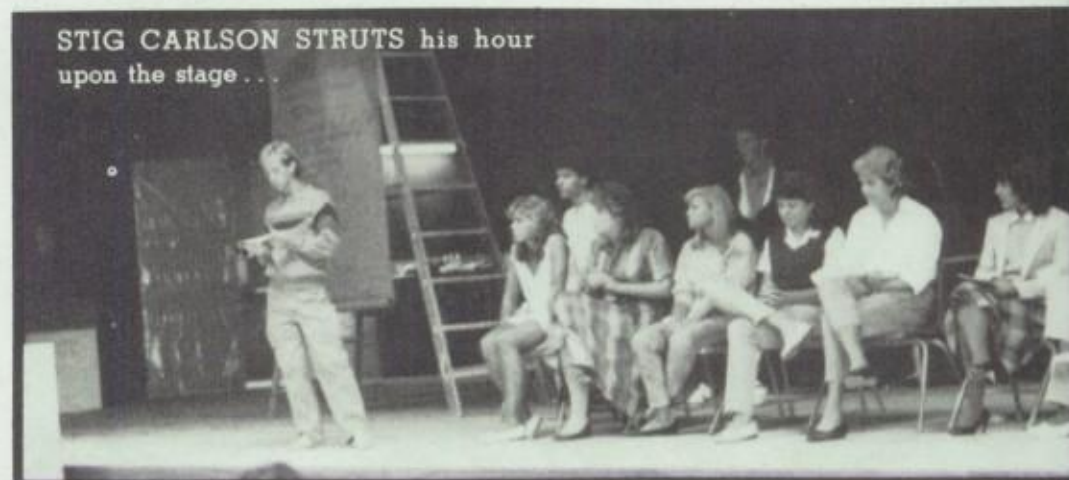

Additional responsibilities consisted of designing graduation announcements, making arrangements for the senior party, and, most importantly, organizing the senior prom. Another of the many responsibilities of these leaders was to inform other students of forthcoming events and encourage their involvement. The officers and cabinet members met with the advisors at least once a week, before school, to discuss the latest happenings and upcoming events. They even had some meetings during the summer prior to the beginning of the school year.

It took a lot of time, effort, and most of all, unity, to attain these kinds of results. Without the support of the staff and other students, the intended goals for a prosperous senior year would never have been achieved.

ACTIVITIES: Band, Computers
HIGHLIGHTS: I've only been going to Redmond High School for the last five months but I have found that this is the best school I have gone to over the years, and there have been four high schools in four years. I really enjoy the band at Redmond High, they really get into their music up here. I have to say thanks to Mr. Kittler for the awesome band he has going up here. I want to say thanks to my friends. They have really made my senior year a joy to attend, (I think). In general I want to say thanks to the teachers for everything they do, and that I finally get to get out of school for a long while. I also look forward to the rest of '85" and the years to come. I wish the rest of the soph's and Juniors a good year to come.

Junior Class Officers Stress Participation

Lyrics by Adam Coppoletti

The Junior class officers made this school year a very successful one. The Junior class officers were: Stacey Whitis, president; Danny Murray, vice-president; Marie Watt, secretary; Jennifer Niehaus, treasurer; Michelle Dunlap and Staci Jones, senators. The Junior class cabinet consisted of: J.R. Drew, Ann Smith, Tami Dyer, Katie Kuhnly, Stephanie Humpal and Shawnee Manwarning.

One of the greatest accomplishments of the Junior class officers was their participation in Homecoming. In fact, the Juniors won what many consider to be the most important competition, the food drive. In other competitions such as the mural, the Juniors lost by only one point. In terms of making money during Homecoming, the Juniors brought in over one hundred and fifty dollars profit. When asked about Homecoming, Marie Watt said, "Together with intensity and skill the Juniors helped make the best Homecoming ever." Jennifer Niehaus added, "Homecoming was an intense time of year, but I loved it." With the help of Michelle Dunlap the Juniors generated spirit throughout the year with the sale of "Redmond" sweatshirts.

Another venture taken on by the Junior officers was having students read the daily announcements. This project, instigated by Michelle Dunlap and Doc Salisbury gave various students a chance to be heard throughout the school on the P.A. system. The program proved effective in relaying information to all Redmond students. This program will be continued in the future.

The Junior class advisors were Marge Kuykendall and Gene Hardin. Marge Kuykendall commented, "These kids are great, they work well together and accomplish many things." Stacey Whitis said, "Without the guidance of Marge Kuykendall and Gene Hardin this year would not have been the same, we all worked as a team and it seemed like one big happy family!"

ANN SMITH AND Shawnee Manwarning thoughtfully consider a proposal brought up in a meeting.

PURE INTENSITY COATS Jennifer Niehaus' face as Marge Kuykendall makes a wondrous suggestion.

Officer Up Sophomore Participation

Lyrics by Michelle Dunlap

THE SOPHOMORE CLASS officers including Christie McCoy, president; Caryn Caldwell, vice-president; Carla Warren, secretary; Anne Tallman, treasurer; James Cook and Marianne Moshier, senators; made this year a very productive one by unifying their class in various activities. Elected shortly before Homecoming activities were due to begin, the sophomore officers faced the chore of extensive Homecoming preparation with only a short period of time in which to work. Christie and her fellow officers met the challenge well, however, by making Homecoming an enjoyable as well as profitable event for the sophomore class. Choosing "Castaways" as their theme, the sophomores dressed up their float and mural as well as themselves to show the pride they had in their class. Participation was high, and even though the sophomores did not place first in any of the Homecoming events, they definitely had a good foundation for future "first places" next year.

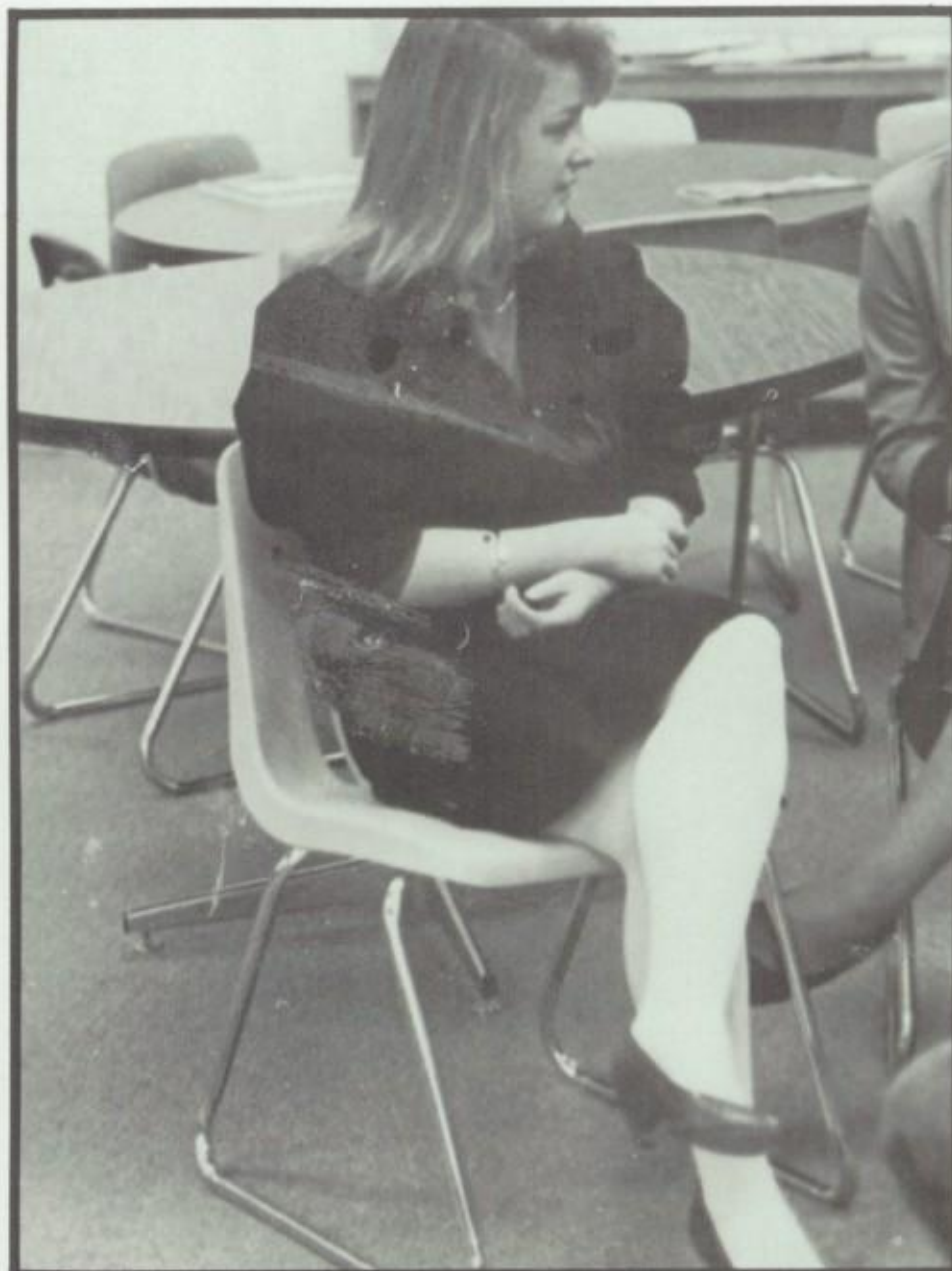

Later in the year, the Sophomore officers sold Val-e-grams as another class fundraiser. Although the sophomore class officers did not have many things to do through the duration of the year, they did raise the moral and unify the sophomore class; a feat in itself.

CARYN, ANNE AND James rap about Homecoming.

"I'M SERIOUS... IT was this long!"

CHRISTIE MCCOY WATCHES as her fellow officers get down to serious business.

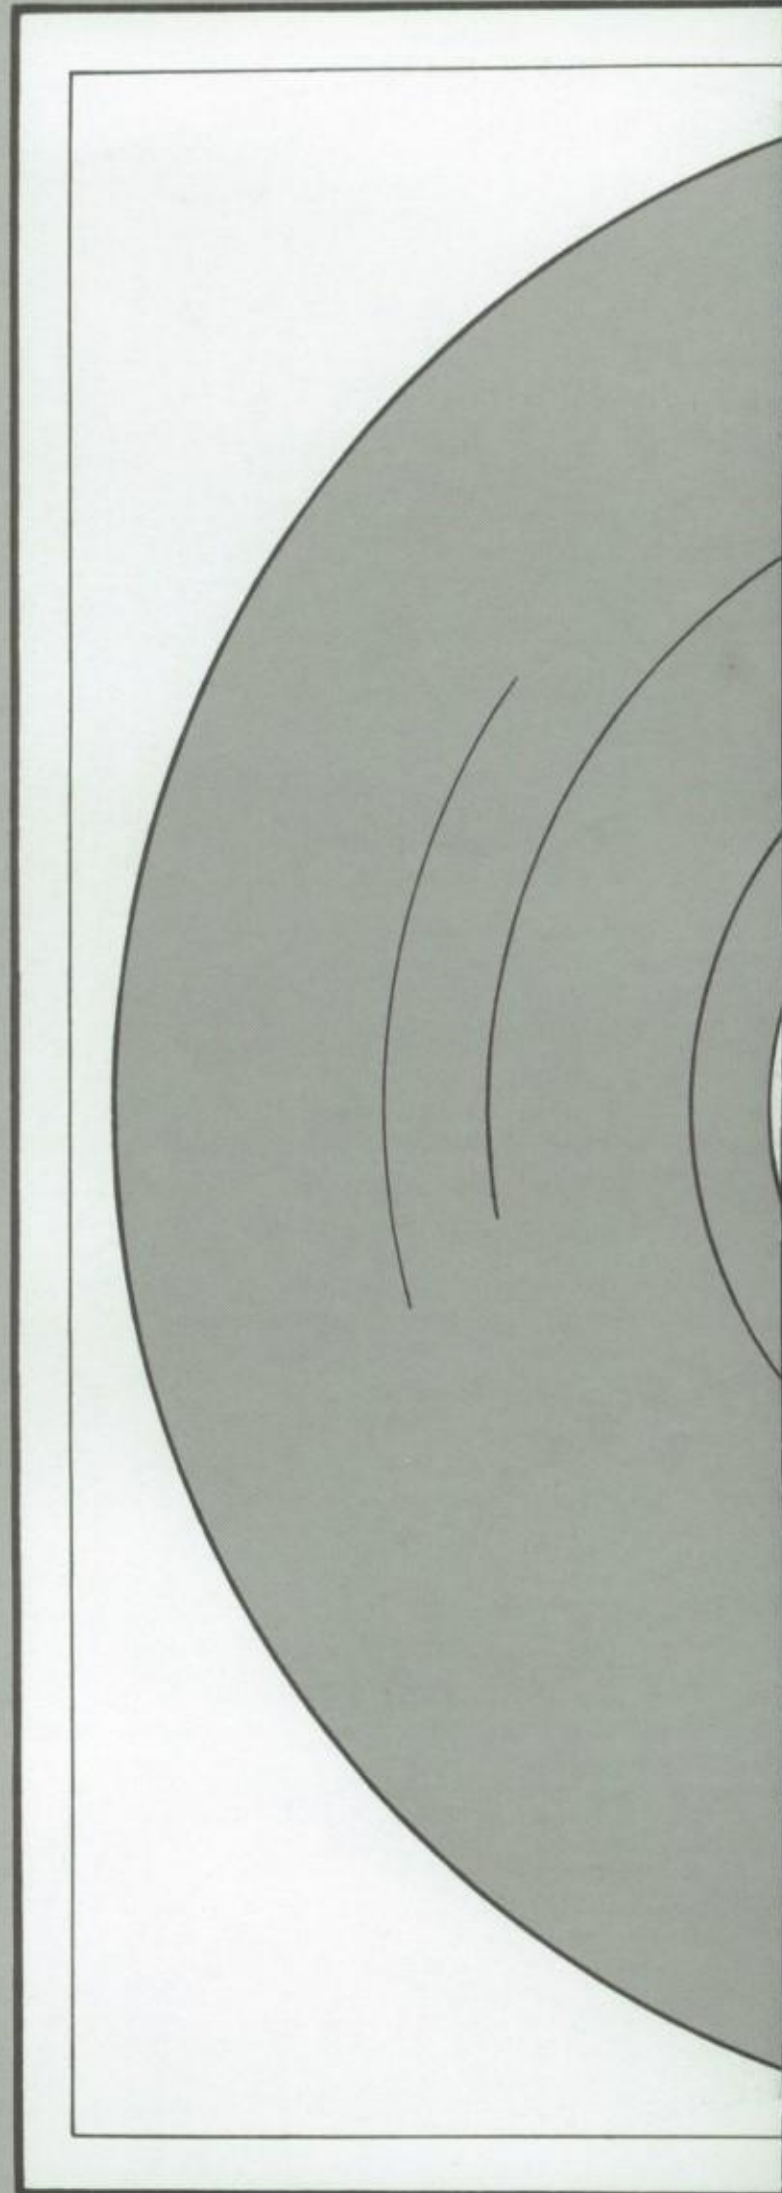

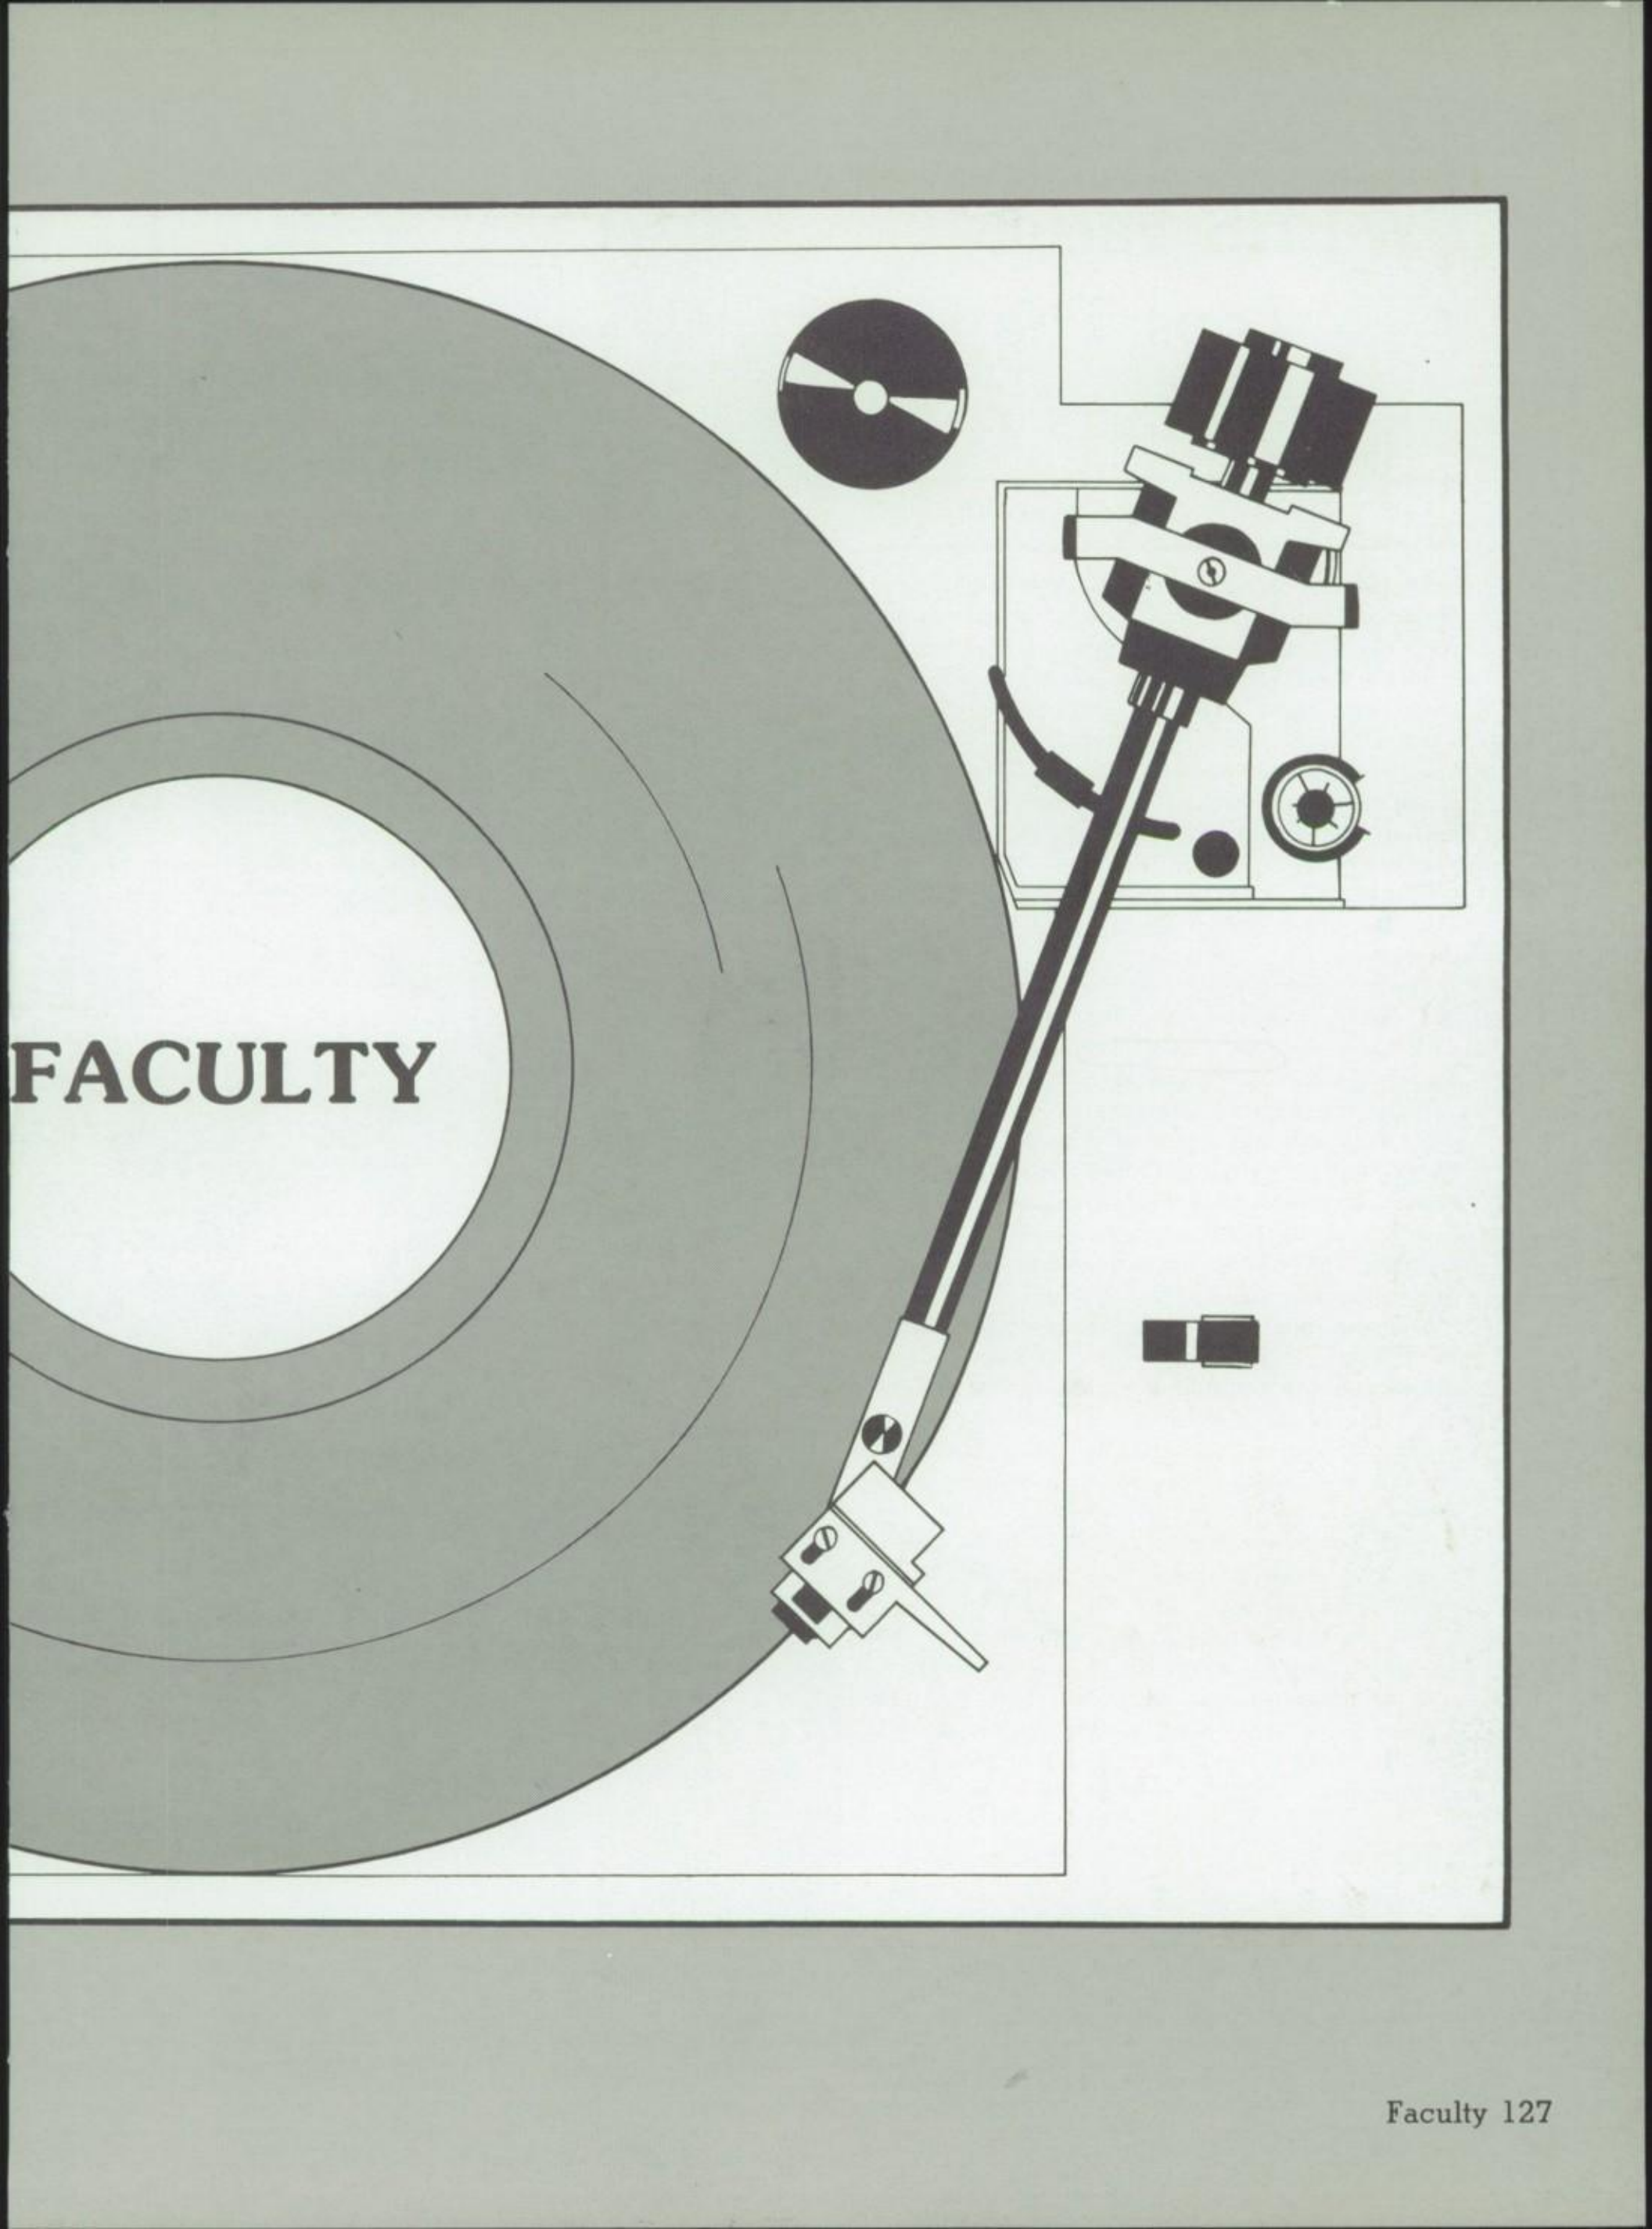

SOPHOMORE CLASS OFFICERS: Marianne Moshier, senator; Carla Warren, secretary; Anne Tallman, treasurer; James Cook, senator; Christie McCoy, president; Caryn Caldwell, vice-president.

"WHY NOT SELL creamed corn at a Homecoming booth?", asks Christie McCoy.

BEFUDDLED WITH THE spelling of the word "sophomore", Carla Warren stares blankly at her paper.

FACULTY

FOR THE RECORD

FHS Faculty Tops The Charts

Lyrics by Cheryl Meredith

IN 1980, A faculty member forecast the future of Redmond High School. He stated "we are on the rise, and the momentum will continue until we are truly the best in the greater Seattle area." Four short years later, under the guidance of Principal Thomas Murphy and a dedicated faculty, that goal has been realized. Redmond High is now officially recognized as not only one of the best schools in the greater Seattle area, but as one of the top schools nationwide.

This success cannot be attributed to any one person. The entire staff deserves credit for the roles they played.

The administrative team modified and instated new and existing programs to reflect the changes that have occurred. They also guided students and staff through the construction period.

Under the slogan, "Excellence . . . go for it!" students were encouraged to work at their full potential. Honors science classes and other courses with wider appeal were added. With the reconstruction came new science, industrial education, business, and art facilities. The new equipment allowed teachers to add variety and challenge the students.

With the counselors' advice, many students began forming post-high school plans. Counselors also helped hundreds of confused seniors apply to college and locate scholarships.

The secretaries processed the paperwork, kept records, and fielded a variety of questions allowing the school to continue to run smoothly.

Food service supplied a variety of foods ranging from green salad to french fries and milkshakes to satiate hungry people.

The custodians efficiently dealt with the never ending task of cleaning up the buildings and grounds.

It was not a single individual who brought Redmond High to its present level of success. Rather, it is the combined effort of many who make it a terrific place to go to school.

FOR THE RECORD

Football's New Records Sound Sweet

Lyrics by Rachel Zylman

The Mustang football team provided plenty of thrills for the spectators this season, breaking twenty-nine school records and tying two more!

Finishing the season with a 7-0 loss to Woodinville, Redmond had a 4-5 win-loss record. Many school records, including marks set in scoring, total offense, rushing, passing and receiving, were rewritten. Some of the team accomplishments for the season include these records: total offense per game, 269.3 yards; and fewest sacks allowed per game, six. Mustang team records in a quarter now read: points scored in one quarter, twenty-eight; total offense per quarter, 240 yards; rushing yards per quarter, 111 yards and passing yards per quarter, 129.

New individual scoring records were set by John Dickinson and field goal kicker Curt Wright. John Dickinson ran for new individual rushing records, while Scott Russell made the longest run from scrimmage, eighty yards. Quarterback Frank Lisowski passed his way into the Mustang record book. Rick Jacobson consistently made the big catches, breaking five records and tying the old record twice.

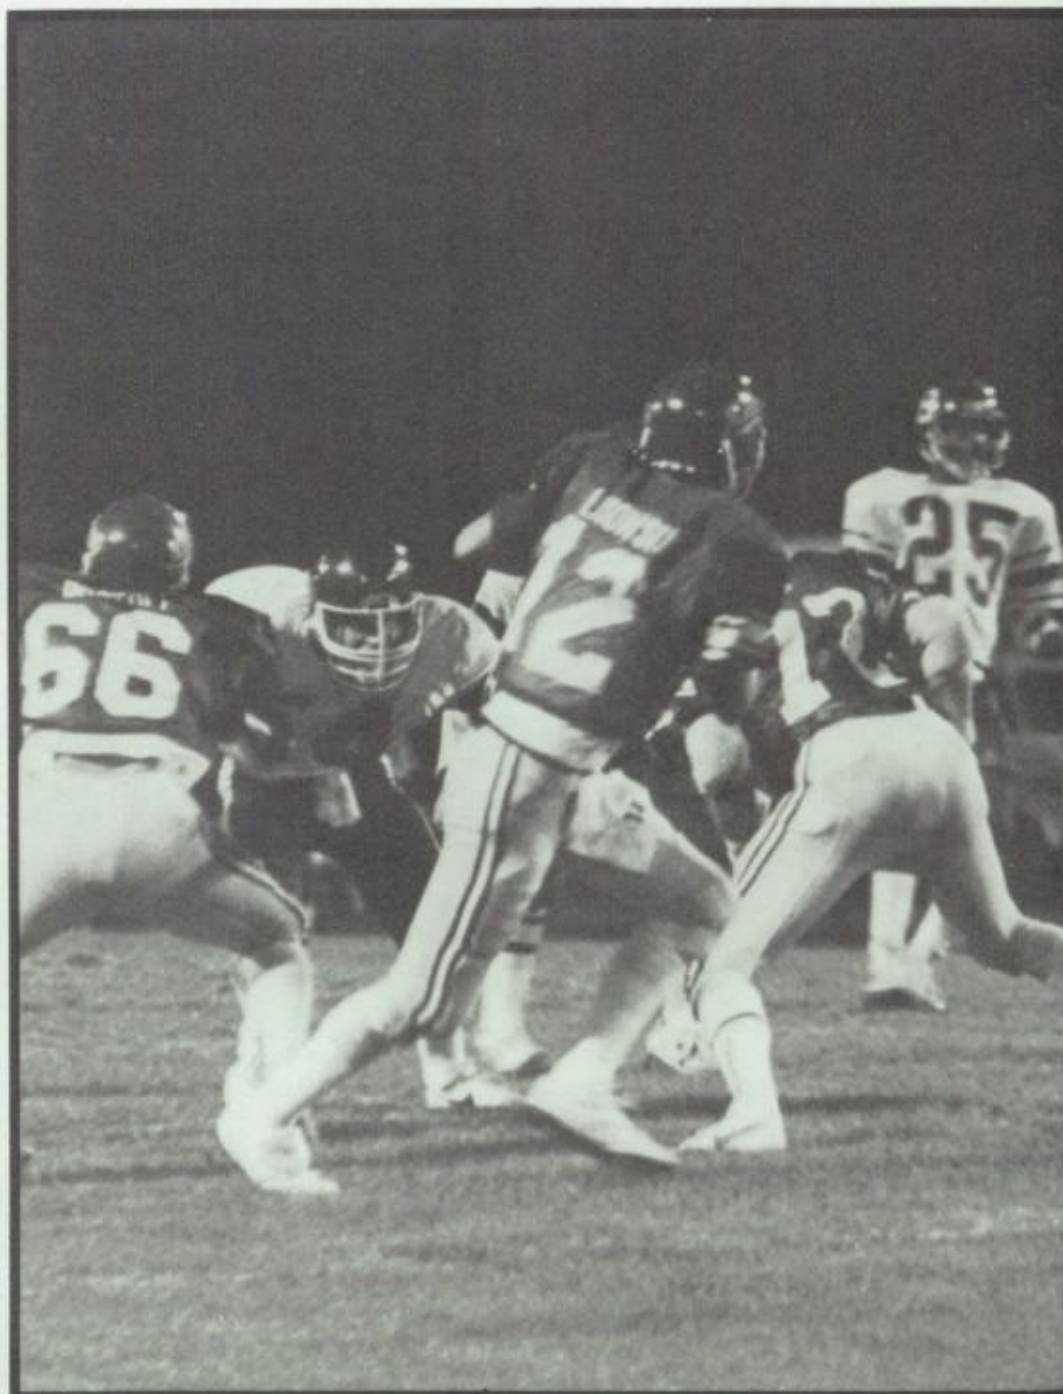

But these records would not stand today without the great team effort put forth. Those big guys on the offensive line worked hard to protect the quarterback and make holes to run through that weren't there before. And run through they did. Those tough backs took a real licking and kept on running. The defense played hard, too, doing their best to keep the other guys from making the big plays.

All in all, the 1984 Redmond Mustang football team worked hard, making their games exciting events to watch.

Girls Race On To Victory

Lyrics by Cindy Cranston

THE GIRLS CROSS Country team has shown the league what hard work, dedication and team work will get you. The Girls had a season record of 11-1 which tied them for first place in dual meets. Third in KingCo, they qualified for the District meet for the fourth time in a row. The team missed a chance to go to State by four points with their fifth place finish at District.

Senior Stephanie Harris led the team with her great running ability. She placed first in nearly every meet, breaking many school records. She was selected by the Sammamish Valley News as the athlete of the year and by her early season performances Stephanie proved to be one of the top five runners in the state.

Stephanie was backed by the strong running talents of Junior Lori Menard and Freshmen Debbie Sandgren and Tracy Elfendahl.

Lori Menard had a spectacular season, placing fourth in District, individually qualifying her for the state meet.

Debbie Sandgren won the KingCo meet, sprinting past the defending champion, to win by eight seconds. Thus making Sandgren the new KingCo Champion and the first Redmond runner ever to win an individual title.

Tracy Elfendahl was an extremely consistent performer. She ran with Debbie and Lori throughout every race. Team members Marie Watt, Cindy Cranston, Lauretta DuLong, juniors, and Senior Rachel Petrich followed close behind.

Towards the end of the season Stephanie Harris and Lori Menard were voted team captains. Most Valuable was awarded to Stephanie Harris, Debbie Sandgren and Tracy Elfendahl. Cindy Cranston and Marie Watt were voted Most Inspirational for their encouragement and team spirit.

Boys Win Streak Runs On

Lyrics by Mike Vache'

THE BOYS CROSS country season was marked by record breaking performances from an extremely young team. At the completion of the duel meet season, the team stood undefeated with a 12-0 record, extending their string of unanswered KingCo wins to 53.

This year's team won its fourth straight KingCo title, and its third straight District title. Topping off the season, one of the best in the school's history, was a second place finish at the state meet in Spokane.

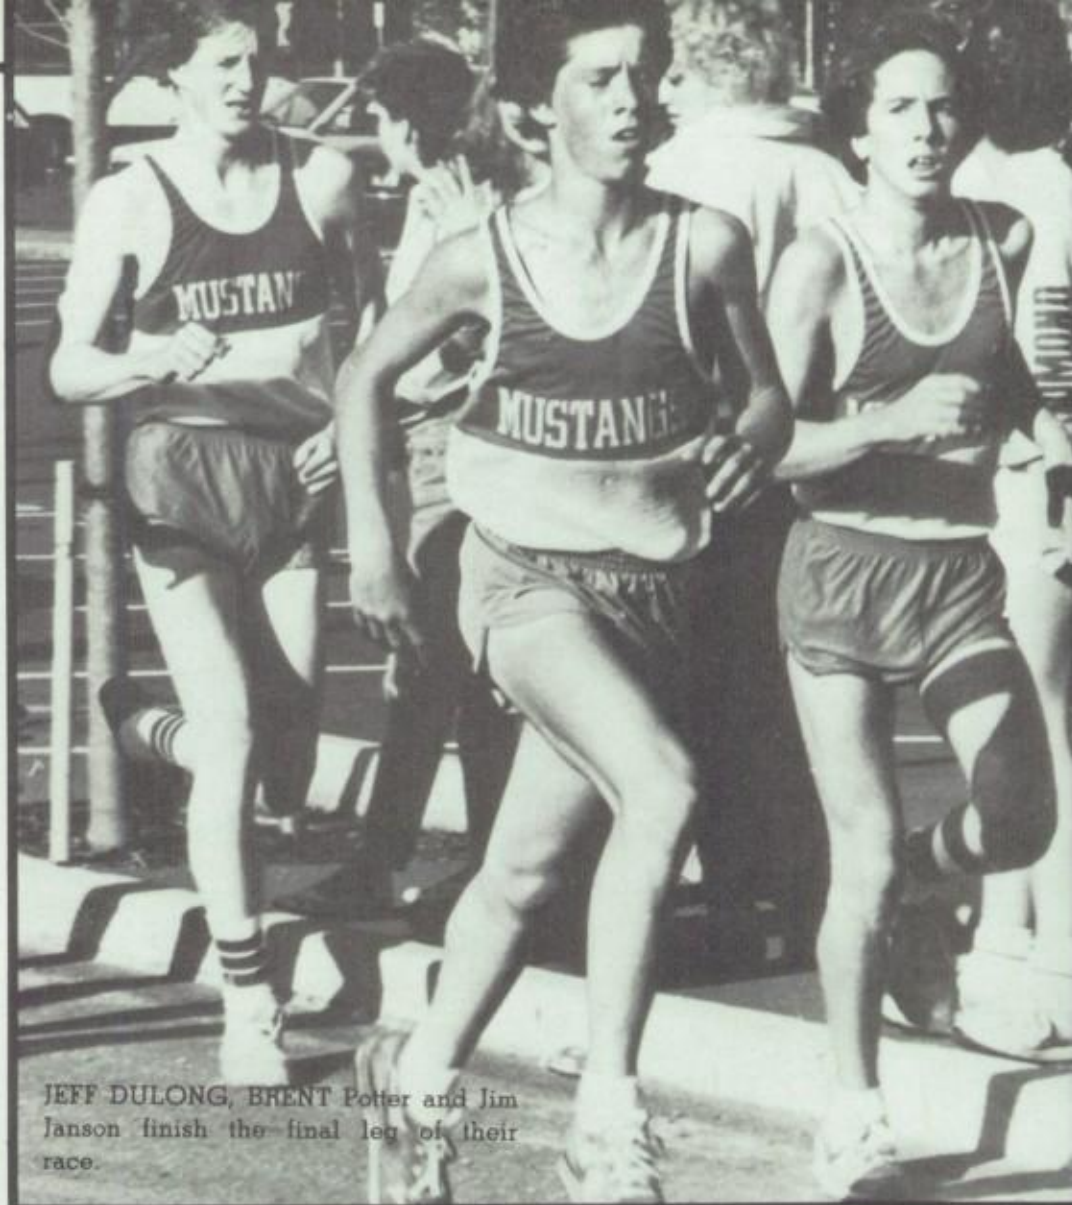

A host of talented runners worked together to make this year's team great. Senior Sean Anderson and Juniors Cleave Odegard and Carl Berg helped to build the experience and talent of the younger runners. Sophomores Craig Potter and Dave Washburn each ran well for the team. Freshman Jeff Allison also performed excellently, setting a new course record here at Redmond, and placing highly in many races.

Stormy Shouman, a sophomore, placed fourth at the state meet, one of the highest finishes ever for a Redmond runner. He also set a new course record at Lake Washington. Stormy received the Sammamish Valley News boys cross country award for his achievements.

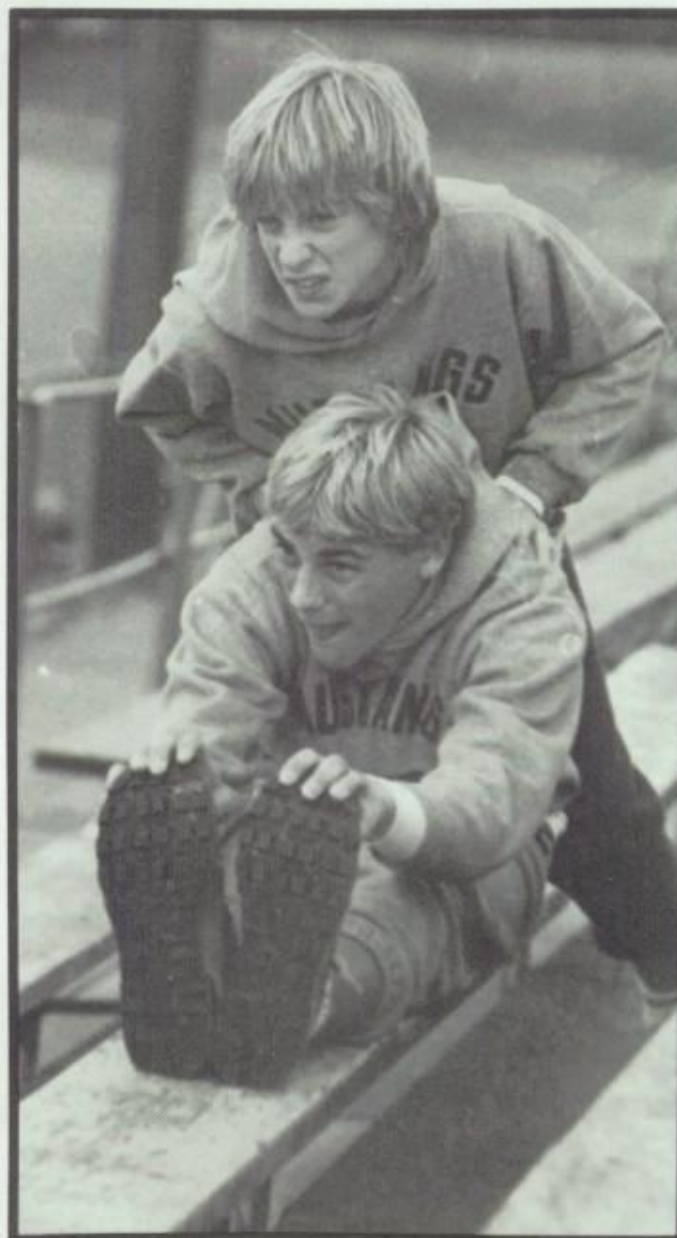

Cleave Odegard was the captain of the team. Jeff Allison and Stormy Shouman were named Most Valuable. The Most Inspirational award was given to Dave Washburn, Carl Berg, Craig Potter, and Stormy Shouman for their continuous support of the superb 1984-85 team.

Volleyball

Has A Bumpy Season

Lyrics by Heather Huntington

Faced with a lack of players and a discouraging win—loss record, the 1984 volleyball team triumphed nonetheless with their spirit and positive attitude. Coach Kivonne Tucker said, "This team had the biggest heart of any team I've ever coached." The team had only 15 players on junior varsity and varsity combined. Usually they have about 25-30 players on both teams. Team member Paula Martin said, "We played awesome considering that we only had 15 players out of a school with 600 girls."

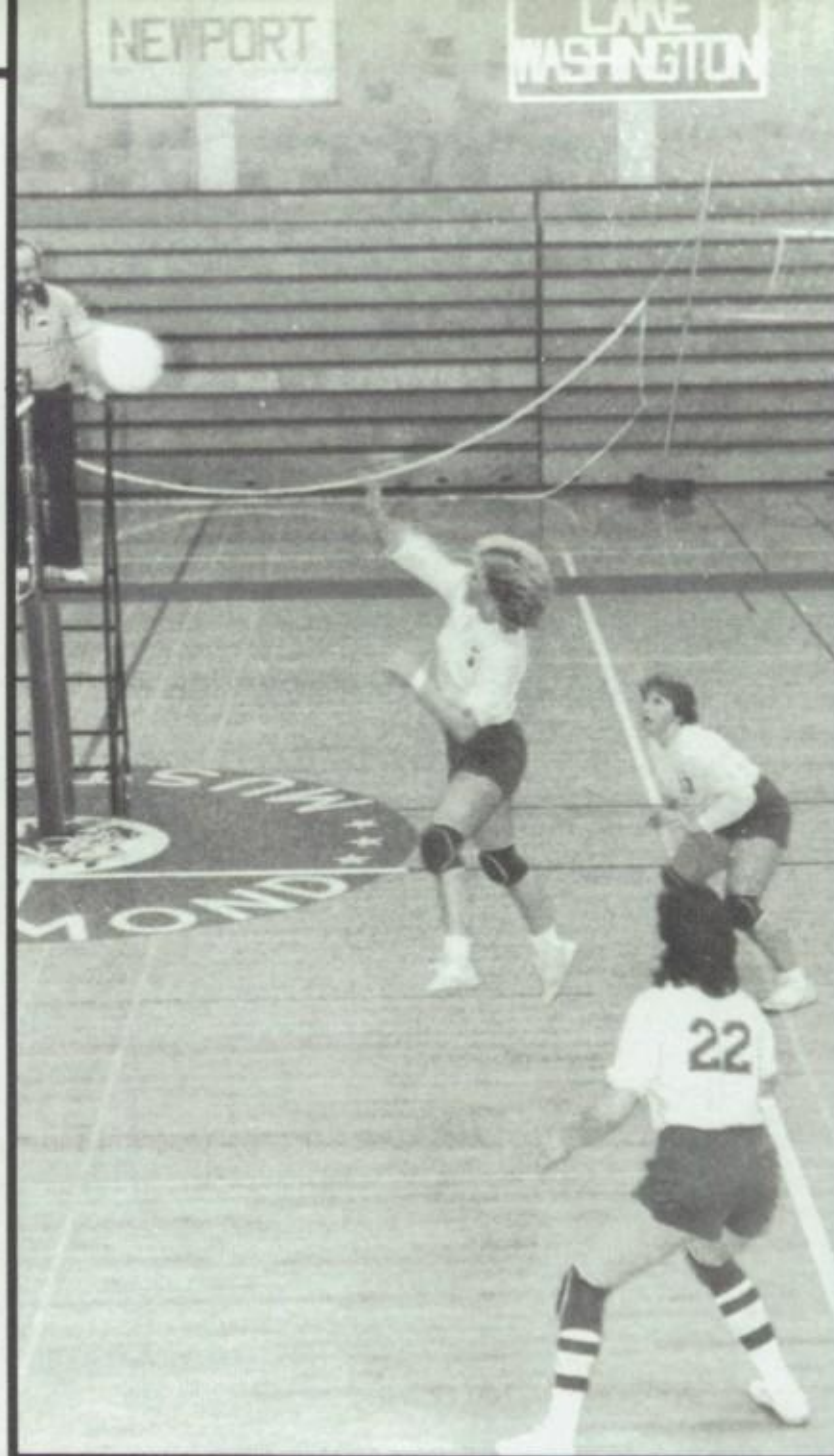

The junior varsity volleyball team was lucky to have a new coach, Miss Doty. Her positive attitude and enthusiastic coaching really inspired the girls. Miss Tucker said of the new junior varsity coach, "She was a big asset, she really helped the program." The returning team members and Miss Tucker hope that Miss Doty will return to coach in 1985.

Although the girls did not win many games during the season, they placed fourth in the pre-season varsity tournament. The varsity team captain was Paula Martin. The junior varsity captain for the 1984 season was Sophomore Sylvia Holler. At the end of the season the girls voted to award Val McElrath as best passer; Paula Martin for best spiker and most inspirational; and Danielle Washburn as most improved. The coaches' award was given to both Val McElrath and Danielle Washburn. The coaches' award and most improved were given to Sylvia Holler and Can Ogawa respectively.

Ulli Saggau, one of two German exchange students on the team really enjoyed playing volleyball on an American team. She said it was different from German teams which usually only meet twice a week. She felt the American team was much closer than German teams. "Everyone is your friend, like a family. I thought it was a really good experience for me."

THE GOLF TEAM started out the season with three straight wins. The first two matches were narrow victories over Mercer Island and Bellevue. As Pete McDaniel was quoted as saying "... it came down to the last few holes in both matches. Everyone knew what they had to do. And luckily we won." The team's third match was an easy victory over Bothell.

The season was really a let down because the team had expected to be able to make it to state, as has been the trend for two of the past three years. Jeff Kelleran stated: "When we failed to place in the top three teams at the KingCo Medalist Tournament, we were all very disappointed." Four year letterman Jeff Kelleran, and three year letterman Pete McDaniel, placed fourth and fifth respectively at the Medalist Tournament. Seniors Dan Burris and Pete McDaniel showed the most consistency throughout the season. Other members of the varsity squad include Sophomore Brett Barrett, Sophomore Tim Thomas, and Sophomore Brian Clark. The team was young this year, consisting of mostly sophomores. Yet, in two years they are expected to be a strong team, and are sure to qualify to play in the state tournament.

"THE SEASON WAS a success not because of one person, but because the team worked together. You can't win on your own, you need the encouragement of others. The seniors made a big difference also and we will miss them dearly," reflected Carmen Foster, a varsity doubles player.

The junior varsity team finished with a better record than they have ever had. Ms Hunter, the junior varsity coach said, "We had a few downs, but mostly ups. It was a smashing year!"

At the banquet the Coaches' award was given to Tammy Dyer. The coaches agreed that she was "energetic, enthusiastic, and never gave up." The most Improved awards for varsity went to Andrea Kappenman, and for junior varsity to Amy Caiarelli. The most Inspirational awards went to Holly Crosby, a varsity player and Katie Painter, a junior varsity player. A special thanks was also given to Mr. and Mrs. Gorman for all their support.

Danielle McDaniel said, "We were stronger this year than last year. The team generated more pep than ever before."

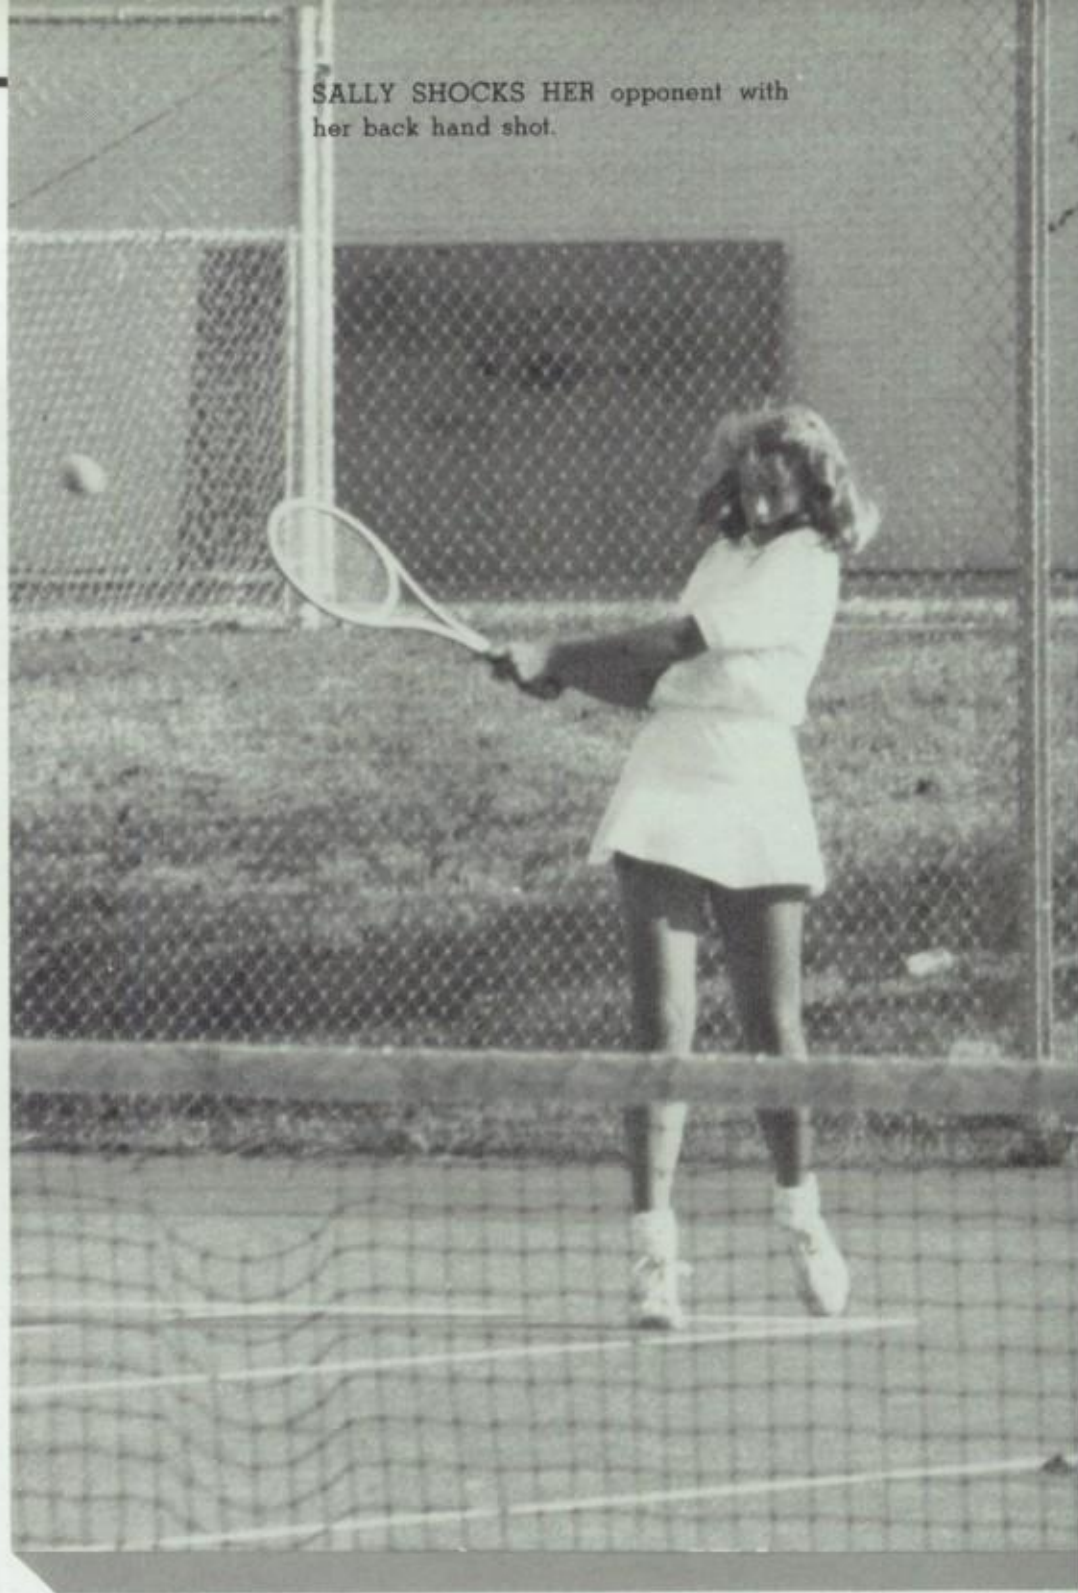

Three members of the team went to KingCo Rhonda Gorman and Julie Stevens played doubles and Stacy Whitis represented Redmond as a singles player.

Mrs. Houtz, the varsity coach, summarized the year by saying, "I was disappointed with the overall record, which was 5-6, but was encouraged for the coming year because of the abundance of sophomores."

Individuals Swim to 12th In District

Lyrics by Jennifer Brockmann

COMPETING IN THE dominant and strongest KingCo League, where seven of the top ten teams in state were from KingCo, the Redmond girl's swim team had a hard time winning their dual meets. Although Redmond finished an impressive 10th in the league and 12th in the entire district, the team's record doesn't come close to reflecting the girls' ability, improvement, or determination. So the team's success wasn't measured by its number of wins compared to its losses, but rather that of the personal growth and improvement made throughout the season. Here the individual goals, positive attitudes and team spirit made the year a 'unique' success.

Four swimmers qualified in both individual events and relays for the District meet. They were Freshman Barbi Blaylock, Sophomore Lisa Schneider, and Seniors Jennifer Brockmann and Darcy DeRocher. At this important meet, Darcy placed 5th in her 100 back and 7th in her 50 free qualifying her for State in both events. With all four girls participating in the medley relay, they placed 6th, qualifying them for State too. The State Championships consisted of about 60 teams out of 120, from all over Washington that had swimmers qualified for the meet. Here Darcy placed 13th in both her events, the relay also finished 13th.

During the season, to promote team unity and spirit, the girls chose secret pals. At every meet gifts would be exchanged between the girls to give encouragement and psyche to everyone.

Most Valuable was Darcy DeRocher and Most Improved was given to Karen Lauve.

SWIMMERS KEVIN DIETSCH and Aaron Lukoff agreed, "We did one hundred percent better than last year." Senior Kevin Dietsch went on to say: "Although we didn't do as well as we would have liked, the team will be much stronger next year."

At the finish of the regular season, the team's record was two wins and seven losses. In the King Co meet, the team placed twelfth, and in the Sea-King meet, sixteenth.

Coach Don Burton pointed out that each swimmer made noticeable improvements in his timing. "JD Gaffney, for example, earned 62 points last year in a single meet, and this year he earned 168 points in a particular meet." JD placed sixth in Kingco, fourth in Sea-King, and thirteenth in State. Coach Burton stated: "Last year JD was the fourth best diver on the team and this year he finished thirteenth in State."

Next year the team should be more successful because 18-20 swimmers will be returning. The team will only have lost four swimmers: three seniors and one foreign exchange student. Coach Burton hopes the team will swim closer to five hundred next season.

Most Improved swimmer was JD Gaffney and Sasha Zelenika was Most Valuable.

BASKETBALL FOR REDMOND players was a definite learning experience this year. Although none of the teams did as well as last year in records, the skill level was a definite improvement. As varsity coach Al Williams said, "Our kids did everything we asked them to: play hard, fair and competitively. You can't ask a group to do any more than that. With all our talented underclassmen coming up, the future looks bright.

Not only did the teams play well but they had fun too. Steve Sample, a member of the j.v. gang, expressed, "It was fun and I learned a lot. The only thing I regret is the loss to Sammamish."

With the promise of varsity talent returning for another year such as Scott Russell, Kevin Kreimeier, Jim Pavlish and J.M. Brooke, the future of the Stang basketball team looks hopeful.

Dribblers' Attacks Rebounded

Lyrics by Matt Petrich

EVEN THOUGH THE VARSITY girls basketball didn't do as well as they hoped, they did break last year's losing streak. The curse looms over the hands of the team: lack of scoring and height made it difficult to compete. Joanne Schroedel led the Stangs in shooting with a season total of 216 points. Stephanie Haines pulled 137 near misses out of the air, which helped a lot, but not quite enough, to win throughout the season. The year wasn't all defeats however. Our girls gave 3rd ranked Interlake one of the toughest games of their season and took 2nd ranked Newport into overtime. Each time it came down to a severe case of slippery fingers.

Varsity players included seniors Michelle Mosier, Leslie Henley, Trish Kerrigan, Christie Lee, Sheryl Dusenberry, and Stephanie Haines. The juniors were Joanne Schroedel, and German Exchange Student Claudia Trepte. And last but certainly not least, the sophomores: Julie Stephens, Carrie Akerstrom, and Amy Hetzler, all of whom played part of the year as J.V., Cassie DeCampo, and Melissa Bohm.

Thanks to coach Todd Peterson, the J.V. finished the year with a 14-6 record and second place in Kingco. Nichole Petrich, Anna Palmer, Carrie Akerstrom, Lisa Schneider, Melissa Bohm and Julie Stephens led the team to victory. Wrestlers Tune in to New Coaches

Lyrics' by Shari Kirchhoff

HEAD COACH DAVE Mattson, and his assistant coaches Ed Koehl and Jim Woodford, helped to lead Redmond wrestlers to another successful season. With only five returning wrestlers the team was inexperienced; but the new members and new coaching staff proved that they had what it took. Mike Rogers admitted, "The wrestling team was probably the best we've ever had because of the new coaching staff."

Redmond tied for fourth place in the Kingco duel meet season. Coach Mattson claimed that one of the major highlights of the season, aside from the invitationals, was taking second place in the Kingco tournament. Labeled as "Kingco champs" were Mark Redis, 135 lbs.; Tom Bird, 190 lbs.; and Garth Kuykendall, 168 lbs who was also the regional champion.

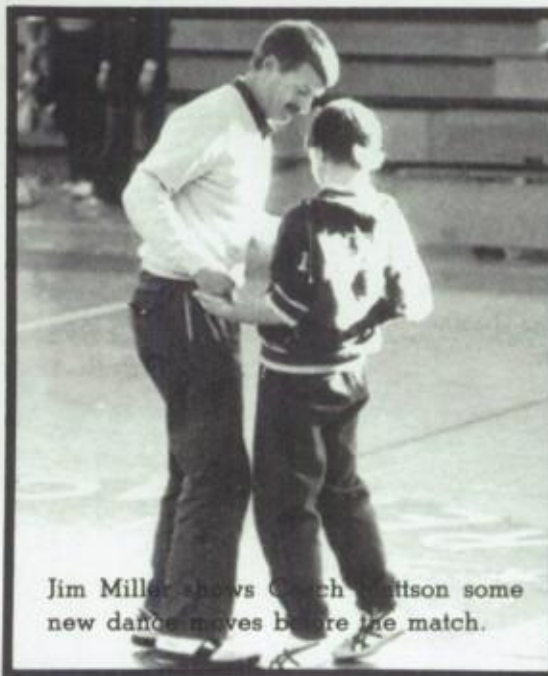

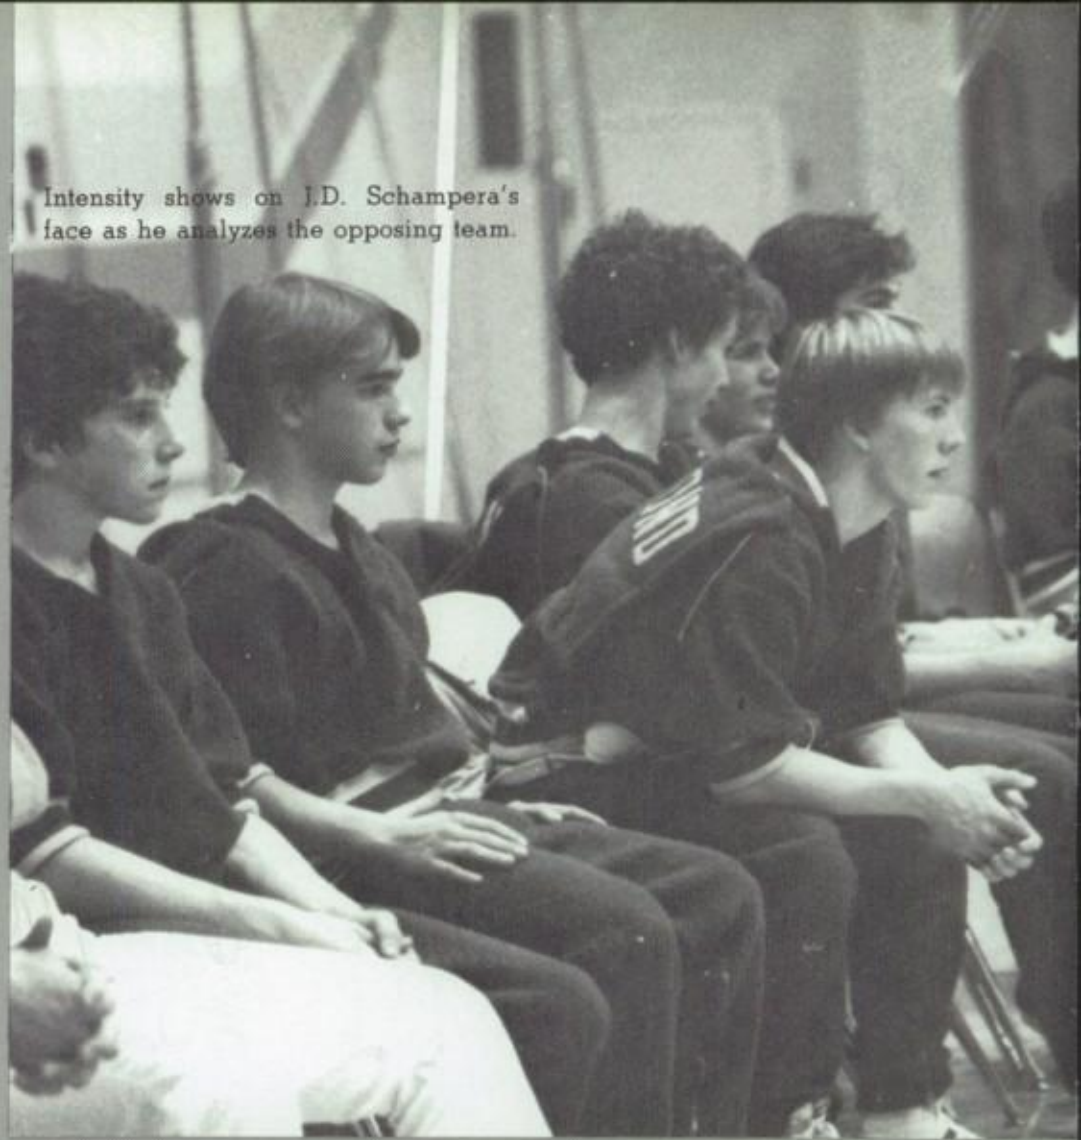

The wrestling team took part in a number of tournaments. Coach Mattson explained that a lot of emphasis was placed on tournament competition this year. At Decatur the team took second place, and at Tyee Redmond placed third. For the first time Redmond hosted their own tournament, in which they placed third. hosting their own tournament will now be an annual event for the redmond high wrestlers.

The team was fortunate to have sent four wrestlers to state. Sophomore Jim Miller, 101 lbs.; Junior Garth Kuykendall, 168 lbs.; Junior Jeff Stark, 158 lbs.; and Senior Mark Redis, 135 lbs represented Redmond. Junior Mike Rogers was sent as an alternate.

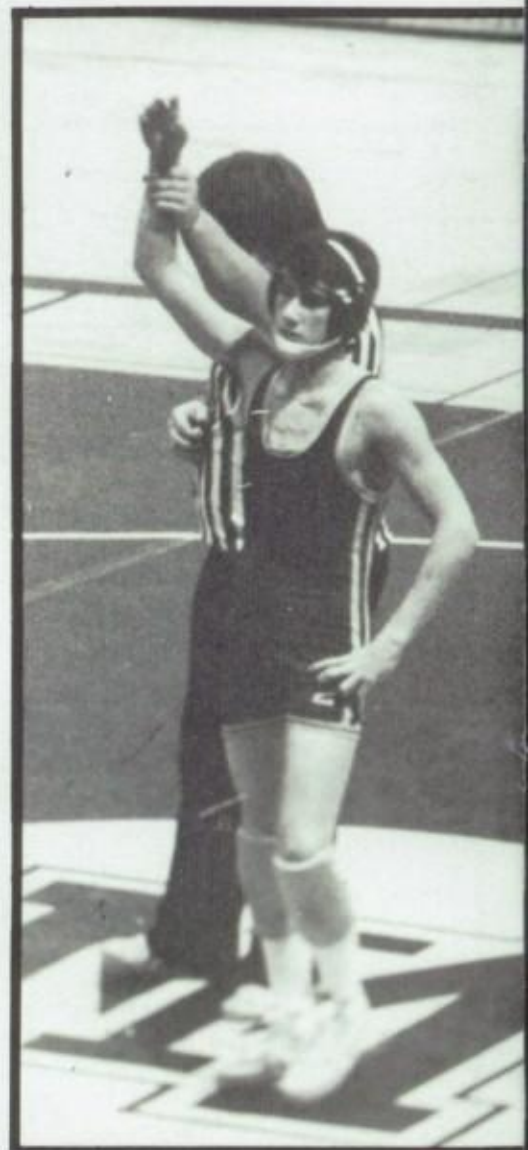

The wrestling team finished with an outstanding eight wins and four losses. At the close of the season the team unanimously voted Garth Kuykendall as "Most Valuable" and Team Captain Tom Bird as "Most Inspirational." Awards were presented at the banquet.

FOR THE RECORD Individual Achievement Brings Success

Lyrics by Greg Vernon

THE 1984-85 REDMOND GYMNASTICS team made great progress this year, in the eyes of both the coaches and the members of the team.

Ms. Houtz was back at the helm this season, returning to the coaching position she'd previously held four consecutive years after a one-year hiatus. And although the team's 2-8 record does not reflect the most successful of seasons, she was very enthusiastic about the group.

"We had a good team," Coach Houtz commented. "It was young, enthusiastic, and filled with potential." She added that a good number of the girls were sophomores, which means room for learning and growth, both skillfully and mentally.

Returning team member Kristie Shields felt better about the 1984-85 season than any other, citing KingCo as an example of the team's accomplishment. "Considering that we were competing against girls who made it to the olympic trials, we did very well. We got our highest scores of all season." Kristie also saw a major improvement personally, scoring her highest scores ever.

Kristie was very proud of this year's team as a whole, commenting on its small size. "We weren't very big, but we learned a lot about team spirit," she stressed, "and about working not only for yourself, but for the whole team." As a result, she feels this year's team was "much more together" in comparison to those of the past.

Coach Houtz feels the team's true success is reflected in the major improvement in scoring. "We started the year with a low score of 89—by KingCo the low was 100." This reflects the team's dedication at putting out extra effort, and determination for self-improvement.

Ms. Houtz doesn't know whether or not she will coach the team next year, but she expects great things from next year's team.

"I would hope that next season will begin where this one left off. There is great potential in the returning team members. It's nothing but uphill for these girls."

A Record Year For ASB

Lyrics by Rita Knutson

NOT ONLY DID RHS start off the 1984-85 school year with a newly remodelled building, but also with a new and enthusiastic group of ASB officers.

The ASB had three major goals for the school year: (1) To increase school spirit (2) To increase ASB income, and (3) To increase school activities.

The school year was very successful due to the talents and efforts of the ASB officers: President Kim Warren, Vice-President Todd Kluger, Secretary Andrea Garrett, Treasurer Nancy Etzler, and Parliamentarian Stephanie Harris.

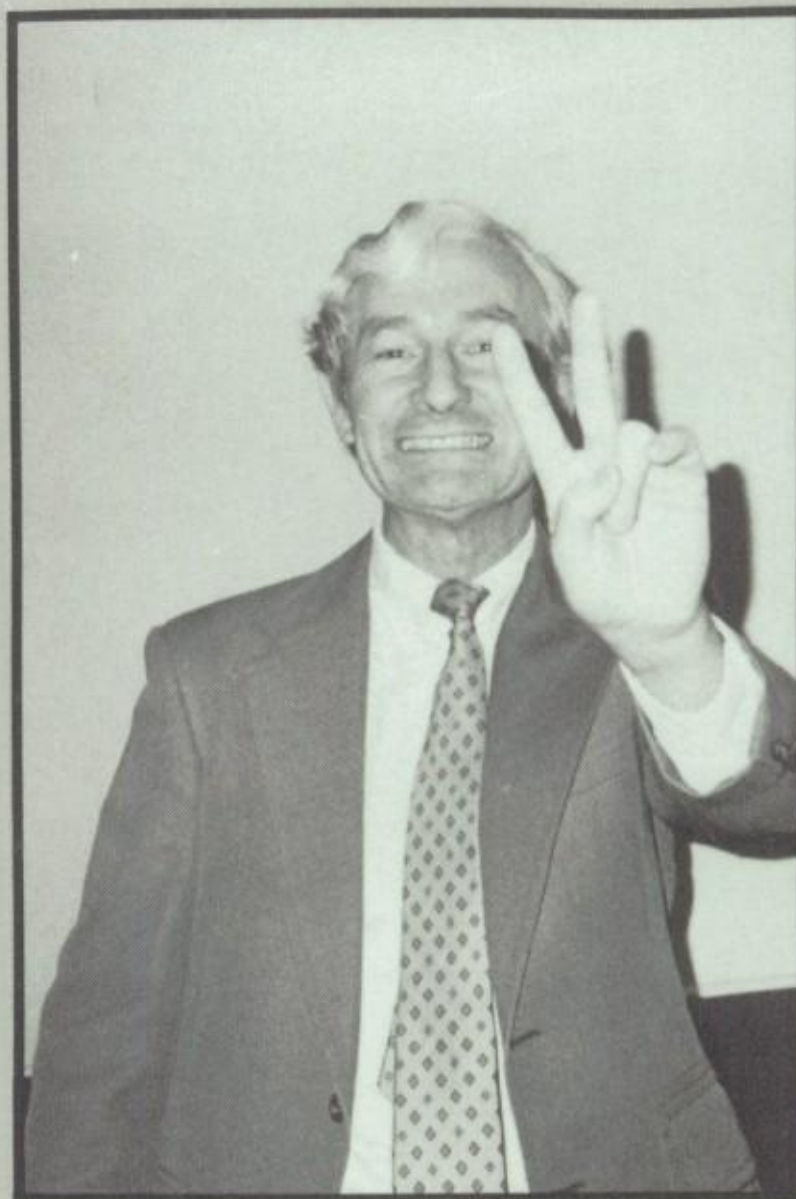

The ASB's biggest activity was organizing Homecoming. Most students agreed that the half-time show was one of the best RHS has seen in years. This year Homecoming and Round-Up were combined instead of being two separate activities.

The officers also participated in Interhigh, which was a monthly meeting with ASB officers from Lake Washington and Juanita high schools. The students discussed problems and ideas with each other and also heard from speakers such as Dr. Bud Scarr, the LWSD Superintendent.

The ASB officers were also required to participate in leadership class, along with class officers and representatives from other school organizations. The class was advised by Dr. Salisbury, and activities ranged from revising the school constitution to planning various activities.

Looking back on the year, Kim Warren said, "This year has been full of great experiences and memories. Redmond High School is truly the best. A special thanks to Doc, Andrea, Steph, Nance, and Todd for all their help and support."

CHEERLEADING, AS DEFINED by Webster's Dictionary, is an encouragement by shouting. This was often portrayed by the eleven member cheerstaff, two of whom were returning for a second year.

During the previous summer, the cheerstaff attended a five day camp session at Central Washington University on July 9 through the 13th. The camp was hosted by the World Cheerleader Council. The camp experience taught the eleven girls how to improve school spirit, to be a potentially good cheersquad, and to get along with others. While attending camp, the cheerleaders achieved four superiors, one excellent, and two outstandings in various competitions. Besides going to camp, the cheerleaders also held two car washes to raise money for the upcoming school year and they practiced three days a week for two hours and planned out activities for the forthcoming school year.

Throughout the year, the cheersquad promoted spirit in a wide variety of ways. They decorated lockerrooms and lockers, made posters to support various activities, and encouraged the teams through using the morning announcements quite frequently.

The cheerstaff also did activities outside of school. They attended the Grand Opening of Flakey Jake's, on Redmond Way in Redmond. They were involved in the ribbon cutting, along with Mayor Marchione of Redmond. The cheerstaff received a free lunch and returned the thanks by doing a cheer for people who also attended the opening.

The Cheerleaders were a big inspiration to all. They helped to cheer the teams on to a victorious season, whether in points or spirit. Being a cheerleader takes a great deal of hard work and dedication. A cheerleader is a leader among her peers who always shows a positive attitude, spirit, enthusiasm, and perseverance. To sum it up, Senior, Katrin Spilde states, "Cheerleading—is what you make it to be."

Drill Team

Marches Through Successful Year.

Lyrics by Katie Painter

"THE GIRLS WORKED hard on precision, and tried to stay away from dance. I really think it was a rewarding year for them," said Miss Cranson, the drill team advisor.

The team received a third place trophy in competition in the Salmon Days Parade in Issaquah. This was the first time in ten years that they had earned such an award, and it motivated them to strive for a great year.

Summer camp was another highlight of the teams year. Camp was held at Pacific Lutheran University in Tacoma, and was sponsored by the United Sports Association. The team was given instruction on basic movement of precision drill and dance, from expert instructors. They competed against drill teams and collegiate teams from all over the state. The RHS team scored in the "Superior" category overall, and in the "Excellent" category for routine. Amy Peterson explained, "The team was essentially a rookie team, with only two returning members, but we did surprisingly well."

The girls started working last June on routines and dances, and learned quite a few. They had to learn new routines for every home football game, and a few basketball games. The team as a whole picked the song that they danced to and the officers made up the routines. "We really enjoyed performing and competing, and we worked hard at practice every night to do our best," said Wendy Zentz, one of the team's officers.

The team consisted of thirteen members. They were: Wendy Zentz, Amy Peterson, Dona Slomian, Robin Arnold, Kelly Dorning, Stephanie Edmonds, Tracy Ervin, Tammy Nason, Shelly Otto, Susie Jackson, Dawn Hurnblad, and Brenda Silva.

"Band is fun," stated Mr. Kittler. This feeling reigned supreme throughout the class. The Concert Band class contained seventy students all of whom loved the class. This spirit showed through at the Football games, Basketball games and assemblies. The band played in many concerts this year, the Fall Concert, the Winter Concert, the Spring Concert, and their Spring Tour. The only one not included on this list was the Christmas Concert, which was cancelled due to the weather. The Concert Band officers were Derik Stenerson, president; Debbie Bennetsen, vice president; Terry Hoder, secretary; Kathy Telford, treasurer. Among the many fund raisers sponsored by the band, the most important by far is the annual orange and grapefruit sale. Jazz Band Records Success

Lyrics by Mike Vache

THE 1984-85 SCHOOL year was a strong one for the Redmond High Jazz Band. After being led by three different directors in the past three years, the band was led for the second year in a row by Kay Kittler. Mr. Kittler spent his second year with the band building a strong, well-rounded program. The jazz band progressed much faster this year than in past years, thanks to strong leadership and enthusiasm of Mr. Kittler.

The students also showed a great deal of enthusiasm and dedication to the band. They had to be at school early in the morning to practice. Band members also practiced for a few hours after school on Thursdays. Derek Stenerson commented, "The Jazz Band this year played with exceptional enthusiasm and spirit."

All of the long hours of hard work paid off for the band as they placed well at the KingCo band competition. Other performances by the band included the spaghetti feed, a Chamber of Commerce dance, and the Rocket Research Christmas Dance. Numerous other concerts and competitions were cancelled because of snow. The postponement of the Viking Jazz Festival on Whidbey Island because of snow was a major disappointment for the band. They worked very hard in preparation for the prestigious competition and felt confident that they would do well.

The large number of talented juniors involved in the Jazz Band promises to result in an even more powerful band next year, strengthening plans for the long term development of an award winning Redmond High Jazz Band.

Concert and Glee Sing with Success and Style

Lyrics by Michelle Dunlap

THE CONCERT CHOIR has always been a popular activity for students at Redmond to become a part of. However the enthusiasm for singing has never been so great as this year, a time when overwhelming demand for vocal classes forced the organization of a new choral group. This group, the glee club, was made to fit the needs of the large and highly talented sophomore class who later in the year proved to be very worth the effort. October 17 was their "premiere" as they performed beautifully in a homecoming concert to the delight of many. Success continued for the glee club as they sang well in the KingCo choral festival hosted by Redmond High. It was at this concert that the sophomore choir made their style show. "My glee club is the best choir of its kind in KingCo" often boasted Gene Harden. The director also always had something wonderful to say about his other group, concert choir. "The kids are great and I don't think I've ever seen so much talent." There definitely was a lot of talent in that group as they stunned audiences in all of their performances including the KingCo concert. Both groups, glee club and concert choir, sang with success and style and gave Redmond High one more thing to be proud of.

Notations Swing It Again

Lyrics by Heather Huntington

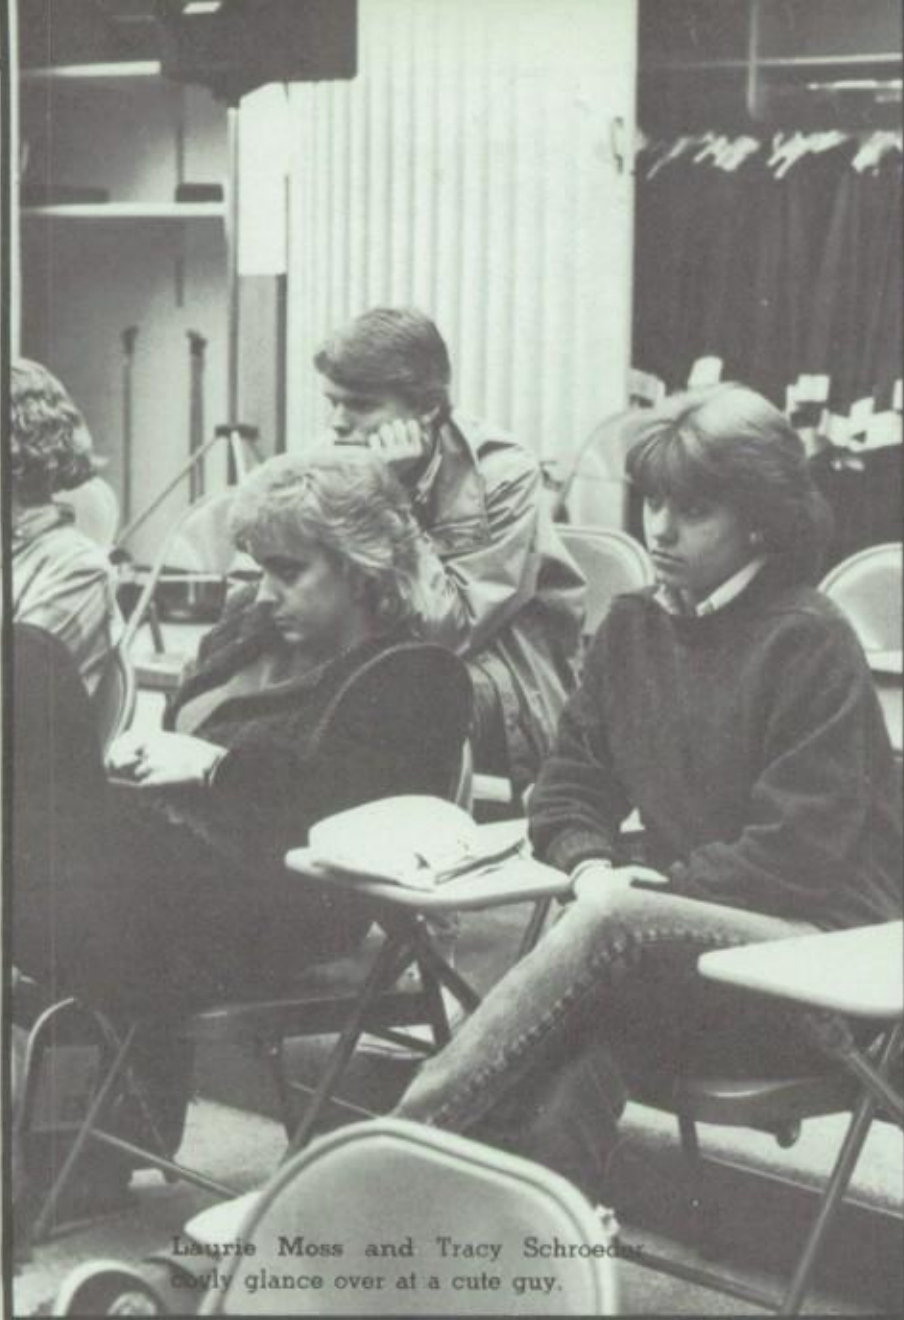

THE SWING CHOIR, also known as the Notations was described artistically by Corey Magnuson as a "Musical Manifesto". They are a group of talented students who sing mostly contemporary Jazz songs. The Swing choir was very busy in '84-'85 giving performances and participating in competitions. Their busiest time was during the Christmas season when they gave several concerts, including one at the Four Seasons Hotel in Seattle. They also performed for Physio Control and at the new Cleveland Street Square. They also took a trip to Pascoe in April to perform in a competition.

The Swing Choir meets as a regular class every day during sixth period. Laurie Moss said, "I look forward to it, it's the peak of my day. We're all like a second family." During class the choir members learn various types of music and theory. They also spend much time after school rehearsing their respective parts. In addition, they spend a great deal of time practicing at home. "Songs are always memorized right on time!" laughed Joel Baker. The Swing Choir is one of the Elite choir groups at RHS. They are required to audition for a place in the choir and must be in Concert Choir simultaneously. The Swing Choir President for 1984-85 was Michelle Reynolds, the Vice President was Scott Kreamer, and Joel Baker was the Student Leader. Joel summed up the year for the Notations by saying "Everyone really put in a lot of time to make the year a success."

M.A.S.H.

Radiates Applause

Lyrics by Amy Heinrich

"THE RHS DRAMATICAL presentation of M.A.S.H. was a huge success," said Katie Painter, who saw the second performance. Six weeks of rehearsal paid off for the cast who gave three strong performances November 8, 9, and 10.

In order to get a part in the play, students performed a monologue in front of Mrs. Mroz, the director, and several other judges. Students did not try out for a specific part, but rather were cast for the part Mrs. Mroz felt must suited each actor or actress.

Joel Baker, who played the part of Corporal Radar Reilly, admitted, "at first practices weren't accomplishing much, but as the play drew closer, everyone pulled together and memorized their lines."

The setting for Mobile Army Surgical Hospital 4077 was in South Korea during the Korean War. Mr. Dieckman and Garth Kuykendall built the set which included men's and women's barracks and a mess hall. The play centered around the events which occurred in the lives of the surgeons, nurses and military personnel who operated M.A.S.H. 4077.

Audiences were large for all three performances. On Friday night, the play was a sell out. The RHS cafeteria was nearly filled for the Thursday and Saturday evening shows, too. Joel Baker said, "I felt Friday's performance was the best because the whole cast was really well prepared."

For some, the best part about being in the play was the celebration which followed the last performance. The entire cast was invited to Gayle Lewis' house where elated actors and actresses enjoyed food, beverage and each other's company.

Cultures Group Together

Lyrics by Paula White

"THE PURPOSE OF THE International Club is to further intercultural understanding between the nations of the world," stated Mrs. Orumchian, organizer of the International Club. The International club is a group of students who have come together to make people more aware of the wide variety and differences between countries. Each month the club members study a different area of culture or part of the world. For example, China, the Far East, the Middle East, and the International exchange program have been subjects of discussion. In choosing the topic that the club will study for the month, many suggestions are first discussed, and then voted on by the whole group. The individuals that organized these group meetings are President: Carrie Morgan, Vice President: Chris Mendez, Secretary: Michelle Teeter, and Treasurer: Randall Creek.

FROM 100 TALENTED teenagers who tried out for a spot on the chamber choir, only 10 were chosen. The Chamber Choir consists of a six girl and four boy voice ensemble. The singers cover all eras of music from Renaissance to Baroque, including other styles of music untouched by other Redmond choirs.

At the King County Solo and Ensemble competition in Pasco, the Redmond Chamber singers received a "superior". They also proved to be very successful at the Wassail Festival in January. Wassail is a hot spiced drink which they drank after the concert. In the Wassail festival the choir sang songs of Old English by candlelight. The added tradition and culture in Redmond is a new addition with the Chamber singers.

Honor Society Changes Its Image

Lyrics by Stephanie Graves

HONOR SOCIETY HAD an active and productive year. The 84-85 officers were Rhonda Gorman, president; Tracy Schroeder, vice-president; Tami Dyer, secretary; and Julie Muenze, treasurer. All of the officers and members were directed by Mrs. Hardin and Ms. Burleigh.

The Honor Society did many new activities. One of the new activities was the Teacher of the Month. As Molly Adams stated, "It has a lot of potential for honoring teachers in a fun way." Another activity was the Spelling Bee at Cascade Vista, which was a lot of fun for everyone who participated. During Christmas time, the Honor Society went caroling. The Honor Society also put on a dance, which was a profitable fundraiser.

A new system introduced was the point system. It was designed to encourage people to participate. Julie Muenze explained, "It will keep those out who do not participate and encourage other members to get involved." All members had to earn their points by attending the meetings and participating in activities.

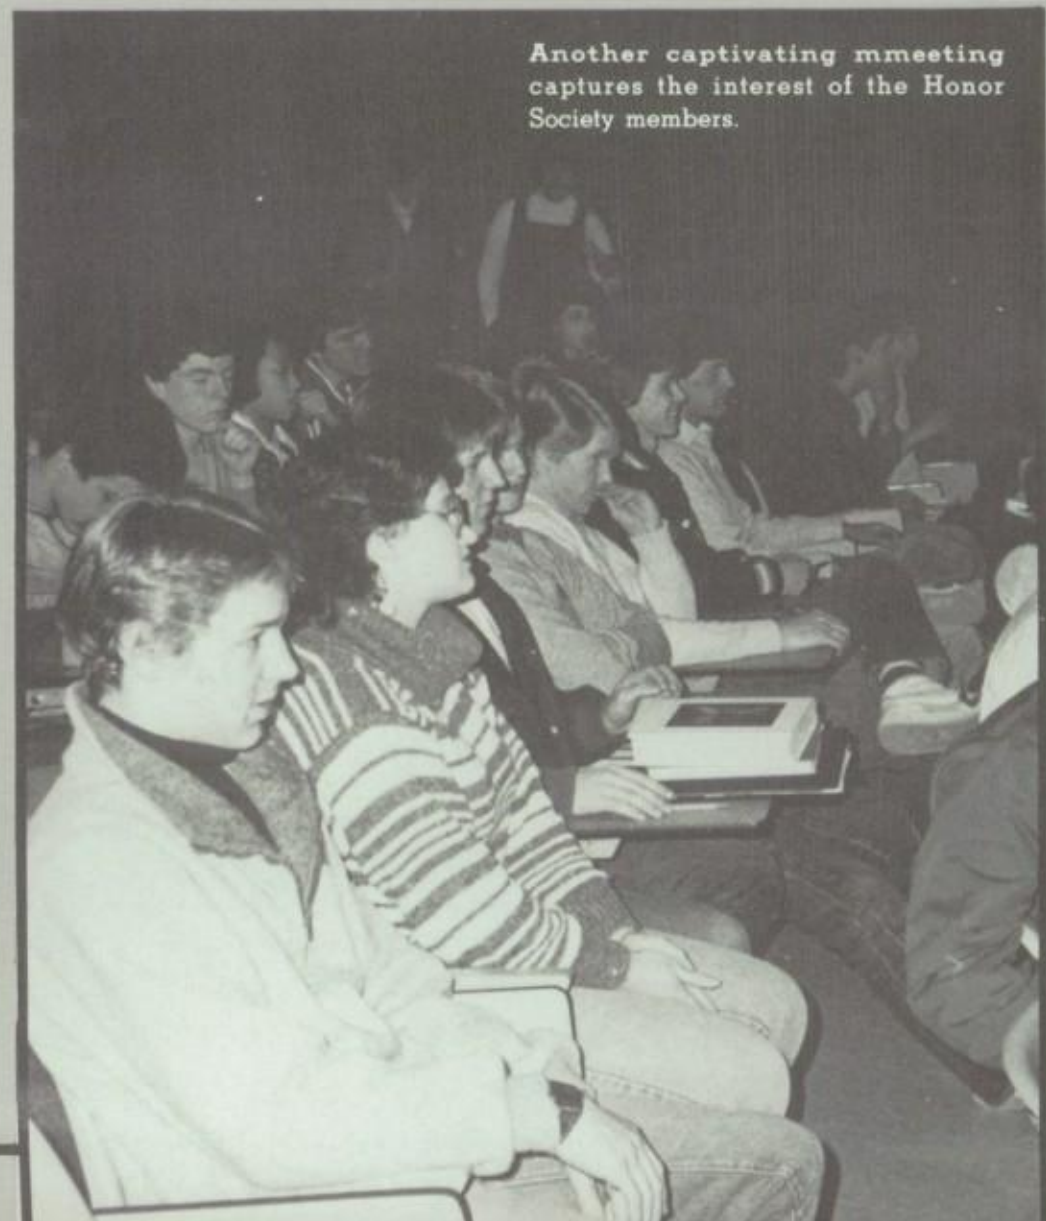

The Honor Society improved with its new activities and involvement by its members this year.

Lyrics by Stephanie Graves

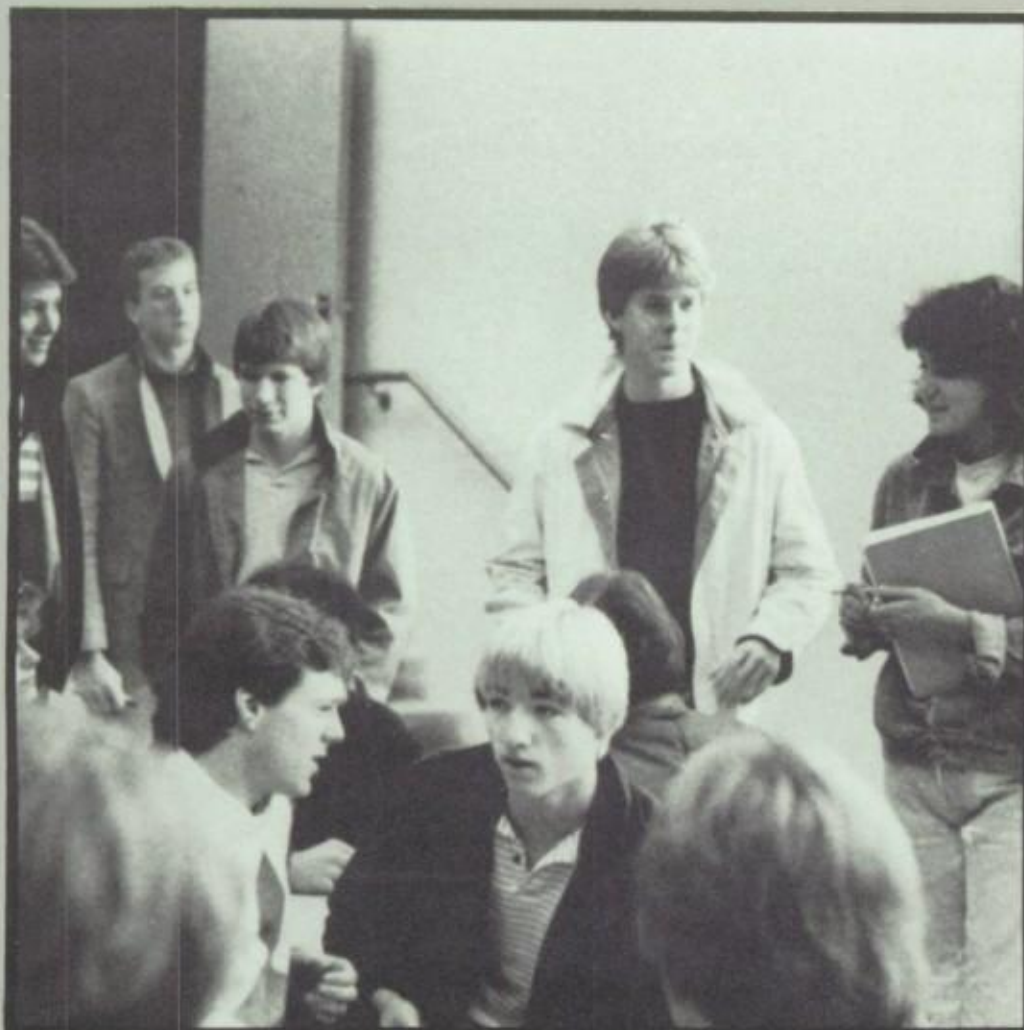

THE SKI CLUB had a successful, productive year and attracted many new members. The ski club had 120 members this year.

Many new and exciting activities were done to raise money. The Christmas Dance, which was a huge success, brought a large profit to the ski club. Members spent a lot of time and effort preparing for it. The club also held a basketball raffle. The money made was put to good use with trips to Mission Ridge, Crystal Mtn., and Whistler. Yet, members would like even more trips to take, which would mean more fundraisers for the coming year.

The members of the ski club felt that the year has been terrific for the club. As Greg Vernon stated, "Ms. Hunter runs it very loosely and lets people have their say. Many neat trips were planned." Likewise Steve Hillier exclaimed, "The ski club was really exciting and provided a great way to go skiing and meet new people." With more people involved in the club and activities, much has been accomplished.

The ski club officers for 84-85 were Tom Kelly, president; Steve Moore, vice-president; Kelli Mellquest, treasurer; and Darron Losse, secretary. All of the officers put forth a lot of hard work and effort to make the ski year fun and exciting for everyone. The officers and members were guided by Ms. Hunter, their advisor.

The ski club had a prosperous and eventful year. Darron Losse summed it up by saying, "The ski club is looking sweeter than ever."

Deca Grabs the Top Spot

Lyrics by Heidi Nilsen

THERE IS MUCH to be said for the RHS D.E.C.A. program. "The year proved it to be one of the top Distributive Education Clubs in the area" says Mr. Barr.

One facet that helped bring about this overall strength was the new facilities that were built especially for D.E.C.A. Mr. Barr comments, "with the better equipped classrooms and student store, on the Eastside, Redmond is considered the model DE facility."

A long awaited change for D.E.C.A. was the transferring of Areas. Previously, Redmond has participated in Area I activities and competitions which include schools such as Lynnwood and Bellingham. Since Area II contains our neighboring schools such as Issaquah, Bellevue and Mercer Island, Mr. Barr felt it would be beneficial for RHS to become a part of Area II. There were three reasons for this move. One, 80% of his students worked in the Redmond-Bellevue area. Being in Area II benefited student employment by allowing the students to compete in the communities that they worked in. Two, Area II schools were geographically closer to Redmond and this allowed students to travel and participate in conferences with schools that were more familiar to them. Three, to strengthen and support Washington D.E.C.A. by adding a growing school from a growing school district to Area II. With RHS entering Area II, the membership total was brought up from 480 to almost 650.

The changes indeed proved to be worthwhile since out of 12 High Schools and 500 participants, Redmond had 20 students place as sub-category winners and 14 as overall winners. Bob Peterson took first place overall in Entrepreneurship (owning your own business) and Kim Hutchinson took first in Apparel & Accessories. The competition took place at Bellevue Square on February 12.

What made the D.E.C.A. program work, feels Mr. Barr, was by having a group of diverse kids with a lot of dedication and by doubling the size of membership. Also having Mr. Sampson as Marketing I instructor enabled the two to have complementary styles and approaches towards teaching, after school activities and field trips. "Mr. Sampson has a good rapport with the student here and he makes my job a lot easier," says Mr. Barr.

The D.E.C.A. Clubs goal this year was to "establish a foundation that will carry us for the next five years as a quality marketing educational program, with good, dependable students that work in the community and take an active part in D.E.C.A. as a Youth Leadership Club."

SUDDS Works Against Drugs and Alcohol

Lyrics by Rita Knutson

SUDDS STARTED OFF it's second year with a more diverse and experienced group of students. More students became involved this year and there was also more involvement with the community.

SUDDS (Students Understanding Drinking and Drugging Students) is a class designed to promote alternatives to alcohol and drugs as well as help students with all kinds of social problems.

The class was advised by Mrs. Carpenter, and this year's officers were Junior Polly Dovin, Chairperson; Senior Jody Warwick, Secretary; and Senior Chris Tennyson, Treasurer.

Among SUDDS' many activities were a booth at Homecoming and collecting presents for needy children at Christmas.

The class also sponsored a workshop for students, parents, and teachers about drugs and the community, and several members appeared on television.

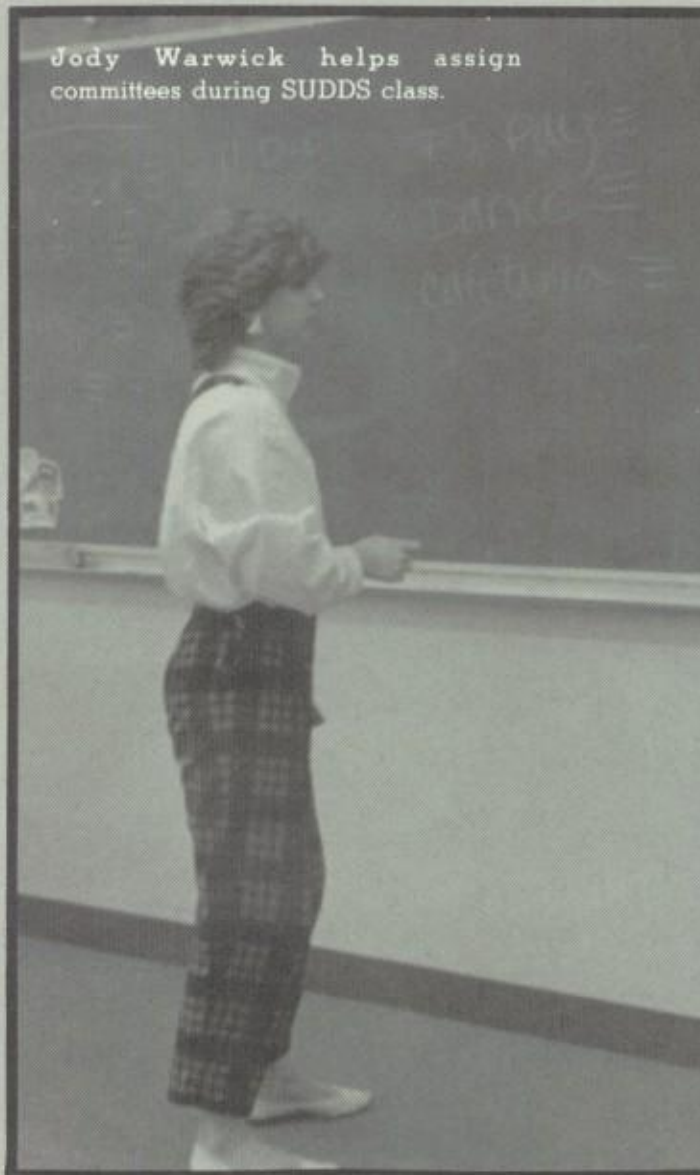

SUDDS also came up with Natural High Week at RHS, which included an assembly where hug passes were distributed.

In December, several members attended a retreat at Camp Cispus in Randall, WA. For three days, students attended workshops in decision making, self-esteem, and learning to listen better among others. Mrs. Robbins, Mr. Starett, Mr. Barret, Mr. and Mrs. Kuykendahl, Mr. Bentley and two members of the leadership class, Marie Watt and Curt Wright, also attended the retreat.

Four members of SUDDS also attended a luncheon in January in Tumwater, WA. where they met several state legislators and Governor Booth Gardner.

Chris Tennyson said about the class, "It's a unique and special organization that I am proud to be a part of."

Staff Sets Records For Efficiency

Lyrics by Julie Muenze

This year's Annual Staff overcame great obstacles to produce the Annual. They were led by a dedicated team, with Paula White as this year's Editor. When asked about her opinion of the class, Paula responded by saying that "The class was young, and even though there were close calls in meeting deadlines, we managed to always meet them." Layout Editor for the Annual, Heather Huntington, felt that, "Although this class was sometimes a real headache, I think it was worth it, because the Annual turned out really well."

All of the members of the Annual Staff worked efficiently and persistently to complete the Annual on time. Meeting deadlines, working with the photographers, and learning to be patient were also part of the tasks for the members to accomplish. Members with specific responsibilities include:

Editor: Paula White
Layout Editor: Heather Huntington
Assistant: Michelle Dunlap
Senior Class: Sherry Slomian
 Shari Kirchoff
Junior Class: Stephanie Graves
 Rachel Zylman
 Adam Coppoletti
Faculty: Cheryl Meredith and Cindy
 Cranston
Sports: Mike Vache
Ads: Katie Painter and Amy Heinrich

This year the Annual Staff had to work with a new yearbook company, according to Mr. Kimball, "but the class adjusted quite well." Part of the success in adjusting to these changes was due to Paula and Heather's dedication. Mr. Kimball felt that, "Paula's persistency kept the class in a frenzied state of avoiding disasters, while Heather's strong character helped assure that every deadline was met." The efficiency of these people has paid off, with the production of a terrific annual!

Blaze Undergoes Transition

Lyrics by Amy Heinrich

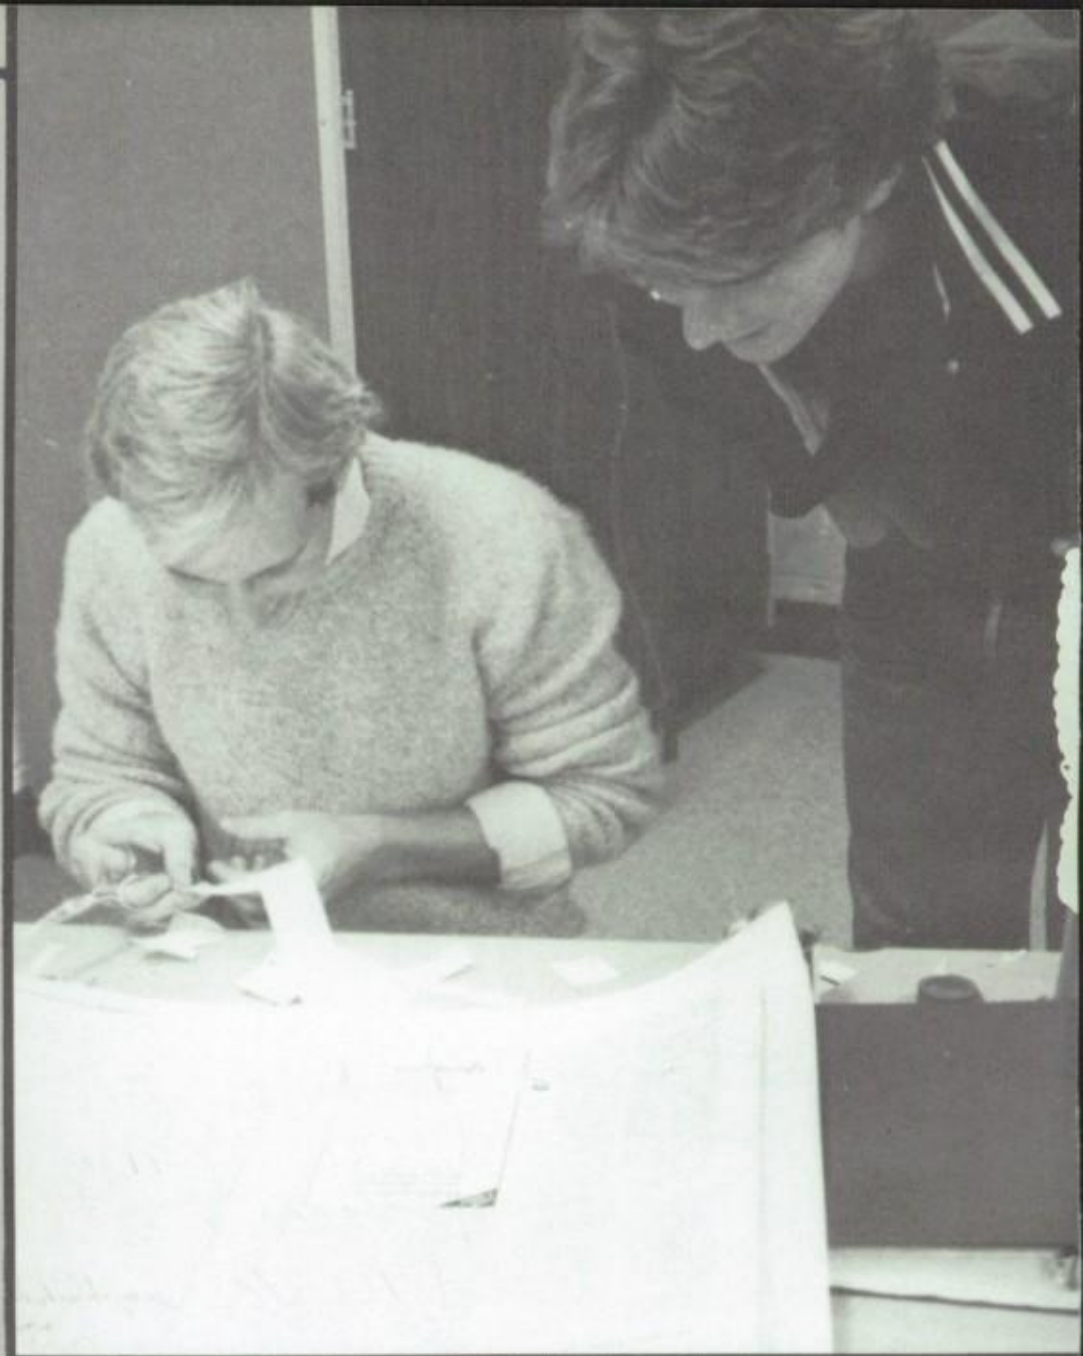

MR. DOUG KIMBALL, journalism advisor, acknowledged: "RHS students don't have many ways to express their opinions publicly. The Blaze is a source students use to voice their opinions."

The 1984-85 school year brought many important changes for the Blaze. In years past, the Northshore Citizen typed all of the articles for the paper. This cost over $600.00 per issue. However, thanks to new equipment, the paper was produced mainly at RHS this year. By typing stories on a Digital computer, the journalism class was able to put out a paper almost every three weeks at a cost of only $350.00 an issue.

Mr. Kimball was pleased with the new system. He felt it gave his students word processing experience and allowed them to write more articles for the Blaze.

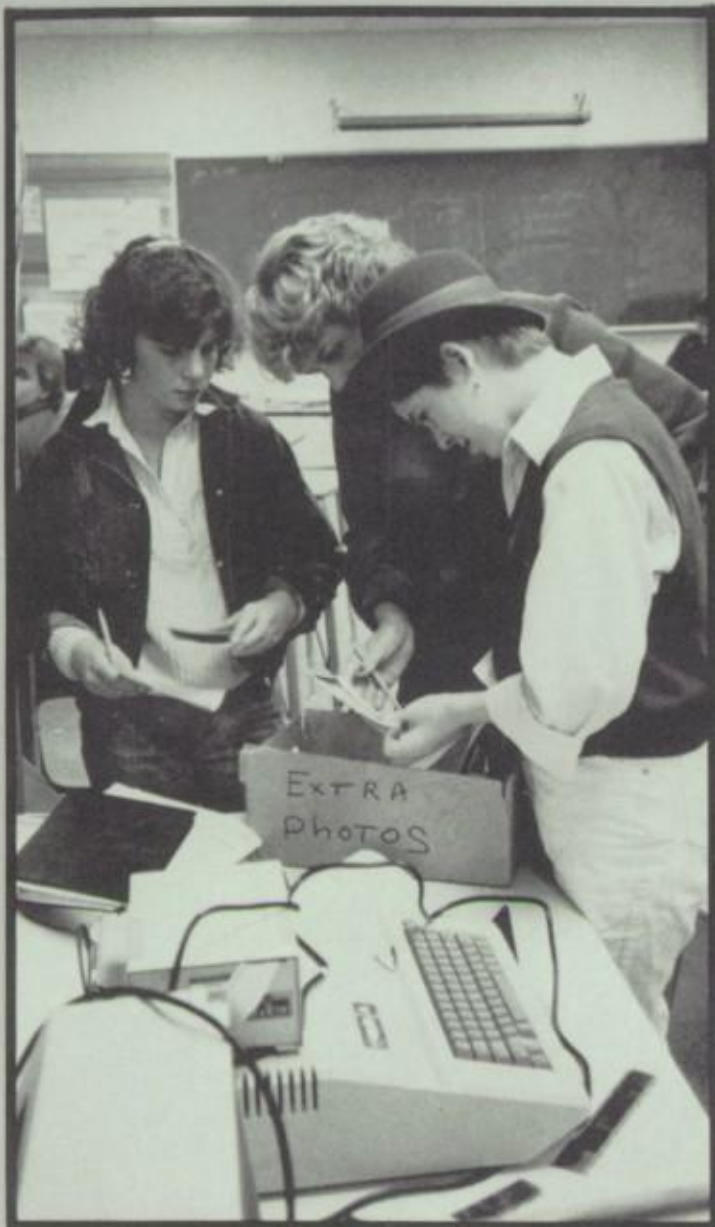

1984-85 was an interesting year for the paper because there were two editors. Asha Badrinath and Stig Carlson attended a workshop at Evergreen State College during the summer. Mr. Kimball determined that they were both very good and equally qualified to take on the position. Kimball declared, "Asha and Stig are cooperative people. They supported each other and held equal responsibilities."

Editor Asha Badrinath reflected: "Working on the Blaze took tremendous time and effort, but it was really a lot of fun."

Debaters Out Talk Opponents

Lyrics by Jennifer Brockmann

THE DEBATE CLUB this year took on a whole new image of being bigger and better than ever.

After a ten year dormancy, the Redmond High School Debate Club began competing and participating in tournaments with other schools in 1984. The first test of the Mustang 1985 Debate Team was against Mercer Island. The team was pleased with the outcome and according to Doc Salisbury, the club's advisor, "all of our team members did a super job and received very good ratings."

At the beginning of the year the club sponsored a Political Awareness Month to educate the students regarding the political issues and candidates. During this time they organized public forums where speakers such as U.S. Congressman Chandler and State Representative Betrozoff came to talk. They also administered a student poll, a Political Straw Ballot, for the presidential election and various issues of national concern.

In retrospect, President Asha Badrinath remarked, "I'm really pleased that we got the club organized this year and were able to compete. I'm sure they'll be very successful next year with the potential the Juniors and Sophomore possess."

THE 1984-85 CHESS Club year was marked by consistent and determined effort from eleven dedicated members.

The club had an exciting year, having the opportunity to challenge and play eight teams in our KingCo league twice. Their standings were not as good as the previous year, however, Mr. Hargraves, the advisor, felt that they became a better team. Mr. Hargraves added that the league's competition became increasingly tougher. With this stiff competition they battled for fourth place with three other teams and each member strived to qualify the club for the State Chess Championships.

The Chess Club consisted of Dave Arrend, Aaron Bautz, Randy Creek, Tor Hagen, Jim Henton, John Janssen, Ryan McElroy, John O'Keefe, Danny Primbs, Dave Russell, and Paul Wilkinson. Tor Hagen, Junior member and top board, summarized his experience of the year by stating, "I greatly enjoyed the competition and the challenge of this skillful game."

Redmond High School
Faculty and Staff

It is graduation time again and we will be going to watch our fifth and last child receive her diploma from Redmond High School.

Over the past 9 years we have had children attending RHS. Between the five of them they have probably had every teacher there. Mr. Bain is the only one who has had all five and still has a sense of humor - that's an accomplishment!

We have always been proud to tell people the school that our kids were attending, except maybe during our 3 year football slump when our only son tried, along with his fellow team mates, to make at least one touchdown. We were very proud that our daughter Kim was voted Homecoming queen for the 1980-81 season. What a thrill and we did win that game!

Our thanks go out to all the teachers and staff for a job well done, especially Mr. Lawrence. He was counselor to four of the five and very helpful and supportive in their education and future.

Congratulations and best wishes to the 1985 graduating class of which Heidi is proud to be a part.

May all your dreams come true.

(By the way - is the party at our house again this year?)

With respect to all of you,

Judy & Gary Nilsen

P.S. We now have two wonderful grandchildren who will be starting Redmond School System in a few years - Hang in there Mr. Bain, you haven't seen the last of us.
